Chief Says No Arson Trace Seen

No evidence of arson was found during investigation of the damaged interior of the Kingston Manufacturing Company building on Greenkill avenue, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy reported today.

The building was the scene of a fire Wednesday evening which destroyed approximately 2,000 wood cabinets for television and radio sets plus an estimated $10,000 worth of equipment for filling a defense contract.

Chief Murphy's report that the fire was apparently of an accidental nature was made following consultation with John E. Stuerwald of Schenectady, special agent for the arson department of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Stuerwald accompanied Chief Murphy in an investigation of the fire damaged factory on Friday.

Cause Unknown

Although the exact cause of the fire remains unknown, there was no evidence that entrance had been made into the building. Firemen had difficulty breaking into the building to get at the flames, which started inside. The fire was either of spontaneous origin, or developed from some condition which existed when workmen left at the close of the day's work, the fire chief said.

The building was in three sections. Its original part had been used by W.G.B. Oil Clarifier, Inc., prior to its purchase by Belmont Corn of Scarsdale, of the Kingston Manufacturing Company.

Loughrans Purchase Roosa Taxi Service

New owners took over operation of one of this city's oldest taxicab companies this morning.

William Loughran and Mrs. George Loughran have purchased Roosa's Taxi Service, 309 Fair street, from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roosa. The change in ownership was effected without an interruption in service, William Loughran said this morning.

The name and telephone number of the company, which was founded 20 years ago, remain unchanged.

Negotiations for the transfer of ownership began about a month ago, handled by Robert Ortale and the late Chris J. Flanagan, attorneys.

The cab company was the first in the city to establish a 25-cent fare to carry two passengers anywhere in the city at the time it was founded by Charles Roosa, a former sergeant of detectives with the New York Central Railroad.

Artillery Barrage Kills 275 as Range Is Extended

Tokyo, April 21 (AP)—Allied troops slammed against heavy resistance today in their drive on the Red Korean bastion of Chorwon.

A U. S. Eighth Army communique Saturday night said Chinese forces were stubbornly defending hill positions south and southwest of the transport hub. Chorwon is 18 miles north of the border in west central Korea.

Allied artillery overshot the front and spread explosive death among several large groups of Reds moving south to reinforce or replace battered Communist elements north of Hwachon reservoir.

The big guns killed an estimated 275 Reds in day-long sharpshooting with ponderous missiles.

Several other Red troop concentrations were spotted fleeing north in panic.

Allied warplanes pounded other Red units north of the reservoir. The planes flew 48 sorties. They met some Communist anti-aircraft fire.

Enemy Fails to Show

Allied troops drove north through the town of Hwachon, at the western end of the reservoir, without meeting a single enemy soldier.

The Allies straightened their lines from Hwachon due west. They made substantial gains against almost no opposition.

Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said his tactical air unit had killed or wounded more than 10,000 Reds since the start of the war June 25. The casualties represent the equivalent of 10 to 14 Communist divisions.

Counterattacking Reds broke through allied lines south of Chorwon Friday night but U. S. troops beat them off with fists and rifle butts.

The Red attack, with hand grenades and automatic weapons, carried through allied lines at one point. It separated two allied elements and forced one U.N. Company back to reform.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said the heaviest bombardment hit four miles north of the Hwachon reservoir and about 200 yards east of the Suritchon river.

Another field dispatch reported an unopposed U.N. advance over ridge tops near the captured town of Hwachon.

Says U. S. Atom Stockpile Has Prevented Third War

Dallas, April 21 (AP) — Gordon Dean, head of the U. S. Atomic Energy Program, says the nation's atomic stockpile thus far has prevented a third world war.

The chairman of the country's Atomic Energy Commission spoke yesterday before hundreds of lawyers. They were here at an international law and relations institute of the American Bar Association's southwestern regional convention.

Dean said the Russians "have added a new twist to aggressions, in which the satellite spills blood for the principal aggressor without identifying the principal aggressor in the local conflict."

"This new technique of aggression characterizes the present crisis. The present crisis is the possibility of total war, but more specifically it is the Korean war in which Russia has so magnanimously permitted the North Koreans and Chinese to spill their blood in the cause of total Soviet aggression," he said.

Dean said American atomic energy stockpile has made the crisis a limited one, instead of a major one.

"In my opinion America's possession of a considerable stockpile of atomic weapons has prevented up to this time a world conflagration.

"How long this shall be true depends entirely upon the Soviet analysis of our strength, their willingness to take the risk of defying that strength, and their estimate of what the free world will risk in crushing an early aggressor in the hope of preventing total aggression."

General Electric Will Give Workers Nine-Cent Increase

200,000 Will Get Hike Due to HCL Contract; Price Indexes Up During Month

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The General Electric Company announced last night it will give its 200,000 workers the nine cent hourly wage increase provided for in the cost of living contract of the CIO Electrical Workers Union. The contract itself covers less than one third of the company pay roll.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed yesterday that its living costs index edged up four tenths of one per cent between mid-February and mid-March. It reached a level 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Since it had climbed from 173.8 last September 15, members of the Electrical Workers Union were entitled under their contract to nine cents an hour additional pay.

The March 15 cost of living index figure was 8.4 per cent higher than the index just before the Korean fighting started last June and 9.6 per cent above a year ago.

While the bureau recently altered its method of computing buying habits, the new system and the one formerly used both figured out at 184.5 for March 15.

Indexes of all major groups of commodities and services purchased by moderate-income city families increased at least slightly during the month. The largest boost, 0.7 per cent, was reported for miscellaneous goods and services. Prices paid for apparel, house furnishings and residential rents averaged 0.5 per cent above last month.

Foods Jump 0.1 Per Cent

Foods increased 0.1 per cent, to an index of 226.2 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That was 11.4 per cent above last June and 15.1 per cent above a year ago.

Apparel prices rose 0.5 per cent from mid-February to mid-March, with higher prices reported for men's wool suits, women's cotton dresses, shoes for all family members, and men's shoe repairs.

House furnishings also continued to advance, going up another 0.5 per cent to a point 14.0 per cent above last June.

The weekly wholesale price index also rose slightly during the week ended April 17. It was up 0.1 per cent to 183.2 per cent of the 1926 average—1.8 per cent since the January Wage-price freeze, 16.8 per cent since pre-Korea, and 20.1 per cent above a year ago.

Kill 113 at Once

Hong Kong, April 21 (AP)—Reports reaching here from Red China said today the Communists set a new record by executing 113 persons at one time at Wuchon on April 9. Wuchon, a South China city west of Canton, has been the scene of daily purge executions. But as far as was known here, the largest number of victims in any previous mass execution was 29. Those purged April 9 were mostly former Natiotnalists and government employes suspected of being anti-Communist agents. Reported among the victims was Wang Hsing-Huan, who welcomed the Red army into Wuchon as a Red underground worker in 1949.

Hickenlooper Accuses Administration of 'Smoke-Screening' MacArthur Charge

Senators Tussle

Long Says Truman Is Acting to Prevent a Soviet Clash

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) accused the administration today of "smoke-screening" the issue of whether the high command ever shared Gen. Douglas MacArthur's military views on the Korean war.

Senator Long (D.-La.) replied that MacArthur had "lost one gamble" when the Chinese Communists entered the war and President Truman was only preventing the deposed Pacific commander from "taking the final gamble that Russia would not come in if we bomb China."

Hickenlooper is a Senate Foreign Relations Commitee member. Long is a member of the armed services group. The two committees will sit together for an investigation late this month of Far Eastern military and diplomatic policies.

Their differences were characteristic of a congressional split so deep it erupted into a tussle yesterday between three of four senators recording a radio debate on the issues MacArthur's firing has raised.

The three contestants—Senators Humphrey (D.-Minn.) and Lehman (D.-Lib.-N. Y.) on one side and Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) on the other—couldn't agree on exactly what happened. Everyone's tempers and clothing were rumpled considerably. Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) acted as peacemaker.

Couldn't Agree

He agreed with the others, however, that the four couldn't agree on MacArthur's program to fight an expanded war against the Communists in Korea or on whether military men generally shared MacArthur's views.

MacArthur has called for a naval blockade of the China coast, a tightened economic blockade of Red China, the freeing of allied air power to operate over Manchuria and supply support for Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa to launch an attack on the China mainland.

He added, in a speech to Congress Thursday, that the Joint

Mississippi Is Threat To Towns in 3 States

Plan to Cut Prices May Start With Manufacturers

Method Is Reportedly First in Three-Part Program to Hit Inflation

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston may announce a new attack on prices through establishment of a "fair and equitable" standard for manufacturers' profits.

The plan is reportedly the first leg of a three-part program, also involving labor and agriculture, by which Johnston hopes to "harden" anti-inflation dykes.

Government officials first mentioned the plan three weeks ago. On April 13, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle told newsmen some prices would be rolled back at the manufacturers' level by an order to be issued "next week". This would bring about some price

Thousands Flee Homes; Rain Is Adding to Problem

(By The Associated Press)

The mighty Mississippi, on a spring rampage in the upper valley area, today threatened serious floods to river towns in three midwest states.

"Old Man River," fed by rains and heavy runoffs, spilled out over midwest lowlands and forced thousands to flee their homes. The Red Cross estimated nearly 3,000 persons have been evacuated so far in the flood-stricken area.

There was feverish activity in some of the cities along the river southward from Wisconsin into Iowa and Illinois. Levees were being strengthened. Bulldozers were put into operation in building earthen dikes.

Cooler weather, with showers, was predicted for most of the flood-stricken area today.

There appeared no immediate danger of serious flooding below Cairo, Ill.

National Guard Called

Two National Guard units were sent to Muscatine, Ia., after a state of emergency was declared for the city of 20,000 which is in danger of serious flooding.

The Red Cross said about 300 families have been evacuated from lowland homes in the Dubuque, Ia., area, where the Mississippi reached a record level of above 22 feet. The old record was 21.7 feet in 1880.

In East Dubuque, Ill., some 400 families have been removed from their homes.

About 600 persons have been forced from their homes in prairie Du Chien, Wis., where a third of the city of 5,000 is under water. The river was expected to crest today at 21.4 feet, 3.4 feet above flood stage.

Flood preparations were being made in Rock Island, East Moline, and Campbell's Island, Ill.

Afraid of Levee

Mayor George Ulmer of Sabula, Ia., expressed belief that the 5,000-foot long levee protecting the community of 800 would not hold. A break of the levee would put the town under 12 feet of water. In nearby Clinton many industrial plants were forced to close or prepared to shut down.

The Mississippi continued to inch downward at Winona, Minn., the hardest hit by the floods in southeastern Minnesota. But a heavy rain over the state yesterday dampened the hopes of flood refugees of an early return to their homes.

Leave on Flight

New York, April 21 (AP)—Robert F. Wagner, Jr., borough president of Manhattan, and 26 newspapermen left Idlewild airport last night on a pre-inaugural flight of Scandinavian Airlines system service to Bremen, Germany. Among the newsmen on board was Frederick J. Welsh, of the Long Island Press. The service, which will be non-stop to the German city, will start officially on June 6.

TakanasseHotelChanges Hands at Fleischmanns

Takanasse Hotel and Country Club on Route 28 at Fleischmanns, one of the largest and most modern resorts in the Catskill mountains, has been purchased by Louise Berg, Benno Eisen and Dave Narzisenfeld, former lessees of the Pine Hill Country Club at Pine Hill. The Takanasse Hotel and Country Club was erected in 1925 and is of stone and stucco construction, has a nine-hole golf course, a private swimming pool and is known for its fine entertainment and delicious food.

Sale of the property by Sachs and Kellman, former owners was negotiated through the brokerage offices of Herman T. Lokow and associates of Margaretville. Sachs and Kellman, former owners are proprietors of the Fairmont Lodge at Lakewood, N. J., and sold the Catskill mountain hotel for family reasons. They will continue to operate the Lakewood hotel. The sale price of the Fleischmanns property is said to have been $190,000 and it is estimated to replace the property today would cost close to a million dollars.

Takanasse Hotel and Country Club has a capacity of 300 guests and the casino will accommodate 350 people.

Sale of the property has been under negotiation for the past seven months.

The new owners will add to the swimming pool and will also add a Floridian cabana house and a new open cafe terrace with a seating capacity of 500 persons. Located only two miles from the Belle Ayre State Park and ski slope, the management will make an agreement with the Conservation Department for excursion trips to the ski slope during the summer with the hotel supplying free rides on the chair lift to its patrons. Belle Ayre ski center is expected to be a big attraction to visitors in this area during the summer season and plans have been made for excursion trips to the top of the mountain where many improvements have been completed, new walks laid out and the picnic area enlarged.

Lukow in announcing sale of the Takanasse property stated that this was one of the largest transactions in this area in years and said that activities in the Pine Hill, Highmount, Margaretville, and Fleischmanns area indicate a good season for 1951. Most cottages in the area have been rented for the season and hotel reservations thus far indicate a better season in the Catskills than had been anticipated. Many of the hotel operators have returned from their winter retreats and are now engaged in cleaning up flood damage and getting properties in order for the season.

Considerable activity in real estate in the Pine Hill, Highmount, Margaretville and Fleischmanns area is reported by Lukow who has recently sold several large properties in the area. Mr. Lukow has assisted a large number of G.I. buyers in locating in the area and assisted in placing mortgages for such building in an area where it has been difficult to arrange loans.

Paper Says General Apologized for His Error on Formosa

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The New York Times says that administration records show that Gen. MacArthur, when he met with President Truman last fall on Wake Island, was so confident of victory in Korea that he offered his best troops for Europe. The Times report said he apologized for embarrassing the President on the Formosa issue, and predicted the Chinese Communists would not enter the Korean conflict.

The Times, in a by-line story today by Anthony Leviero, says it gained its information from "documented sources" on the meeting of MacArthur and Mr. Truman on the mid-Pacific atoll Oct. 15.

A partial summary of the Times' story follows:

MacArthur offered to send to Europe what he regarded as his best troops, the U. S. Second Division, because he believed it would have a good effect in Europe.

MacArthur told the President he saw "little chance" of Chinese or Russian intervention in Korea.

Apologized to Truman

MacArthur apologized to Mr. Truman for embarrassing him on the Formosa issue.

Last August, the general sent a message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars suggesting American occupation of Formosa, last stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists led by Chiang Kai-shek. The President then asked MacArthur to withdraw his message to the VFW.

The President has favored neutralization of Formosa by the U. S. Seventh Fleet until its status could be settled by the United Nations—with the United States participating in the discussions.

At the hour-long meeting on Wake Island the President and the general amiably talked away their differences. The newspaper said that MacArthur said he was sorry for the difficulties and embarrassments he caused the President and that he now understood Mr. Truman's position with respect to the strategic island.

The President opposed the occupation of Formosa as part of the administration view that not to do

General Rests After Tumultous Welcome in New York City Friday

No Plans Made

Invitations Come From Cities All Over the Country

New York, April 21 (AP)—The tumult of history's greatest ovation at an end, Gen. Douglas MacArthur rested today, leafing through a stack of invitations from all over America.

There are other cities for the five-star general to conquer if he wishes — Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, to name the larger ones.

But none can pay him greater tribute than he got here yesterday when 7,500,000 persons sent thunderous cheers echoing to the masonry peaks of this skyscraper wonderland.

MacArthur's immediate plans were not made public. He, his wife and 13-year-old son were secluded on the 37th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

However, he tentatively plans to visit Chicago next week.

May Stop at Memorial

If he goes there, he has been asked to stop at suburban Maywood, Ill., where a memorial immortalizes 100 tankmen who died in the World War 2 defense of Bataan.

MacArthur also is committed to visiting his wife's home at Murfreesboro, Tenn. But no date for that trip has been announced.

MacArthur is expected back in Washington late in the month to testify before a congressional inquiry into Far Eastern military and foreign policy.

His sharp split with President Truman over Far Eastern policies cost him his Pacific command and touched off a bitter debate that may last until the 1952 elections.

Shall Never Forget

"We shall never forget it," MacArthur said yesterday of the historic welcome paid him by New York's millions.

The general emerged from the Waldorf-Astoria shortly after 11 a. m., buttoned to the neck in his familiar trenchcoat and with his famed gold-braided hat on his head.

From that instant, all New York went wild in a tumultuous carnival of joy that lasted unbroken for four hours.

There never was anything like it before as massed humanity shouted, wept and waved the general along his 15-mile parade route.

On scrubbed, sedate Park avenue, through the green malls of Central Park, down the teeming expanse of Sixth avenue, through a packed and roaring Times Square, past the east side docks where ships raised a deep-throated whistle of acclaim, up the financial canyons of lower Broadway and between the rows of smart Fifth avenue shops—every turn of the motorcade's wheels brought MacArthur fresh homage.

Greatest Parade

38 Seamen Presumed Dead In Collision of Oil Tankers

New Orleans, April 21 (AP)—Thirty-eight seamen are missing, presumably dead, in the collision of two oil tankers in the Gulf of Mexico about 300 miles south southwest of New Orleans.

The collision, explosion and fire—in a pre-dawn fog—yesterday wiped out most of the crew of 42 aboard the Esso Greensboro, a 10,000-ton tanker loaded with 140,000 barrels of oil. Survivors related stories of horrible death aboard the floating inferno.

The 26,500-ton Esso Suez supertanker, the other ship in the collision, was gashed for 20 feet in the bow 10 feet above the water line she had no cargo, but an avalanche of blazing oil from the other ship set her forepeak afire. The first mate was killed and four of her 44 crewmen were burned.

Three bodies were recovered. Four survivors, including two from the Esso Greensboro, were flown to Corpus Christi, Tex., for medical attention.

Crewmen from the tanker Virginia, one of a dozen ships that went to the scene, boarded the Greensboro late last night, the coast guard reported, put out the flames, and then took the disabled ship in tow.

The coast guard received the first SOS from the Suez at 5:29 a. m. (E.S.T.) Friday. The message read: "Struck tanker and apparently all hands are lost."

The Esso Burlington, another of the ships that went to the scene, picked up three charred bodies. The Burlington reported last night that additional bodies were seen in the water, but darkness prevented further recoveries. Planes joined in a search of the area early today.

Their differences were characteristic of a congressional split so deep it erupted into a tussle yesterday between three of four senators recording a radio debate on the issues MacArthur's firing has raised.

The three contestants—Senators Humphrey (D.-Minn.) and Lehman (D.-Lib.-N. Y.) on one side and Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) on the other—couldn't agree on exactly what happened. Everyone's tempers and clothing were rumpled considerably. Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) acted as peacemaker.

Couldn't Agree

He agreed with the others, however, that the four couldn't agree on MacArthur's program to fight an expanded war against the Communists in Korea or on whether military men generally shared MacArthur's views.

MacArthur has called for a naval blockade of the China coast, a tightened economic blockade of Red China, the freeing of allied air power to operate over Manchuria and supply support for Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa to launch an attack on the China mainland.

He added, in a speech to Congress Thursday, that the Joint

General Rests After Tumultous Welcome in New York City Friday

No Plans Made

Invitations Come From Cities All Over the Country

New York, April 21 (AP)—The tumult of history's greatest ovation at an end, Gen. Douglas MacArthur rested today, leafing through a stack of invitations from all over America.

There are other cities for the five-star general to conquer if he wishes — Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, to name the larger ones.

But none can pay him greater tribute than he got here yesterday when 7,500,000 persons sent thunderous cheers echoing to the masonry peaks of this skyscraper wonderland.

MacArthur's immediate plans were not made public. He, his wife and 13-year-old son were secluded on the 37th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

However, he tentatively plans to visit Chicago next week.

May Stop at Memorial

If he goes there, he has been asked to stop at suburban Maywood, Ill., where a memorial immortalizes 100 tankmen who died in the World War 2 defense of Bataan.

MacArthur also is committed to visiting his wife's home at Murfreesboro, Tenn. But no date for that trip has been announced.

MacArthur is expected back in Washington late in the month to testify before a congressional inquiry into Far Eastern military and foreign policy.

His sharp split with President Truman over Far Eastern policies cost him his Pacific command and touched off a bitter debate that may last until the 1952 elections.

Shall Never Forget

"We shall never forget it," MacArthur said yesterday of the historic welcome paid him by New York's millions.

The general emerged from the Waldorf-Astoria shortly after 11 a. m., buttoned to the neck in his familiar trenchcoat and with his famed gold-braided hat on his head.

From that instant, all New York went wild in a tumultuous carnival of joy that lasted unbroken for four hours.

There never was anything like it before as massed humanity shouted, wept and waved the general along his 15-mile parade route.

On scrubbed, sedate Park avenue, through the green malls of Central Park, down the teeming expanse of Sixth avenue, through a packed and roaring Times Square, past the east side docks where ships raised a deep-throated whistle of acclaim, up the financial canyons of lower Broadway and between the rows of smart Fifth avenue shops—every turn of the motorcade's wheels brought MacArthur fresh homage.

Greatest Parade

Ticker tape by the tons swirled down on MacArthur and his party, then was caught up by the winds and went twinkling off

Plan to Cut Prices May Start With Manufacturers

Method Is Reportedly First in Three-Part Program to Hit Inflation

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston may announce a new attack on prices through establishment of a "fair and equitable" standard for manufacturers' profits.

The plan is reportedly the first leg of a three-part program, also involving labor and agriculture, by which Johnston hopes to "harden" anti-inflation dykes.

Government officials first mentioned the plan three weeks ago. On April 13, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle told newsmen some prices would be rolled back at the manufacturers' level by an order to be issued "next week". This would bring about some price

(By The Associated Press)

The mighty Mississippi, on a spring rampage in the upper valley area, today threatened serious floods to river towns in three midwest states.

"Old Man River," fed by rains and heavy runoffs, spilled out over midwest lowlands and forced thousands to flee their homes. The Red Cross estimated nearly 3,000 persons have been evacuated so far in the flood-stricken area.

There was feverish activity in some of the cities along the river southward from Wisconsin into Iowa and Illinois. Levees were being strengthened. Bulldozers were put into operation in building earthen dikes.

Cooler weather, with showers, was predicted for most of the flood-stricken area today.

There appeared no immediate danger of serious flooding below Cairo, Ill.

National Guard Called

Two National Guard units were sent to Muscatine, Ia., after a state of emergency was declared for the city of 20,000 which is in danger of serious flooding.

The Red Cross said about 300 families have been evacuated from lowland homes in the Dubuque, Ia., area, where the Mississippi reached a record level of above 22 feet. The old record was 21.7 feet in 1880.

In East Dubuque, Ill., some 400 families have been removed from their homes.

About 600 persons have been forced from their homes in prairie Du Chien, Wis., where a third of the city of 5,000 is under water. The river was expected to crest today at 21.4 feet, 3.4 feet above flood stage.

Flood preparations were being made in Rock Island, East Moline, and Campbell's Island, Ill.

Afraid of Levee

Mayor George Ulmer of Sabula, Ia., expressed belief that the 5,000-foot long levee protecting the community of 800 would not hold. A break of the levee would put the town under 12 feet of water. In nearby Clinton many industrial plants were forced to close or prepared to shut down.

The Mississippi continued to inch downward at Winona, Minn., the hardest hit by the floods in southeastern Minnesota. But a heavy rain over the state yesterday dampened the hopes of flood refugees of an early return to their homes.

Leave on Flight

New York, April 21 (AP)—Robert F. Wagner, Jr., borough president of Manhattan, and 26 newspapermen left Idlewild airport last night on a pre-inaugural flight of Scandinavian Airlines system service to Bremen, Germany. Among the newsmen on board was Frederick J. Welsh, of the Long Island Press. The service, which will be non-stop to the German city, will start officially on June 6.

Paper Says General Apologized for His Error on Formosa

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The New York Times says that administration records show that Gen. MacArthur, when he met with President Truman last fall on Wake Island, was so confident of victory in Korea that he offered his best troops for Europe. The Times report said he apologized for embarrassing the President on the Formosa issue, and predicted the Chinese Communists would not enter the Korean conflict.

The Times, in a by-line story today by Anthony Leviero, says it gained its information from "documented sources" on the meeting of MacArthur and Mr. Truman on the mid-Pacific atoll Oct. 15.

A partial summary of the Times' story follows:

MacArthur offered to send to Europe what he regarded as his best troops, the U. S. Second Division, because he believed it would have a good effect in Europe.

MacArthur told the President he saw "little chance" of Chinese or Russian intervention in Korea.

Apologized to Truman

MacArthur apologized to Mr. Truman for embarrassing him on the Formosa issue.

Last August, the general sent a message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars suggesting American occupation of Formosa, last stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists led by Chiang Kai-shek. The President then asked MacArthur to withdraw his message to the VFW.

The President has favored neutralization of Formosa by the U. S. Seventh Fleet until its status could be settled by the United Nations—with the United States participating in the discussions.

At the hour-long meeting on Wake Island the President and the general amiably talked away their differences. The newspaper said that MacArthur said he was sorry for the difficulties and embarrassments he caused the President and that he now understood Mr. Truman's position with respect to the strategic island.

The President opposed the occupation of Formosa as part of the administration view that not to do

TakanasseHotelChanges Hands at Fleischmanns

Takanasse Hotel and Country Club on Route 28 at Fleischmanns, one of the largest and most modern resorts in the Catskill mountains, has been purchased by Louise Berg, Benno Eisen and Dave Narzisenfeld, former lessees of the Pine Hill Country Club at Pine Hill. The Takanasse Hotel and Country Club was erected in 1925 and is of stone and stucco construction, has a nine-hole golf course, a private swimming pool and is known for its fine entertainment and delicious food.

Sale of the property by Sachs and Kellman, former owners was negotiated through the brokerage offices of Herman T. Lokow and associates of Margaretville. Sachs and Kellman, former owners are proprietors of the Fairmont Lodge at Lakewood, N. J., and sold the Catskill mountain hotel for family reasons. They will continue to operate the Lakewood hotel. The sale price of the Fleischmanns property is said to have been $190,000 and it is estimated to replace the property today would cost close to a million dollars.

Takanasse Hotel and Country Club has a capacity of 300 guests and the casino will accommodate 350 people.

Sale of the property has been under negotiation for the past seven months.

The new owners will add to the swimming pool and will also add a Floridian cabana house and a new open cafe terrace with a seating capacity of 500 persons. Located only two miles from the Belle Ayre State Park and ski slope, the management will make an agreement with the Conservation Department for excursion trips to the ski slope during the summer with the hotel supplying free rides on the chair lift to its patrons. Belle Ayre ski center is expected to be a big attraction to visitors in this area during the summer season and plans have been made for excursion trips to the top of the mountain where many improvements have been completed, new walks laid out and the picnic area enlarged.

Lukow in announcing sale of the Takanasse property stated that this was one of the largest transactions in this area in years and said that activities in the Pine Hill, Highmount, Margaretville, and Fleischmanns area indicate a good season for 1951. Most cottages in the area have been rented for the season and hotel reservations thus far indicate a better season in the Catskills than had been anticipated. Many of the hotel operators have returned from their winter retreats and are now engaged in cleaning up flood damage and getting properties in order for the season.

Considerable activity in real estate in the Pine Hill, Highmount, Margaretville and Fleischmanns area is reported by Lukow who has recently sold several large properties in the area. Mr. Lukow has assisted a large number of G.I. buyers in locating in the area and assisted in placing mortgages for such building in an area where it has been difficult to arrange loans.

38 Seamen Presumed Dead In Collision of Oil Tankers

New Orleans, April 21 (AP)—Thirty-eight seamen are missing, presumably dead, in the collision of two oil tankers in the Gulf of Mexico about 300 miles south southwest of New Orleans.

The collision, explosion and fire—in a pre-dawn fog—yesterday wiped out most of the crew of 42 aboard the Esso Greensboro, a 10,000-ton tanker loaded with 140,000 barrels of oil. Survivors related stories of horrible death aboard the floating inferno.

The 26,500-ton Esso Suez supertanker, the other ship in the collision, was gashed for 20 feet in the bow 10 feet above the water line she had no cargo, but an avalanche of blazing oil from the other ship set her forepeak afire. The first mate was killed and four of her 44 crewmen were burned.

Three bodies were recovered. Four survivors, including two from the Esso Greensboro, were flown to Corpus Christi, Tex., for medical attention.

Crewmen from the tanker Virginia, one of a dozen ships that went to the scene, boarded the Greensboro late last night, the coast guard reported, put out the flames, and then took the disabled ship in tow.

The coast guard received the first SOS from the Suez at 5:29 a. m. (E.S.T.) Friday. The message read: "Struck tanker and apparently all hands are lost."

The Esso Burlington, another of the ships that went to the scene, picked up three charred bodies. The Burlington reported last night that additional bodies were seen in the water, but darkness prevented further recoveries. Planes joined in a search of the area early today.

Reds Driven Back in Swaying Battle for Their City of Chorwon

Chief Says No Arson Trace Seen

No evidence of arson was found during investigation of the damaged interior of the Kingston Manufacturing Company building on Greenkill avenue, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy reported today.

The building was the scene of a fire Wednesday evening which destroyed approximately 2,000 wood cabinets for television and radio sets plus an estimated $10,000 worth of equipment for filling a defense contract.

Chief Murphy's report that the fire was apparently of an accidental nature was made following consultation with John E. Stuerwald of Schenectady, special agent for the arson department of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Stuerwald accompanied Chief Murphy in an investigation of the fire damaged factory on Friday.

Cause Unknown

Although the exact cause of the fire remains unknown, there was no evidence that entrance had been made into the building. Firemen had difficulty breaking into the building to get at the flames, which started inside. The fire was either of spontaneous origin, or developed from some condition which existed when workmen left at the close of the day's work, the fire chief said.

The building was in three sections. Its original part had been used by W.G.B. Oil Clarifier, Inc., prior to its purchase by Belmont Corn of Scarsdale, of the Kingston Manufacturing Company.

Loughrans Purchase Roosa Taxi Service

New owners took over operation of one of this city's oldest taxicab companies this morning.

William Loughran and Mrs. George Loughran have purchased Roosa's Taxi Service, 309 Fair street, from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roosa. The change in ownership was effected without an interruption in service, William Loughran said this morning.

The name and telephone number of the company, which was founded 20 years ago, remain unchanged.

Negotiations for the transfer of ownership began about a month ago, handled by Robert Ortale and the late Chris J. Flanagan, attorneys.

The cab company was the first in the city to establish a 25-cent fare to carry two passengers anywhere in the city at the time it was founded by Charles Roosa, a former sergeant of detectives with the New York Central Railroad.

Artillery Barrage Kills 275 as Range Is Extended

Tokyo, April 21 (AP)—Allied troops slammed against heavy resistance today in their drive on the Red Korean bastion of Chorwon.

A U. S. Eighth Army communique Saturday night said Chinese forces were stubbornly defending hill positions south and southwest of the transport hub. Chorwon is 18 miles north of the border in west central Korea.

Allied artillery overshot the front and spread explosive death among several large groups of Reds moving south to reinforce or replace battered Communist elements north of Hwachon reservoir.

The big guns killed an estimated 275 Reds in day-long sharpshooting with ponderous missiles.

Several other Red troop concentrations were spotted fleeing north in panic.

The planes flew 48 sorties. They met some Communist anti-aircraft fire.

Enemy Fails to Show

Allied troops drove north through the town of Hwachon, at the western end of the reservoir, without meeting a single enemy soldier.

The Allies straightened their lines from Hwachon due west. They made substantial gains against almost no opposition.

Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said his tactical air unit had killed or wounded more than 10,000 Reds since the start of the war June 25. The casualties represent the equivalent of 10 to 14 Communist divisions.

Counterattacking Reds broke through allied lines south of Chorwon Friday night but U. S. troops beat them off with fists and rifle butts.

The Red attack, with hand grenades and automatic weapons, carried through allied lines at one point. It separated two allied elements and forced one U.N. Company back to reform.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said the heaviest bombardment hit four miles north of the Hwachon reservoir and about 200 yards east of the Suritchon river.

Another field dispatch reported an unopposed U.N. advance over ridge tops near the captured town of Hwachon.

To Await Reinforcements

Korean military sources said a captured Chinese Red reported the Communists have been ordered to pull back to the 39th

200,000 Will Get Hike Due to HCL Contract; Price Indexes Up During Month

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The General Electric Company announced last night it will give its 200,000 workers the nine cent hourly wage increase provided for in the cost of living contract of the CIO Electrical Workers Union. The contract itself covers less than one third of the company pay roll.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed yesterday that its living costs index edged up four tenths of one per cent between mid-February and mid-March. It reached a level 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Since it had climbed from 173.8 last September 15, members of the Electrical Workers Union were entitled under their contract to nine cents an hour additional pay.

The March 15 cost of living index figure was 8.4 per cent higher than the index just before the Korean fighting started last June and 9.6 per cent above a year ago.

While the bureau recently altered its method of computing buying habits, the new system and the one formerly used both figured out at 184.5 for March 15.

Indexes of all major groups of commodities and services purchased by moderate-income city families increased at least slightly during the month. The largest boost, 0.7 per cent, was reported for miscellaneous goods and services. Prices paid for apparel, house furnishings and residential rents averaged 0.5 per cent above last month.

Foods Jump 0.1 Per Cent

Foods increased 0.1 per cent, to an index of 226.2 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That was 11.4 per cent above last June and 15.1 per cent above a year ago.

Apparel prices rose 0.5 per cent from mid-February to mid-March, with higher prices reported for men's wool suits, women's cotton dresses, shoes for all family members, and men's shoe repairs.

House furnishings also continued to advance, going up another 0.5 per cent to a point 14.0 per cent above last June.

The weekly wholesale price index also rose slightly during the week ended April 17. It was up 0.1 per cent to 183.2 per cent of the 1926 average—1.8 per cent since the January Wage-price freeze, 16.8 per cent since pre-Korea, and 20.1 per cent above a year ago.

Kill 113 at Once

Hong Kong, April 21 (AP)—Reports reaching here from Red China said today the Communists set a new record by executing 113 persons at one time at Wuchon on April 9. Wuchon, a South China city west of Canton, has been the scene of daily purge executions. But as far as was known here, the largest number of victims in any previous mass execution was 29. Those purged April 9 were mostly former Natiotnalists and government employes suspected of being anti-Communist agents. Reported among the victims was Wang Hsing-Huan, who welcomed the Red army into Wuchon as a Red underground worker in 1949.

Disobeyed Own Warning

Says U. S. Atom Stockpile Has Prevented Third War

Dallas, April 21 (AP) — Gordon Dean, head of the U. S. Atomic Energy Program, says the nation's atomic stockpile thus far has prevented a third world war.

The chairman of the country's Atomic Energy Commission spoke yesterday before hundreds of lawyers. They were here at an international law and relations institute of the American Bar Association's southwestern regional convention.

Dean said the Russians "have added a new twist to aggressions, in which the satellite spills blood for the principal aggressor without identifying the principal aggressor in the local conflict."

"This new technique of aggression characterizes the present crisis. The present crisis is the possibility of total war, but more specifically it is the Korean war in which Russia has so magnanimously permitted the North Koreans and Chinese to spill their blood in the cause of total Soviet aggression," he said.

Dean said American atomic energy stockpile has made the crisis a limited one, instead of a major one.

"In my opinion America's possession of a considerable stockpile of atomic weapons has prevented up to this time a world conflagration.

"How long this shall be true depends entirely upon the Soviet analysis of our strength, their willingness to take the risk of defying that strength, and their estimate of what the free world will risk in crushing an early aggressor in the hope of preventing total aggression."

Long Says Truman Is Acting to Prevent a Soviet Clash

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) accused the administration today of "smoke-screening" the issue of whether the high command ever shared Gen. Douglas MacArthur's military views on the Korean war.

Senator Long (D.-La.) replied that MacArthur had "lost one gamble" when the Chinese Communists entered the war and President Truman was only preventing the deposed Pacific commander from "taking the final gamble that Russia would not come in if we bomb China."

General Rests After Tumultous Welcome in New York City Friday

No Plans Made

Invitations Come From Cities All Over the Country

New York, April 21 (AP)—The tumult of history's greatest ovation at an end, Gen. Douglas MacArthur rested today, leafing through a stack of invitations from all over America.

There are other cities for the five-star general to conquer if he wishes — Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, to name the larger ones.

But none can pay him greater tribute than he got here yesterday when 7,500,000 persons sent thunderous cheers echoing to the masonry peaks of this skyscraper wonderland.

MacArthur's immediate plans were not made public. He, his wife and 13-year-old son were secluded on the 37th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

However, he tentatively plans to visit Chicago next week.

May Stop at Memorial

If he goes there, he has been asked to stop at suburban Maywood, Ill., where a memorial immortalizes 100 tankmen who died in the World War 2 defense of Bataan.

MacArthur also is committed to visiting his wife's home at Murfreesboro, Tenn. But no date for that trip has been announced.

MacArthur is expected back in Washington late in the month to testify before a congressional inquiry into Far Eastern military and foreign policy.

His sharp split with President Truman over Far Eastern policies cost him his Pacific command and touched off a bitter debate that may last until the 1952 elections.

Shall Never Forget

"We shall never forget it," MacArthur said yesterday of the historic welcome paid him by New York's millions.

The general emerged from the Waldorf-Astoria shortly after 11 a. m., buttoned to the neck in his familiar trenchcoat and with his famed gold-braided hat on his head.

From that instant, all New York went wild in a tumultuous carnival of joy that lasted unbroken for four hours.

There never was anything like it before as massed humanity shouted, wept and waved the general along his 15-mile parade route.

On scrubbed, sedate Park avenue, through the green malls of Central Park, down the teeming expanse of Sixth avenue, through a packed and roaring Times Square, past the east side docks where ships raised a deep-throated whistle of acclaim, up the financial canyons of lower Broadway and between the rows of smart Fifth avenue shops—every turn of the motorcade's wheels brought MacArthur fresh homage.

Greatest Parade

Ticker tape by the tons swirled down on MacArthur and his party, then was caught up by the winds and went twinkling off

38 Seamen Presumed Dead In Collision of Oil Tankers

New Orleans, April 21 (AP)—Thirty-eight seamen are missing, presumably dead, in the collision of two oil tankers in the Gulf of Mexico about 300 miles south southwest of New Orleans.

The collision, explosion and fire—in a pre-dawn fog—yesterday wiped out most of the crew of 42 aboard the Esso Greensboro, a 10,000-ton tanker loaded with 140,000 barrels of oil. Survivors related stories of horrible death aboard the floating inferno.

The 26,500-ton Esso Suez supertanker, the other ship in the collision, was gashed for 20 feet in the bow 10 feet above the water line she had no cargo, but an avalanche of blazing oil from the other ship set her forepeak afire. The first mate was killed and four of her 44 crewmen were burned.

Three bodies were recovered. Four survivors, including two from the Esso Greensboro, were flown to Corpus Christi, Tex., for medical attention.

Crewmen from the tanker Virginia, one of a dozen ships that went to the scene, boarded the Greensboro late last night, the coast guard reported, put out the flames, and then took the disabled ship in tow.

The coast guard received the first SOS from the Suez at 5:29 a. m. (E.S.T.) Friday. The message read: "Struck tanker and apparently all hands are lost."

The Esso Burlington, another of the ships that went to the scene, picked up three charred bodies. The Burlington reported last night that additional bodies were seen in the water, but darkness prevented further recoveries. Planes joined in a search of the area early today.

Smouldering Ruins of Local Plant

Look for Leaks in Roof

The best time to inspect a roof for leaks is during a heavy shower. During a rainstorm, take a flashlight into the atic and carefully examine the underside of the roof and rafters for traces of moisture. Water travels along a rafter, a leak is not always at the point where moisture is discovered. Trace the moisture to its origin and mark the spot. Set a pan or bucket under the leak only until a roofer can make a permanent repair.

Glass Cover

A glass ironing board cover that will not burn or char soon will be available. Spots may be easily removed with a damp cloth or with a dry-cleaning fluid.

Tints Prove Helpful in Concealing Bad Spacing

Long a valued device of interior decorators, the use of wall and ceiling tints to conceal bad proportions and accent the feeling of space is now being commonly used by home owners.

Light colors, those mixed with white, tend to create a feeling of space and should be used as a groundwork when this effect is sought. By using a gray background throughout the house, brightened with light shades of yellow, pale green, coral or other similar tints, a sense of space will be attained, and normally dark rooms will appear brighter.

If the house is too dark and appears too empty, the action should be reversed. Dark shades of warm, glowing colors should be used to draw together an oversized room. Square rooms may be made to appear rectangular by finishing opposite walls in a light shade and paneling the other two walls in clear or knotty pine. A fireplace wall in knotty pine provides a harmonious background for a cheery blaze and takes away the monotony of four identical walls.

When too much sunlight streams into a room, the intensity should be tempered with green or shades of blue. Rooms receiving too little sunshine should be treated with sun shades such as yellow, light gold or chartreuse.

Function of 'Bridging'

The small diagonal braces used in the basement of every well-built house between the studs or joists are called "bridging."

Grease on Wallpaper

There are several methods of removing grease spots from wallpaper that is not washable or waterproof, but success cannot always be guaranteed. One method involves the use of benzine or carbon tetrachloride or a spot cleaner sold by most stores. The solvent should be applied to the spot quickly, and a blotter held over it immediately afterward.

Have Child's Room Rugged but Colorful

A child's room should be easy to clean, able to withstand the hardest wear and yet be filled with interest for the small fry. This calls for color and lots of it. Paint the walls with washable pigments in pastel blue, pink or yellow. Wallpaper should be washable for easy cleaning. Asphalt tile or linoleum on the floor will withstand the roughest usage and the color and design opportunities are almost unlimited.

The color of the flooring should contrast rather than blend with the walls for greatest interest. Combinations of light gray and green go well with yellow walls. For a pink or blue color plan, a floor of marbleized tan or mahogany makes a pleasing contrast.

Concrete for Porch

A plain, smooth-troweled concrete porch floor will cost considerably less than one laid in brick, tile or stone. Such a floor is easier to clean than one made up of many small masonry units.

Fast-Drying Paint

When doing a painting job with any fast-drying interior wall paint, keep the doors and windows of the room you are painting closed. This will prevent gusts of air from striking the edges of the fresh paint and drying them before you get a chance to connect up with the next strip.

Cleaning Fireplace

Soot marks on brick fireplace fronts can be removed by scrubbing with a wire brush dipped into a paste made of water and ordinary gritty cleansing powder. Follow this with a clear water rinse.

Hides Electric Cord

A new reel to gather up the excess wire on your electrical appliances or lamps is only 3½ inches in diameter and little over an inch high. It can be placed in service for any electrical device without disconnecting the cord.

Keep Awning Tight

If the awning has become loose in any way, replace the screws at once and see that it is secure. It takes only one bad wind storm to tear that loose flap and cause considerable damage and expense. Fix it immediately.

New Color for Canvas

With special canvas paints that are now on the market it is possible to renew faded awnings and garden umbrellas. Such a coating keeps them from mildewing and is water repellent.

Cupboard Color Tip

Painting or enameling the insides of cupboards in kitchen cabinets or other kitchen storage places, can provide an interesting and pleasing contrast to the colors used on the outside of the cabinets, when the doors are open.

Suggest Dark Walls

The use of a dark-colored paint on the walls behind bookcases tends to reduce the contrast between the color of the books and the back wall. It also harmonizes the appearance of rows of uneven books.

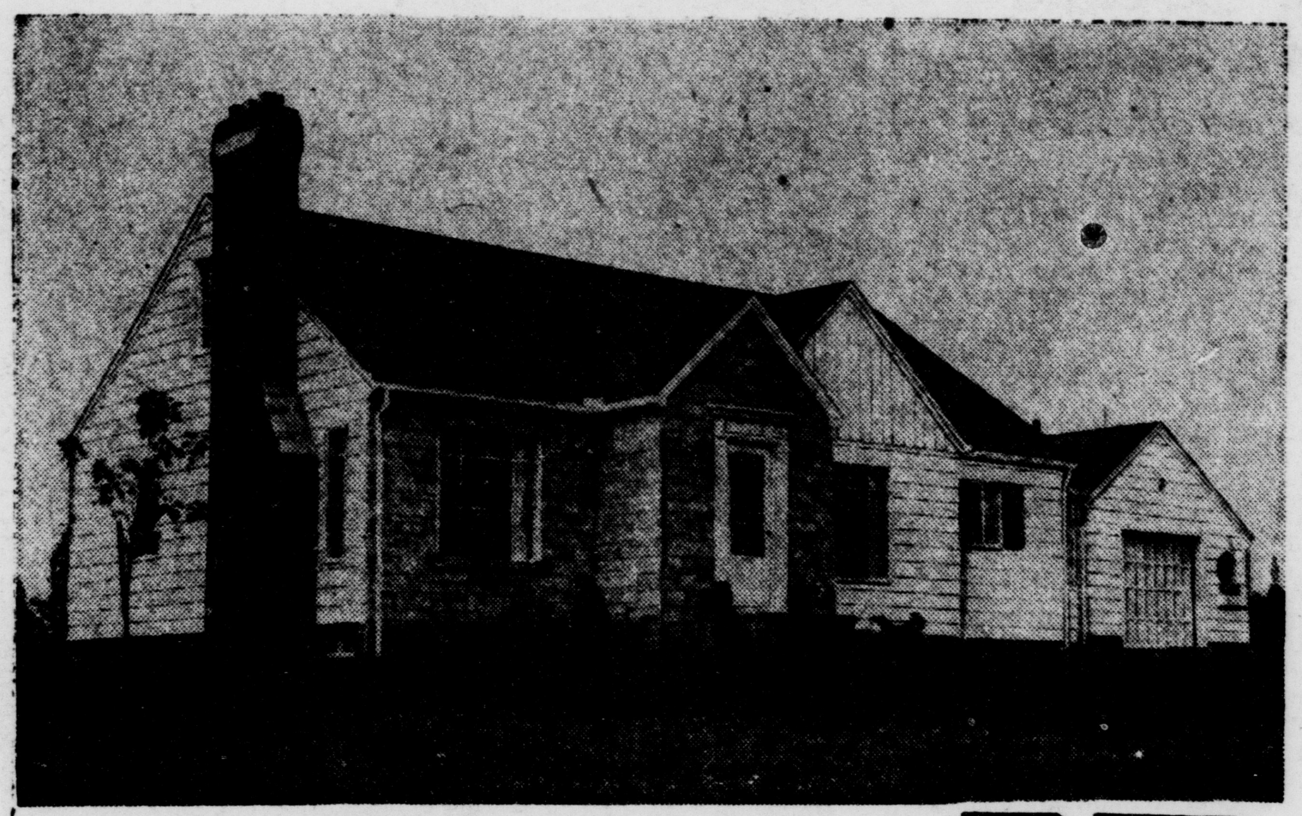
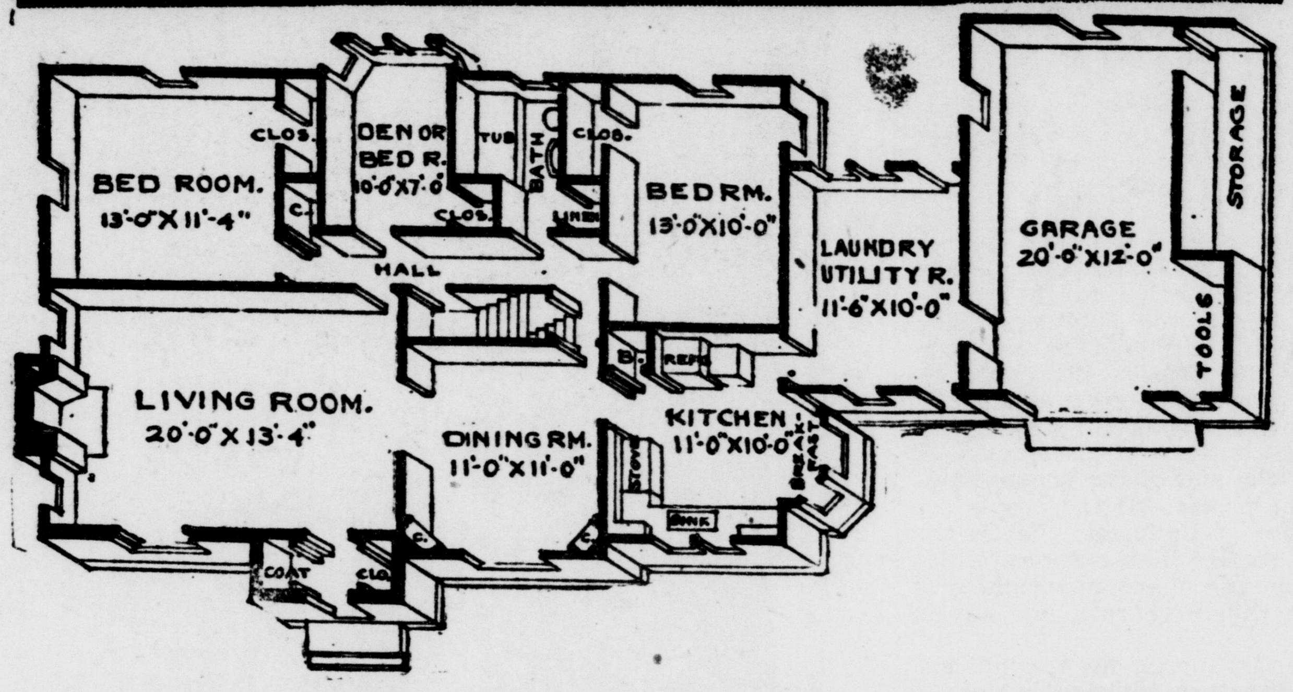
THE HERKIMER





Well-Planned One Story House With Many Rooms

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage
House	22,100 ft.
Garage	3,800 ft.
Dimensions
Overall	63' x 26'

There's plenty of closet space in the rectangular entry hall, for large closets line both the right and left walls. Hanging up guests' wraps, and storing your family's stormy weather duds, won't be any problem at all if you build "The Herkimer."

This entry hall leads directly into the 20' x 13' 4" living room. Well lighted by the handsome large window in the front wall and by windows flanking the fireplace in the left wall, the living room is the most attractive room in the house. Furniture arrangement should present no difficulty in this room, and against the long unbroken back wall is an ideal location for your television set.

Built-In Cabinets

To the right, through an open archway, is the dining room. Built-in china cabinets in both front corners of the room are the answer to the housewife's question of where to keep that beautiful china and glassware. The large paneled window in the front wall provides plenty of light for the room—makes an attractive setting for the dining room table and chair set.

A door in the right wall of the 11 foot square dining room leads to the all modern kitchen. In keeping with the latest trend in home planning, the kitchen in "The Herkimer" is placed in the front of the house. Thus, the back, and more quiet, sections of the house are reserved for the sleeping quarters.

Working counters, stove and sink are arranged in an L along the left and front walls. The stove is the first in the array and the sink is placed under the double windows in the front wall. The refrigerator and an extra counter area are placed against the back wall of the room. You'll find the broom closet, located between the refrigerator and the left wall, useful for a number of storage purposes.

Although the kitchen is not very large—it measures but 11' x 10'—it still has room for a very pleasant little breakfast nook, located in the three-windowed bay in the right wall. Well lighted and ventilated, the breakfast nook should help to get the family off to a cheerful start every morning.

Connected to the kitchen by a doorway, the laundry or utility room measures 11' 6" x 10' and provides protected entrance to the garage. A well lighted room with two windows in its back wall and another in the front wall, the laundry has doors leading both to the front and back yards.

Garage Storage Section

The garage itself measures 20' x 12' and has a special tool compartment as well as a separate storage room. There is a window in the left wall of the garage, one in the back wall and a smaller window that provides light for the tool storage section.

Located as they are in the back of the house, the bedrooms in "The Herkimer" are connected by a central hallway. The bedroom that is furthest to the right is 13' x 10' in dimensions and is a pleasant, well-ventilated room with a window in the back wall and another in the right wall. The large closet in the left wall will provide more than ample storage space.

Thoroughly modern, the bath contains a tub and a shower and has one window in the back wall. The large linen closet, just beside the bath, is conveniently near to the bedrooms.

With a four windowed bay in its back wall, the center bedroom or den is very attractive measuring 10' x 7', this room also has a large closet and could serve with equal ease as a bedroom, guest room or den.

Largest of the three-bedrooms, the back corner bedroom should serve as the master bedroom. Good cross ventilation and light from the window in the back wall and the window in the left wall help to make this a charming room. You'll appreciate the extra large closet in the right wall, as well as the smaller closet opening on the hallway just to the right of the bedroom door.

Outlay for Home Purchase Often Less Than Rent

Under today's long-term, low-interest mortgages, the monthly outlay in buying a home is often less than rent, even after figuring year-to-year maintenance expenditures, says the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Since no down payments are demanded from war veterans by many builders, and initial payments required from other buyers are a smaller percentage of the purchase price than in previous years of building activity, home ownership is rising throughout the country.

The family which buys a $10,000 home with a $200 down payment and executes a 5 per cent mortgage for 25 years pays less than $65 per month. This includes $46.80 on interest and principal, an estimated $12 for property taxes and $2.50 for property insurance and water.

Monthly outlay of a veteran buying the same house with no down payment is estimated at between $65 and $70. Although the veteran borrows his money at 4 per cent under the GI Bill of Rights, lack of down payment makes the mortgage $2000 greater than the civilian's. Hence monthly amortization payments are $52.80.

No fixed estimate on maintenance of a house has ever been made, but many mortgage lenders say that 1 per cent of the cost of the house per year is a fair figure. This is largely offset by allowable income tax deductions for mortgage interest. Many states also have laws which exempt war veterans from paying property taxes on that part of their home investment which comes from bonus or pensions for war service.

Refinishing Radiators And Radiator Covers

With the heating season drawing to a close, it is timely to consider the refinishing of radiators and radiator covers. They should present a clean and pleasing appearance during the coming warm season and be ready in the fall when the next heating season arrives. This kind of work always should be done when the radiators are cold.

First clean radiators and metal covers with a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove any traces of greasy film. If there are any rust spots, sandpaper them down to the bright metal or touch them up with anti-rust paint and primer. Then refinish the radiators with flat wall paint of the same tint as your walls, if you desire a harmonious effect. However, the lighter the color or the paint used on the radiators, the better the heat radiation will be. If you use radiator enamel and apply it over a previously enameled surface, the surface should be roughened with fine sandpaper to insure better adhesion of the new coating.

Advice Given for Economy in New Home Building

The primary factors which govern economy in house construction include the shape of the house, the use of stock materials, and the simplicity with which the structural shell can be framed.

The amount of outside wall and roof area required to enclose a given amount of space makes the shape of the house of considerable importance, it is pointed out. The square is described as the most economical shape since it provides the maximum amount of floor area with the least amount of wall area.

Corner construction costs more than straight wall construction with the result that square and rectangular shape plans are less costly than L, U, or Z shapes. The square or rectangular shape also is said to simplify the structural framing system of both floor and roof thus effect economies.

That the size and arrangement of rooms in house plans permit the use of standard-size floor and ceiling joists without waste of labor and materials. When this is done rooms of maximum size are provided by a given amount of labor and materials. It is also recommended that the plan permit the use of a simple structural framing system for floors, walls, and roofs.

Mechanical Equipment

Another important consideration in economical house construction is the planning of structural framing in relation to the mechanical equipment to simplify the installation of pipes, ducts, wires, and other items.

Stock millwork items such as door and window frames, doors and window sash, kitchen cabinets, finish trim for wall openings and cornices, and other items are an economy, it is pointed out.

Much of the equipment and many finishing items today are so well designed and manufactured that special items become a luxury. Stock moldings of good design are available in various sizes and shapes and can be readily combined to secure effects of wide variety.

Handy Tips on Floor Sanding

While oak and other hardwood flooring now may be obtained in completely pre-finished form, many home owners prefer to install the unfinished type and either do the finishing themselves or have the job handled by professional flooring mechanics. If you are planning to undertake the task yourself, an important point to bear in mind is the necessity for proper sanding.

Unless the sanding is adequate, it is impossible to obtain the mirror-smooth, gleaming surface which characterizes oak and accounts for a large measure of its inimitable beauty.

Before starting to sand, be sure the floor has been swept clean. Do not clean it with water, however, as that may raise the grain of the wood, and cause a rough surface. The sanding can be done much easier and faster with an electric sanding machine, rather than by hand. In most communities such machines can be rented at nominal rates. Usually it is advisablie to traverse the floor at least four times, using No. 2 sandpaper for the first traverse, No. ½ for the second and No. 0 or No. 00 for the third and fourth. On the initial traverse the sanding action first should be crosswise of the grain, then lengthwise. The succeeding traverses should be lengthwise. Many experts recommend a final buffing or cleaning by hand with No. 00 or No. 000 sandpaper.

'Dwarf Partition'

Care Is Needed In Cement Work

Cracked and broken cement work around the house becomes a source of annoyance and expense to almost every home owner sooner or later. Although patches can be made, they are seldom satisfactory, are usually unsightly and have no permanence. Particularly is this true of walks and driveways.

The best procedure is to have the entire damaged section of walk or drive removed and replaced with the new work because new patches seldom bond properly with old concrete.

Concrete will fail when too much sand is used in proportion to the cement, when it is mixed with impurities, when mixing is not thorough, when the concrete is not kept moist for a proper cure, or when the base is not adequate and settling takes place.

Cement is mixed with sand and gravel in different proportions for the different jobs it must perform. Most home owners can make their own concrete for minor jobs, but directions for the mix should be followed implicitly. Proportions must be exact and not guessed at. Any cement dealer will furnish specific instructions for the job in hand.

Garbage Disposal Unit Boon to Housewives

The home owner setting out to modernize his kitchen can accomplish much in one stroke by installing a sink which comes complete with a waste unit that replaces the messy garbage pail.

The waste unit whips food waste to a clean, flowing liquid, and washes it down the drain, thus banishing the unsightly and odorous garbage pail. Being a part of the kitchen sink, it is located in the immediate field of service. Working rapidly, it disposes of the food waste of an average family in a few moments. Cold water from the faucet passes through the unit during the grinding process and washes the waste down the drain. The same sink is available with a dishwasher unit that rinses, washes, and dries dishes, pots, pans, and silverware.

For That Chilly Room

For that hard to heat room, wherever it may be in your house, there are efficient gas-fired steam radiators, excellent little auxiliary space heaters.

Paint Odd-Size Windows Same Color as House

A house that has window openings of different sizes or shapes is likely to have a jumbled appearance if the windows are emphasized by different color treatment than the walls. It's advisable to conceal this lack of unity by painting them the same color as the house. Frequently, it's wise to have the shutters removed from all small windows which are dissimilar in area, leaving only those of the large and more uniform size.

Keep Brush Clean

A thoroughly clean paint brush is absolutely essential to good workmanship.

Look for Leaks in Roof

The best time to inspect a roof for leaks is during a heavy shower. During a rainstorm, take a flashlight into the atic and carefully examine the underside of the roof and rafters for traces of moisture. Water travels along a rafter, a leak is not always at the point where moisture is discovered. Trace the moisture to its origin and mark the spot. Set a pan or bucket under the leak only until a roofer can make a permanent repair.

Glass Cover

A glass ironing board cover that will not burn or char soon will be available. Spots may be easily removed with a damp cloth or with a dry-cleaning fluid.

Tints Prove Helpful in Concealing Bad Spacing

Long a valued device of interior decorators, the use of wall and ceiling tints to conceal bad proportions and accent the feeling of space is now being commonly used by home owners.

Light colors, those mixed with white, tend to create a feeling of space and should be used as a groundwork when this effect is sought. By using a gray background throughout the house, brightened with light shades of yellow, pale green, coral or other similar tints, a sense of space will be attained, and normally dark rooms will appear brighter.

If the house is too dark and appears too empty, the action should be reversed. Dark shades of warm, glowing colors should be used to draw together an oversized room. Square rooms may be made to appear rectangular by finishing opposite walls in a light shade and paneling the other two walls in clear or knotty pine. A fireplace wall in knotty pine provides a harmonious background for a cheery blaze and takes away the monotony of four identical walls.

When too much sunlight streams into a room, the intensity should be tempered with green or shades of blue. Rooms receiving too little sunshine should be treated with sun shades such as yellow, light gold or chartreuse.

Function of 'Bridging'

The small diagonal braces used in the basement of every well-built house between the studs or joists are called "bridging."

Grease on Wallpaper

There are several methods of removing grease spots from wallpaper that is not washable or waterproof, but success cannot always be guaranteed. One method involves the use of benzine or carbon tetrachloride or a spot cleaner sold by most stores. The solvent should be applied to the spot quickly, and a blotter held over it immediately afterward.

Have Child's Room Rugged but Colorful

A child's room should be easy to clean, able to withstand the hardest wear and yet be filled with interest for the small fry. This calls for color and lots of it. Paint the walls with washable pigments in pastel blue, pink or yellow. Wallpaper should be washable for easy cleaning. Asphalt tile or linoleum on the floor will withstand the roughest usage and the color and design opportunities are almost unlimited.

The color of the flooring should contrast rather than blend with the walls for greatest interest. Combinations of light gray and green go well with yellow walls. For a pink or blue color plan, a floor of marbleized tan or mahogany makes a pleasing contrast.

Concrete for Porch

A plain, smooth-troweled concrete porch floor will cost considerably less than one laid in brick, tile or stone. Such a floor is easier to clean than one made up of many small masonry units.

Fast-Drying Paint

When doing a painting job with any fast-drying interior wall paint, keep the doors and windows of the room you are painting closed. This will prevent gusts of air from striking the edges of the fresh paint and drying them before you get a chance to connect up with the next strip.

Cleaning Fireplace

Soot marks on brick fireplace fronts can be removed by scrubbing with a wire brush dipped into a paste made of water and ordinary gritty cleansing powder. Follow this with a clear water rinse.

Hides Electric Cord

A new reel to gather up the excess wire on your electrical appliances or lamps is only 3½ inches in diameter and little over an inch high. It can be placed in service for any electrical device without disconnecting the cord.

Keep Awning Tight

If the awning has become loose in any way, replace the screws at once and see that it is secure. It takes only one bad wind storm to tear that loose flap and cause considerable damage and expense. Fix it immediately.

New Color for Canvas

With special canvas paints that are now on the market it is possible to renew faded awnings and garden umbrellas. Such a coating keeps them from mildewing and is water repellent.

Cupboard Color Tip

Painting or enameling the insides of cupboards in kitchen cabinets or other kitchen storage places, can provide an interesting and pleasing contrast to the colors used on the outside of the cabinets, when the doors are open.

Suggest Dark Walls

The use of a dark-colored paint on the walls behind bookcases tends to reduce the contrast between the color of the books and the back wall. It also harmonizes the appearance of rows of uneven books.

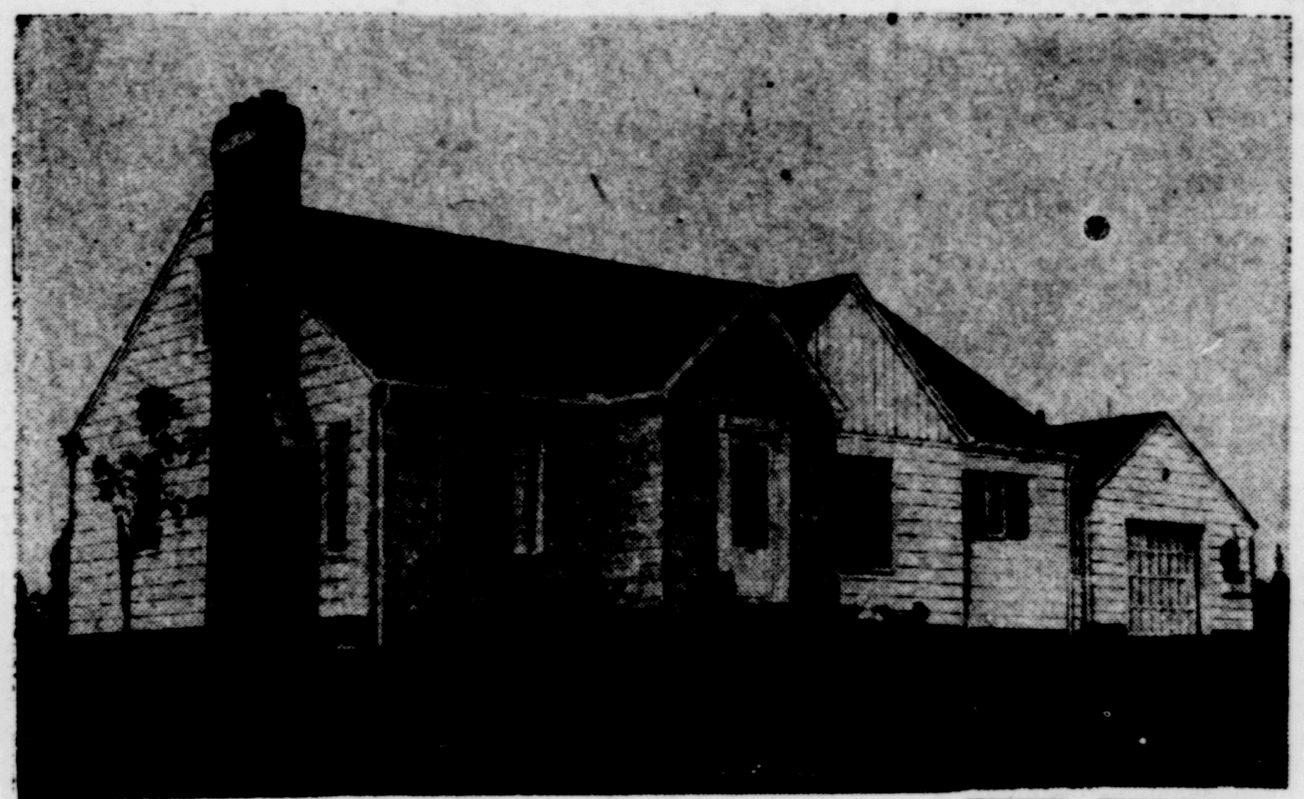
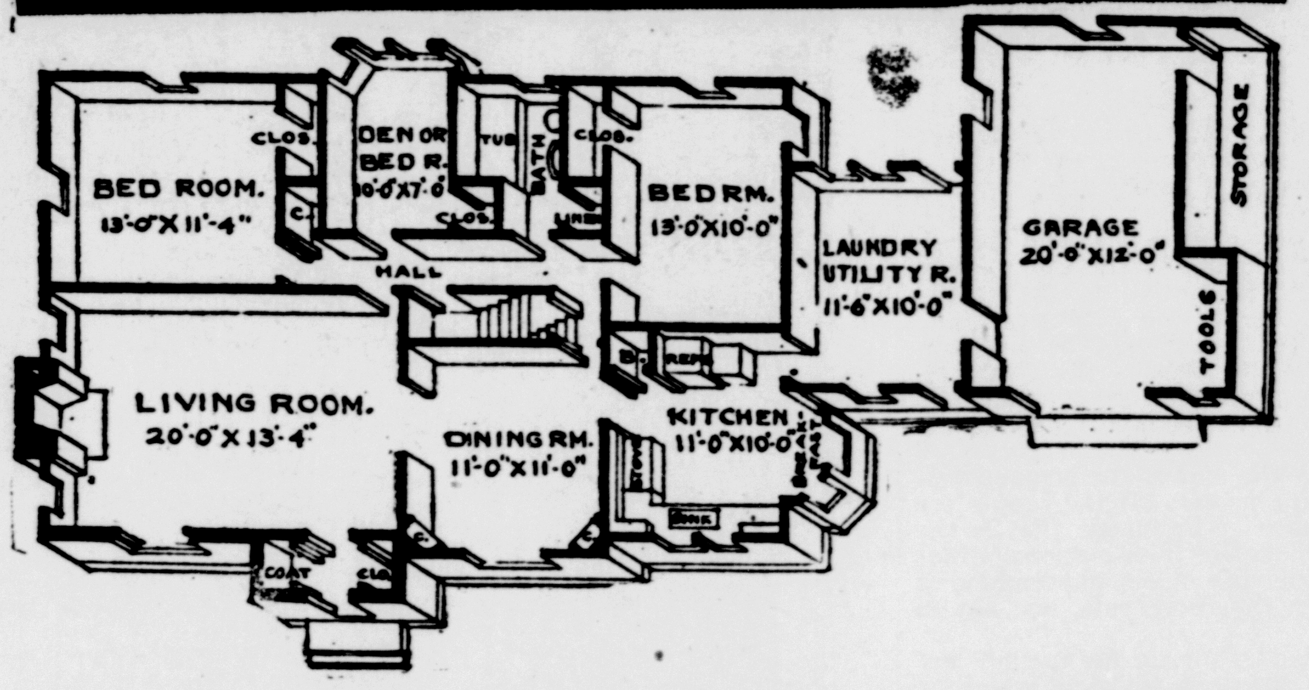
THE HERKIMER





Well-Planned One Story House With Many Rooms

Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage
House	22,100 ft.
Garage	3,800 ft.
Dimensions
Overall	63' x 26'

There's plenty of closet space in the rectangular entry hall, for large closets line both the right and left walls. Hanging up guests' wraps, and storing your family's stormy weather duds, won't be any problem at all if you build "The Herkimer."

This entry hall leads directly into the 20' x 13' 4" living room. Well lighted by the handsome large window in the front wall and by windows flanking the fireplace in the left wall, the living room is the most attractive room in the house. Furniture arrangement should present no difficulty in this room, and against the long unbroken back wall is an ideal location for your television set.

Built-In Cabinets

To the right, through an open archway, is the dining room. Built-in china cabinets in both front corners of the room are the answer to the housewife's question of where to keep that beautiful china and glassware. The large paneled window in the front wall provides plenty of light for the room—makes an attractive setting for the dining room table and chair set.

A door in the right wall of the 11 foot square dining room leads to the all modern kitchen. In keeping with the latest trend in home planning, the kitchen in "The Herkimer" is placed in the front of the house. Thus, the back, and more quiet, sections of the house are reserved for the sleeping quarters.

Working counters, stove and sink are arranged in an L along the left and front walls. The stove is the first in the array and the sink is placed under the double windows in the front wall. The refrigerator and an extra counter area are placed against the back wall of the room. You'll find the broom closet, located between the refrigerator and the left wall, useful for a number of storage purposes.

Although the kitchen is not very large—it measures but 11' x 10'—it still has room for a very pleasant little breakfast nook, located in the three-windowed bay in the right wall. Well lighted and ventilated, the breakfast nook should help to get the family off to a cheerful start every morning.

Connected to the kitchen by a doorway, the laundry or utility room measures 11' 6" x 10' and provides protected entrance to the garage. A well lighted room with two windows in its back wall and another in the front wall, the laundry has doors leading both to the front and back yards.

Garage Storage Section

The garage itself measures 20' x 12' and has a special tool compartment as well as a separate storage room. There is a window in the left wall of the garage, one in the back wall and a smaller window that provides light for the tool storage section.

Located as they are in the back of the house, the bedrooms in "The Herkimer" are connected by a central hallway. The bedroom that is furthest to the right is 13' x 10' in dimensions and is a pleasant, well-ventilated room with a window in the back wall and another in the right wall. The large closet in the left wall will provide more than ample storage space.

Thoroughly modern, the bath contains a tub and a shower and has one window in the back wall. The large linen closet, just beside the bath, is conveniently near to the bedrooms.

With a four windowed bay in its back wall, the center bedroom or den is very attractive measuring 10' x 7', this room also has a large closet and could serve with equal ease as a bedroom, guest room or den.

Largest of the three-bedrooms, the back corner bedroom should serve as the master bedroom. Good cross ventilation and light from the window in the back wall and the window in the left wall help to make this a charming room. You'll appreciate the extra large closet in the right wall, as well as the smaller closet opening on the hallway just to the right of the bedroom door.

Outlay for Home Purchase Often Less Than Rent

Under today's long-term, low-interest mortgages, the monthly outlay in buying a home is often less than rent, even after figuring year-to-year maintenance expenditures, says the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Since no down payments are demanded from war veterans by many builders, and initial payments required from other buyers are a smaller percentage of the purchase price than in previous years of building activity, home ownership is rising throughout the country.

The family which buys a $10,000 home with a $200 down payment and executes a 5 per cent mortgage for 25 years pays less than $65 per month. This includes $46.80 on interest and principal, an estimated $12 for property taxes and $2.50 for property insurance and water.

Monthly outlay of a veteran buying the same house with no down payment is estimated at between $65 and $70. Although the veteran borrows his money at 4 per cent under the GI Bill of Rights, lack of down payment makes the mortgage $2000 greater than the civilian's. Hence monthly amortization payments are $52.80.

No fixed estimate on maintenance of a house has ever been made, but many mortgage lenders say that 1 per cent of the cost of the house per year is a fair figure. This is largely offset by allowable income tax deductions for mortgage interest. Many states also have laws which exempt war veterans from paying property taxes on that part of their home investment which comes from bonus or pensions for war service.

Refinishing Radiators And Radiator Covers

With the heating season drawing to a close, it is timely to consider the refinishing of radiators and radiator covers. They should present a clean and pleasing appearance during the coming warm season and be ready in the fall when the next heating season arrives. This kind of work always should be done when the radiators are cold.

First clean radiators and metal covers with a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove any traces of greasy film. If there are any rust spots, sandpaper them down to the bright metal or touch them up with anti-rust paint and primer. Then refinish the radiators with flat wall paint of the same tint as your walls, if you desire a harmonious effect. However, the lighter the color or the paint used on the radiators, the better the heat radiation will be. If you use radiator enamel and apply it over a previously enameled surface, the surface should be roughened with fine sandpaper to insure better adhesion of the new coating.

Advice Given for Economy in New Home Building

The primary factors which govern economy in house construction include the shape of the house, the use of stock materials, and the simplicity with which the structural shell can be framed.

The amount of outside wall and roof area required to enclose a given amount of space makes the shape of the house of considerable importance, it is pointed out. The square is described as the most economical shape since it provides the maximum amount of floor area with the least amount of wall area.

Corner construction costs more than straight wall construction with the result that square and rectangular shape plans are less costly than L, U, or Z shapes. The square or rectangular shape also is said to simplify the structural framing system of both floor and roof thus effect economies.

That the size and arrangement of rooms in house plans permit the use of standard-size floor and ceiling joists without waste of labor and materials. When this is done rooms of maximum size are provided by a given amount of labor and materials. It is also recommended that the plan permit the use of a simple structural framing system for floors, walls, and roofs.

Mechanical Equipment

Another important consideration in economical house construction is the planning of structural framing in relation to the mechanical equipment to simplify the installation of pipes, ducts, wires, and other items.

Stock millwork items such as door and window frames, doors and window sash, kitchen cabinets, finish trim for wall openings and cornices, and other items are an economy, it is pointed out.

Much of the equipment and many finishing items today are so well designed and manufactured that special items become a luxury. Stock moldings of good design are available in various sizes and shapes and can be readily combined to secure effects of wide variety.

Handy Tips on Floor Sanding

While oak and other hardwood flooring now may be obtained in completely pre-finished form, many home owners prefer to install the unfinished type and either do the finishing themselves or have the job handled by professional flooring mechanics. If you are planning to undertake the task yourself, an important point to bear in mind is the necessity for proper sanding.

Unless the sanding is adequate, it is impossible to obtain the mirror-smooth, gleaming surface which characterizes oak and accounts for a large measure of its inimitable beauty.

Before starting to sand, be sure the floor has been swept clean. Do not clean it with water, however, as that may raise the grain of the wood, and cause a rough surface. The sanding can be done much easier and faster with an electric sanding machine, rather than by hand. In most communities such machines can be rented at nominal rates. Usually it is advisablie to traverse the floor at least four times, using No. 2 sandpaper for the first traverse, No. ½ for the second and No. 0 or No. 00 for the third and fourth. On the initial traverse the sanding action first should be crosswise of the grain, then lengthwise. The succeeding traverses should be lengthwise. Many experts recommend a final buffing or cleaning by hand with No. 00 or No. 000 sandpaper.

'Dwarf Partition'

A partition that extends only part way to the ceiling is known to architect- -- builders as a "dwarf partition."

Care Is Needed In Cement Work

Cracked and broken cement work around the house becomes a source of annoyance and expense to almost every home owner sooner or later. Although patches can be made, they are seldom satisfactory, are usually unsightly and have no permanence. Particularly is this true of walks and driveways.

The best procedure is to have the entire damaged section of walk or drive removed and replaced with the new work because new patches seldom bond properly with old concrete.

Concrete will fail when too much sand is used in proportion to the cement, when it is mixed with impurities, when mixing is not thorough, when the concrete is not kept moist for a proper cure, or when the base is not adequate and settling takes place.

Cement is mixed with sand and gravel in different proportions for the different jobs it must perform. Most home owners can make their own concrete for minor jobs, but directions for the mix should be followed implicitly. Proportions must be exact and not guessed at. Any cement dealer will furnish specific instructions for the job in hand.

Garbage Disposal Unit Boon to Housewives

The home owner setting out to modernize his kitchen can accomplish much in one stroke by installing a sink which comes complete with a waste unit that replaces the messy garbage pail.

The waste unit whips food waste to a clean, flowing liquid, and washes it down the drain, thus banishing the unsightly and odorous garbage pail. Being a part of the kitchen sink, it is located in the immediate field of service. Working rapidly, it disposes of the food waste of an average family in a few moments. Cold water from the faucet passes through the unit during the grinding process and washes the waste down the drain. The same sink is available with a dishwasher unit that rinses, washes, and dries dishes, pots, pans, and silverware.

For That Chilly Room

For that hard to heat room, wherever it may be in your house, there are efficient gas-fired steam radiators, excellent little auxiliary space heaters.

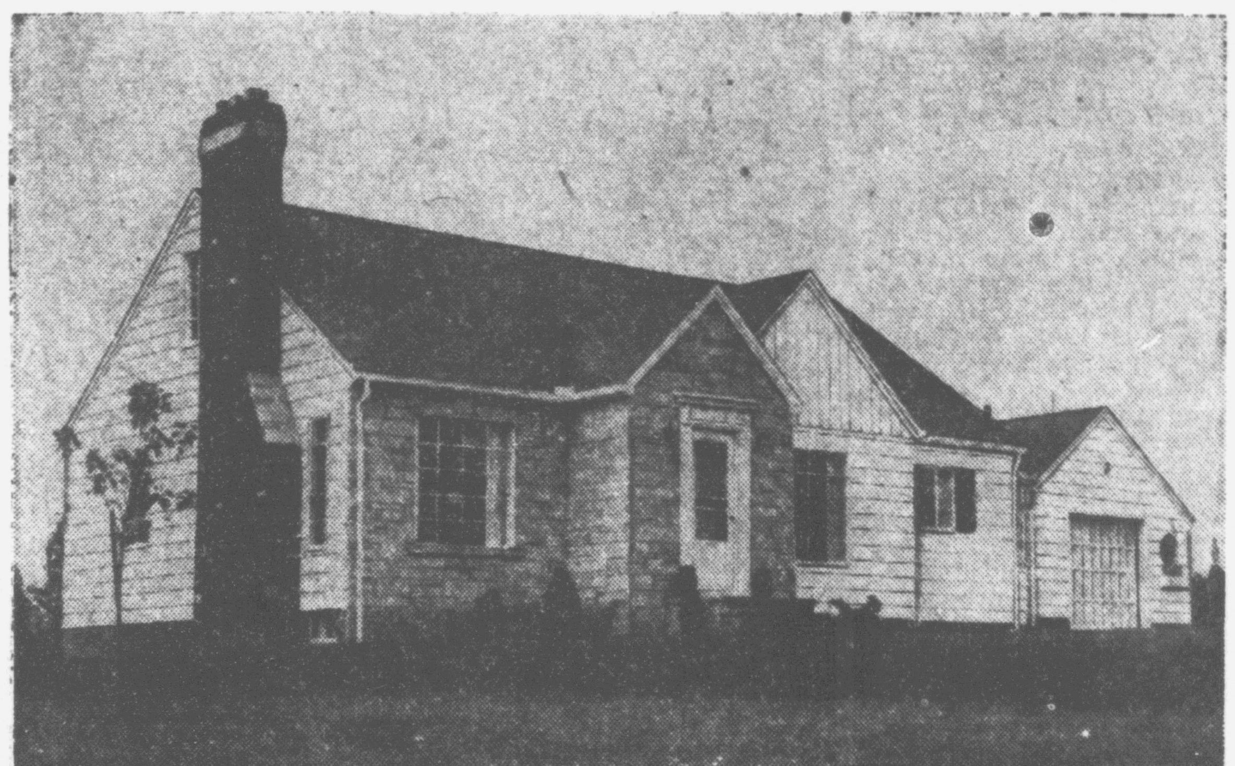
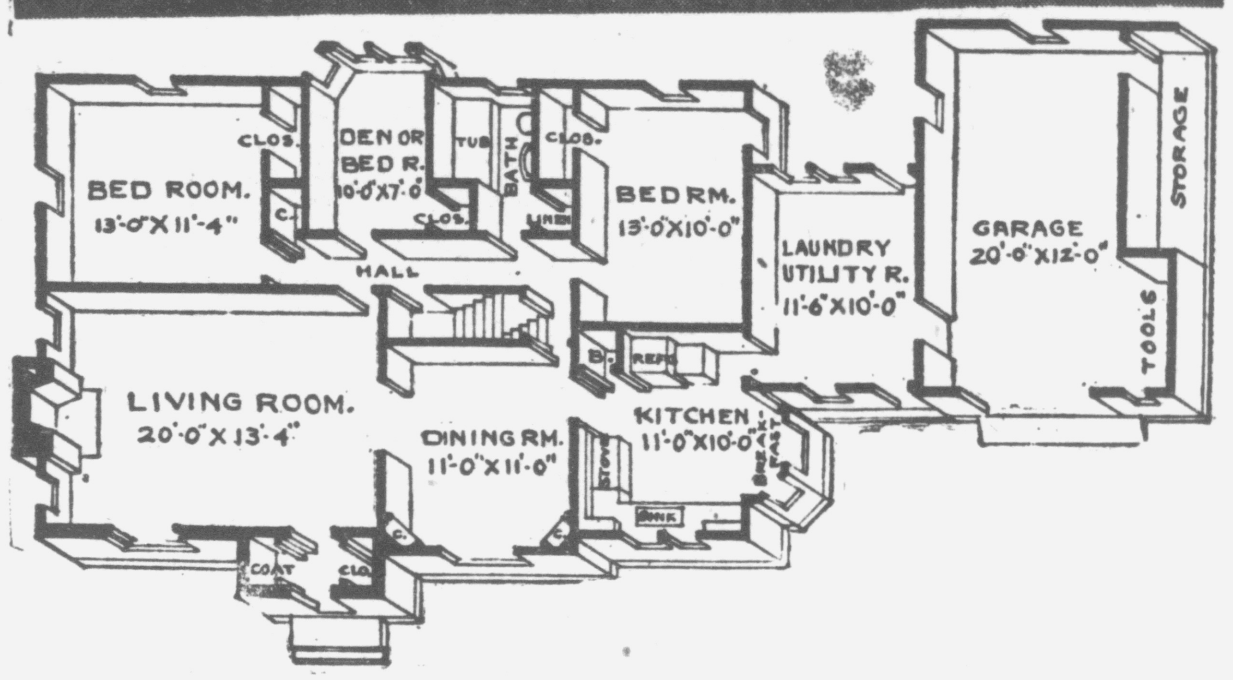
THE HERKIMER





Well-Planned One Story House With Many Rooms

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage
House	22,100 ft.
Garage	3,800 ft.
Dimensions
Overall	63' x 26'

There's plenty of closet space in the rectangular entry hall, for large closets line both the right and left walls. Hanging up guests' wraps, and storing your family's stormy weather duds, won't be any problem at all if you build "The Herkimer."

This entry hall leads directly into the 20' x 13' 4" living room. Well lighted by the handsome large window in the front wall and by windows flanking the fireplace in the left wall, the living room is the most attractive room in the house. Furniture arrangement should present no difficulty in this room, and against the long unbroken back wall is an ideal location for your television set.

Built-In Cabinets

To the right, through an open archway, is the dining room. Built-in china cabinets in both front corners of the room are the answer to the housewife's question of where to keep that beautiful china and glassware. The large paneled window in the front wall provides plenty of light for the room—makes an attractive setting for the dining room table and chair set.

A door in the right wall of the 11 foot square dining room leads to the all modern kitchen. In keeping with the latest trend in home planning, the kitchen in "The Herkimer" is placed in the front of the house. Thus, the back, and more quiet, sections of the house are reserved for the sleeping quarters.

Working counters, stove and sink are arranged in an L along the left and front walls. The stove is the first in the array and the sink is placed under the double windows in the front wall. The refrigerator and an extra counter area are placed against the back wall of the room. You'll find the broom closet, located between the refrigerator and the left wall, useful for a number of storage purposes.

Although the kitchen is not very large—it measures but 11' x 10'—it still has room for a very pleasant little breakfast nook, located in the three-windowed bay in the right wall. Well lighted and ventilated, the breakfast nook should help to get the family off to a cheerful start every morning.

Connected to the kitchen by a doorway, the laundry or utility room measures 11' 6" x 10' and provides protected entrance to the garage. A well lighted room with two windows in its back wall and another in the front wall, the laundry has doors leading both to the front and back yards.

Garage Storage Section

The garage itself measures 20' x 12' and has a special tool compartment as well as a separate storage room. There is a window in the left wall of the garage, one in the back wall and a smaller window that provides light for the tool storage section.

Located as they are in the back of the house, the bedrooms in "The Herkimer" are connected by a central hallway. The bedroom that is furthest to the right is 13' x 10' in dimensions and is a pleasant, well-ventilated room with a window in the back wall and another in the right wall. The large closet in the left wall will provide more than ample storage space.

Thoroughly modern, the bath contains a tub and a shower and has one window in the back wall. The large linen closet, just beside the bath, is conveniently near to the bedrooms.

With a four windowed bay in its back wall, the center bedroom or den is very attractive measuring 10' x 7', this room also has a large closet and could serve with equal ease as a bedroom, guest room or den.

Largest of the three-bedrooms, the back corner bedroom should serve as the master bedroom. Good cross ventilation and light from the window in the back wall and the window in the left wall help to make this a charming room. You'll appreciate the extra large closet in the right wall, as well as the smaller closet opening on the hallway just to the right of the bedroom door.

Outlay for Home Purchase Often Less Than Rent

Under today's long-term, low-interest mortgages, the monthly outlay in buying a home is often less than rent, even after figuring year-to-year maintenance expenditures, says the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Since no down payments are demanded from war veterans by many builders, and initial payments required from other buyers are a smaller percentage of the purchase price than in previous years of building activity, home ownership is rising throughout the country.

The family which buys a $10,000 home with a $200 down payment and executes a 5 per cent mortgage for 25 years pays less than $65 per month. This includes $46.80 on interest and principal, an estimated $12 for property taxes and $2.50 for property insurance and water.

Monthly outlay of a veteran buying the same house with no down payment is estimated at between $65 and $70. Although the veteran borrows his money at 4 per cent under the GI Bill of Rights, lack of down payment makes the mortgage $2000 greater than the civilian's. Hence monthly amortization payments are $52.80.

No fixed estimate on maintenance of a house has ever been made, but many mortgage lenders say that 1 per cent of the cost of the house per year is a fair figure. This is largely offset by allowable income tax deductions for mortgage interest. Many states also have laws which exempt war veterans from paying property taxes on that part of their home investment which comes from bonus or pensions for war service.

Refinishing Radiators And Radiator Covers

With the heating season drawing to a close, it is timely to consider the refinishing of radiators and radiator covers. They should present a clean and pleasing appearance during the coming warm season and be ready in the fall when the next heating season arrives. This kind of work always should be done when the radiators are cold.

First clean radiators and metal covers with a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove any traces of greasy film. If there are any rust spots, sandpaper them down to the bright metal or touch them up with anti-rust paint and primer. Then refinish the radiators with flat wall paint of the same tint as your walls, if you desire a harmonious effect. However, the lighter the color or the paint used on the radiators, the better the heat radiation will be. If you use radiator enamel and apply it over a previously enameled surface, the surface should be roughened with fine sandpaper to insure better adhesion of the new coating.

Advice Given for Economy in New Home Building

The primary factors which govern economy in house construction include the shape of the house, the use of stock materials, and the simplicity with which the structural shell can be framed.

The amount of outside wall and roof area required to enclose a given amount of space makes the shape of the house of considerable importance, it is pointed out. The square is described as the most economical shape since it provides the maximum amount of floor area with the least amount of wall area.

Corner construction costs more than straight wall construction with the result that square and rectangular shape plans are less costly than L, U, or Z shapes. The square or rectangular shape also is said to simplify the structural framing system of both floor and roof thus effect economies.

That the size and arrangement of rooms in house plans permit the use of standard-size floor and ceiling joists without waste of labor and materials. When this is done rooms of maximum size are provided by a given amount of labor and materials. It is also recommended that the plan permit the use of a simple structural framing system for floors, walls, and roofs.

Mechanical Equipment

Another important consideration in economical house construction is the planning of structural framing in relation to the mechanical equipment to simplify the installation of pipes, ducts, wires, and other items.

Stock millwork items such as door and window frames, doors and window sash, kitchen cabinets, finish trim for wall openings and cornices, and other items are an economy, it is pointed out.

Much of the equipment and many finishing items today are so well designed and manufactured that special items become a luxury. Stock moldings of good design are available in various sizes and shapes and can be readily combined to secure effects of wide variety.

Handy Tips on Floor Sanding

While oak and other hardwood flooring now may be obtained in completely pre-finished form, many home owners prefer to install the unfinished type and either do the finishing themselves or have the job handled by professional flooring mechanics. If you are planning to undertake the task yourself, an important point to bear in mind is the necessity for proper sanding.

Unless the sanding is adequate, it is impossible to obtain the mirror-smooth, gleaming surface which characterizes oak and accounts for a large measure of its inimitable beauty.

Before starting to sand, be sure the floor has been swept clean. Do not clean it with water, however, as that may raise the grain of the wood, and cause a rough surface. The sanding can be done much easier and faster with an electric sanding machine, rather than by hand. In most communities such machines can be rented at nominal rates. Usually it is advisablie to traverse the floor at least four times, using No. 2 sandpaper for the first traverse, No. ½ for the second and No. 0 or No. 00 for the third and fourth. On the initial traverse the sanding action first should be crosswise of the grain, then lengthwise. The succeeding traverses should be lengthwise. Many experts recommend a final buffing or cleaning by hand with No. 00 or No. 000 sandpaper.

'Dwarf Partition'

Care Is Needed In Cement Work

Cracked and broken cement work around the house becomes a source of annoyance and expense to almost every home owner sooner or later. Although patches can be made, they are seldom satisfactory, are usually unsightly and have no permanence. Particularly is this true of walks and driveways.

The best procedure is to have the entire damaged section of walk or drive removed and replaced with the new work because new patches seldom bond properly with old concrete.

Concrete will fail when too much sand is used in proportion to the cement, when it is mixed with impurities, when mixing is not thorough, when the concrete is not kept moist for a proper cure, or when the base is not adequate and settling takes place.

Cement is mixed with sand and gravel in different proportions for the different jobs it must perform. Most home owners can make their own concrete for minor jobs, but directions for the mix should be followed implicitly. Proportions must be exact and not guessed at. Any cement dealer will furnish specific instructions for the job in hand.

Garbage Disposal Unit Boon to Housewives

The home owner setting out to modernize his kitchen can accomplish much in one stroke by installing a sink which comes complete with a waste unit that replaces the messy garbage pail.

The waste unit whips food waste to a clean, flowing liquid, and washes it down the drain, thus banishing the unsightly and odorous garbage pail. Being a part of the kitchen sink, it is located in the immediate field of service. Working rapidly, it disposes of the food waste of an average family in a few moments. Cold water from the faucet passes through the unit during the grinding process and washes the waste down the drain. The same sink is available with a dishwasher unit that rinses, washes, and dries dishes, pots, pans, and silverware.

For That Chilly Room

For that hard to heat room, wherever it may be in your house, there are efficient gas-fired steam radiators, excellent little auxiliary space heaters.

Paint Odd-Size Windows Same Color as House

A house that has window openings of different sizes or shapes is likely to have a jumbled appearance if the windows are emphasized by different color treatment than the walls. It's advisable to conceal this lack of unity by painting them the same color as the house. Frequently, it's wise to have the shutters removed from all small windows which are dissimilar in area, leaving only those of the large and more uniform size.

WASHINGTON FEARED FIRE

"There is nothing that fills my mind with more apprehension when I am from home, than fire. I request therefore that every charge, and every precaution against the bad effects of it, may be given, and used, during my absence, to guard against the danger of it."

That warning was written by George Washington in 1797, in a letter to the manager of his farm. The language may seem archaic, but the thought behind it is as modern as today. For fire remains one of the greatest dangers to life and property—in the home, on the farm, and in places of business.

Last year, the property loss from fire was more than $688,000,000. During the early part of this year, the trend was upward—in February for example, the waste was 18.5 per cent greater than in the same month a year before. In part, such increases can be attributed to rising prices and values. But the sad fact remains that back of almost every fire, great or small, is human failure—carelessness, ignorance, indifference.

Today, as in Washington's time, fire prevention is a matter of vigilance. For the most part, the causes of fire are simple—improper handling of smoking materials, accumulations of trash, heating plants and electrical systems that need repair, and so on. It takes no fire prevention expert to eliminate such obvious dangers as these. It takes only a little thought and a small amount of work.

BUYING ABROAD

When travelers to Europe budget their funds, they plan on spending about one-tenth of their money for shopping, and usually are not tempted to go above that amount, according to conclusions drawn from customs records. It is estimated that European travelers returned this year with goods amounting to twenty-six and a half million dollars.

With five hundred dollars' worth the limit which can be brought into this country duty-free by one individual, most Americans stay well below that limit. Forty-seven per cent of the returning travelers bring back less than one hundred dollars' worth each. While wealthy travelers buy clothes, jewels and perfume, those with less to spend use their funds for such things as watches, glassware, china and cameras. Observers agree that tourists' purchases are moderate, and that Europeans would do well to push their wares more.

Since the tourist business is one of the most lucrative to the countries abroad, they might perhaps profit by following American advertising tactics. By so doing they might tempt Americans to buy more and thus advance their own prosperity. American sellers have little or nothing to fear from this competition. The average American's trips abroad are few, while his trips to his local stores are many.

THREE HARLANS

The new head of the New York State Crime Commission, appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, has a useful public record and a distinguished family background. John M. Harlan's intimate acquaintance with law violation goes back to the days when he headed the prohibition enforcement department of the federal district attorney's office for New York City. Probably he will encounter some of his old acquaintances as he embarks on this new investigation of the city's shady characters.

His father, also named John M. Harlan, was a useful citizen in Chicago, a member of the city council at a time when he may have seemed almost the only honest man in that body, and a candidate for mayor against the perennial victor of those days, Carter H. Harrison.

His grandfather, still another John M. Harlan, a Kentuckian, won lasting fame as a member of the United States Supreme Court for 34 years, from his appointment by President Hayes in 1877 to his death in 1911. This is one of the longest tenures in the history of the court. Justice Harlan was nicknamed "The Great Dissenter," because he opposed the pro-corporation decisions that were likely to be written by the court of those days. He thus anticipated the later stands of Justices Holmes and Brandeis.

The latest member of the family has a chance to do good work in his new job. He could also win such popular acclaim in it as to become an important political figure.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE CORE IS THE CONGRESS

An orderly mind cannot recognize anarchy as within the realm of possibility. General Douglas MacArthur once got into a controversy with Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," in 1931, about some clergymen refusing to serve in war, resulting in a strong letter in which much of his philosophy of life is stated. I take this letter from Frank Waldrop's "MacArthur on War," a most interesting study of a truly philosophic mind. MacArthur wrote Page:

"The question of war and peace is one that rests, under our form of government, in Congress. In exercising this authority, Congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the Constitution, its pronouncement on such a question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land, with the necessary implications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes, seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal and malefactor who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Of course, there is nothing new in this doctrine; it is clearly stated in the Constitution of the United States and in a number of decisions of the Supreme Court, ours is a congressional government; that is, a representative republic.

During the past 20 years much has been done to shift the center of authority from the Congress to the President, from the legislative to the executive. But the will of the people expresses itself best in the Congress, in the debates, the disagreements, the compromises, the acts of the Congress. A wilful executive can work in secrecy and therefore unrelate himself to the will of the people.

Congress can do no business in secrecy and therefore cannot betray the will of the people without the knowledge of the people. If the people are careless in their vigilance of Congress, that is the fault of the people who neglect their responsibilities and obligations. But the core of our government is the Congress and when that core rots, our nation will fall.

General Douglas MacArthur, in his magnificent address in 1935 to the Rainbow Division, which he commanded in World War I, said:

". . . Where are the empires of old? Where is Egypt, once a state on a high plane of civilization where a form of socialism prevailed and where the distribution of wealth was regulated . . . where are the empires of the east and the empires of the west which once were the shrines of wealth, wisdom and culture? Where are Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Rome, Byzantium? They all fell, never to rise again—annihilated at the hands of a more warlike and aggressive people. Their cultures, memories—their cities, ruins. . . .

"And saddest of all the downfall of Christian Byzantium. When Constantinople fell, that center of learning, pleasure and wealth—and all the weakness and corruption that goes with it—a pall fell over Asia and southeastern Europe which has never been lifted. . . .

"Two thousand years of existence of the Byzantine empire, its size, its religion, the wealth of its capital city were but added incentives and inducements to an impecunious conqueror. For wealth is no protection against aggression. It is no more an augury of military and defensive strength in a nation than it is an indication of health in an individual. Success in war depends upon men, not money. No nation has even been subdued for lack of it. Indeed, nothing is more insolent or provocative or more apt to lead to a breach of the peace than undefended riches among armed men."

It is when the hard core of a people's tradition rots away and nothing remains but individual excesses and competitions for place, that a nation perishes. It is in this same speech that MacArthur said in 1935 what is so absolutely true in 1951:

". . . We all dream of the day when human conduct will be governed by the decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. But, as yet it is only a dream. No one desires peace as much as the soldier for he must pay the greatest penalty in war. Our army is maintained solely for the preservation of peace—or, for the restoration of peace after it has been lost by statesmen or by others."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FATIGUE, TIREDNESS

There are a number of variations of the story of the man who was asked to count the number of apples in a barrel. He did so and was not tired. He rested for an hour and then he was asked to count the number of apples in another barrel, some of which were in first class condition and others in only fair condition and as he counted them, he was to decide which apples were in good condition and which were only fair. Before he had completed half the task he stopped because he was "tired."

Why was he tired with the task half done? The explanation was that he had to use his head, be concerned about whether each apple should be counted as good or fair. Making the decision tired him.

While some may get a smile out of the fact that making this decision really tired him, the truth of the matter is that where there is the slightest "anxiety" about a daily task, however unimportant, it tires us more quickly.

One of the things an instructor has to remember in teaching someone to ride a horse, drive a car or master another game or task is that when the brain must be used, fatigue comes on rapidly. In learning to play golf, the pupil has to watch various movements, control certain muscles, watch his stance, follow through, and follow other directions; similarly with learning to drive a car or learning to ride a bicycle. However, after he had learned any sport or game, it comes as natural as walking and the brain is not used because it is not needed. There is then no fatigue, or only slight fatigue.

We learn some interesting facts about fatigue from the book, "Fatigue and Impairment in Man," by Drs. S. H. Bartley and E. Chute. When you wonder why you feel so tired, since you "haven't done anything to make you tired," consider these factors: (a) Fatigue may develop in certain types of unpleasant social situations; (b) A person may become extremely tired at the mere thought of doing certain types of work; (c) if a given situation has once produced tiredness, it is apt to do so again; (d) when a person is tired, he is unlikely to feel enthusiastic about anything and when he is enthusiastic, he seldom feels tired; (e) in an emergency, a person can undergo unusual emotional strain and expend unbelievable amounts of energy without feeling correspondingly tired.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Up until this week, most of the top strategists in the Republican party were reasonably sure that the GOP national convention battle 15 months hence would be between two men—Taft and Eisenhower. Now they aren't so sure.

The man who has upset them is the general who came back from Tokyo this week. Even despite the general's disclaimer of political ambitions, the politicos are upset.

It would be a mistake to say that those who mould policy inside the GOP are too enthusiastic about MacArthur as a candidate. In the first place, they couldn't control him. Secondly, patronage would be his, not theirs—and patronage is something without which no political boss can long survive.

This, incidentally, is one reason the party bosses never have been enthusiastic about General Eisenhower. For he likewise probably would not understand how the party system works. That is why Taft always has been the favorite of the chief architects of the Grand Old Party.

Nevertheless, the glamorous MacArthur, plus the crowds he has drawn, the appeal he seems to have, the manner in which he has made President Truman take a back seat, has made GOP planners think twice. Some do so with great regret, because they had their heart set on Taft. Some are waiting to see how soon—if ever—MacArthur stubs his toe.

Some are wondering also what the MacArthur boom will do to Eisenhower. If the GOP nominates a military man for president, then the Democrats are certain to offset him with a military man of their own adoption—Eisenhower.

That is why the return of the general of the army from Tokyo this week has turned the GOP candidate-pickers literally topsy-turvy. And it will take a couple of weeks for them to get their political predictions reshuffled and in place again.

Texas vs. Kentucky Humor

Sarp-tongued Sen. Tom Connally of Texas was ribbing Vice President Alben Barkley, a Kentuckian, about his reputation as a storyteller.

That's the only way you can get elected in Kentucky—telling those hillbillies down there stories to keep them happy,' said Connally.

"If you told more jokes and discarded that sour look, I'll bet you'd get all the votes in Texas," countered the Veep.

"I don't want all the votes, just a majority," replied Connally. "I couldn't stand being obligated to everybody in Texas."

In order to help servicemen with their problems of adjusting to military life, this column periodically publishes excerpts from G.I. letters and tries to answer their complaints. Names are withheld upon request.

Company G, 15th Infantry, Third Division, Korea—"We have just been brought back from the front for a rest. As we understand it, we are supposed to spend this time to rest, write letters and catch up on much-needed sleep—plus a little recreation. Instead we have spent our rest period building a sidewalk in a Korean village outside of Seoul. We have been working long hours, hauling chunks of stone, weighing up to 100 pounds, from a nearby cliff."

Answer — Front-line troops should be entitled to a rest. The army has promised a thorough investigation of the incident you report.

A Private, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"I was forced to travel to Camp Stoneman by train. Why shouldn't the army let me spend the same amount of money for an airplane ticket, so I can spend more time at home on furlough?"

Answer—The Defense Department has an unofficial policy of giving the railroads priority on military passenger travel. This is partly due to the fact that in wartime the airlines have been so crowded that it is difficult to get space on them.

A Draftee, Ft. Lewis, Wash.—"The Coast Guard is a haven for draft dodgers. Those who are lucky enough to get into port security units are exempt from the draft until M-Day. This isn't fair to the rest of us."

Answer—It is true that draft-eligible men have been able to get into Coast Guard port security units. It is also true that all they are required to do is attend 48 drills and serve two weeks active duty per year. This automatically exempts them from the draft. However, the Coast Guard claims it has sent letters to 160,000 ex-Coast Guard men in an attempt to recruit 289 officers and 2,420 enlisted men for port security units. Only after all other methods failed, the Coast Guard claims, did it open these units to draft-eligible men. These units are still short 67 officers and 826 men.

Mrs. Otto Tissof, St. Louis, Mo.—"My son has been in Korea all winter, and in each letter, he asks for food. The mail rates to Korea are very high. Isn't there any way these packages can be sent cheaper?"

Answer — Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat, has introduced a bill to provide free parcel post for wives and parents of servicemen sending packages to Korea. It is now up to Congress.

Note—Several letters have been received from veterans of the Fourth Marine Division, asking whether the war will interfere with their annual reunion. The answer is that there will be no interference. The reunion will be held in Chicago at the Hotel Sherman, June 28, 29 and 30.

Truman Telephones

President Truman was so pressed for votes during the fight on the 18½-year-old draft that he called a Republican senator off the floor and lectured him.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the energetic Oregonian, was arguing against the administration's 18-year-old draft when a page told him of an urgent telephone call.

It was the President.

"I have Secretary Marshall here with me," he said, "and both of us want you to know you're not helping him."

Morse was a little surprised, but replied:

"I respect you and the secretary, Mr. President, but this is a matter of conviction with me."

In the end, Senator Morse won. Congress passed the 18½-year-old draft, not the 18-year-old.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, April 21 (AP)—The firing of General Douglas MacArthur has had one unusual impact on the American economy. It has made it harder for a man to make a living impersonating Harry S. Truman.

This is on the word of Irving Fisher, 66, probably the President's most successful stage double. For more than five years Fisher, a veteran actor, has kept the wolf from his door by portraying Truman in Broadway shows and at club and convention entertainments.

But the MacArthur episode—a big political headache to the President—is a bigger pain in the pocketbook to his double.

"This whole fuss is murdering me," complained Fisher.

His chief beef: Since the dismissal of General MacArthur no organizations any longer seems to want to pay money to see him give his funny imitations of Truman.

Fisher currently portrays the President in a brief walk-on finale in "Call Me Madam," a musical starring Ethel Merman as a lady diplomat. Ordinarily he also averages about eight outside club dates a month in the same role.

Bookings Are Canceled

"But every outside job I had has disappeared," Fisher lamented. "Every booking I had clear up to next June has been cancelled in the last few days. What's happened to the country's sense of humor anyway?"

The fact he himself is a lifelong Republican makes the situation only more ironic to him. If a Republican no longer can earn a living by imitating a Democrat, how confused can the times get? What can a man count on?"

"My family have been Republicans for generations," he sighed. "Why, my grandfather Fisher used to live next door to Abraham Lincoln out in Illinois.

"I guess it just goes to show that there really is no business quite like show business."

And another thing. The audience used to break out in surprised applause when he strode out on the stage, smiling and gesturing like President Truman.

Ladies Now 'Siss'

"Now," said Fisher, "the ladies siss me. You know, ladies don't hiss—they siss. Like this sissssss. And the men? A lot of them boo me."

When he walked along Broadway, many strangers—startled at his strong facial resemblance to the President—used to smile and give him a friendly, "Hi Harry!" Not so much today.

'Why Did You Fire Mac?'

They shout, "why did you fire Mac?" and they demand, "what are you guys trying to do down in Washington anyway?"

"I can't understand it," said Fisher. "The things they say—why, you'd think I really was Harry."

The actor has impersonated the President so long he always calls him by his first name. He first casually imitated Truman in a circus Saints and Sinners show more than five years ago.

"Nobody ever even had mentioned before that I look like him," he recalled. "But that's all I've been doing in the theatre ever since."

Incidentally, impersonating Harry S. Truman has grown into a small but steady industry.

"I know at least three or four other men who look more like him," Fisher said modestly. "But I have the ability to make myself look like him."

Mannerisms Down Pat

This came as the result of a painstaking study of the Truman facial movements and gestures.

"I've got all his mannerisms down pat—his choppy movement of the left hand, his grin, his jaunty walk," said Fisher. "He's got something of a bigger stomach than I have. So I just stick out my stomach and walk semi-stiff-legged. That's Harry.

"He's sure of himself. Right or wrong, he's sure of himself."

Fisher sighed again and said wistfully:

"That's a good way to be. But right now Harry has knocked the props out from under me."

He feels everything will be all right again when the MacArthur controversy dies down. But he wishes his fellow Republicans would quit talking about impeaching Harry Truman.

"What are they trying to do—ruin my business entirely?" he said. "You can't make a career out of impersonating an unemployed President."

Vandenberg Rites Are Held Today

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 21 (AP)—The meek gathered with the mighty here today for the funeral of world-renowned Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Last rites for the famed bipartisan foreign policy advocate of the Republican party brought together the man in top hat and muscled factory worker.

Trains and planes brought official delegations from the capitol at Washington.

Vandenberg's neighbors and fellow citizens—the oldest of whom knew him as the harness maker's son—jointed in a huge and solemn tribute.

Funeral services were set for 2 p. m. (EST) at the Park Congregational Church. The church, with capacity for 1,000 installed a loudspeaker in the basement to carry the Rev. Edward Archibald Thomson's sermon to another 500 mourners.

Sen. Vandenberg, who served in Congress more than a score of years, died Wednesday night after a long illness. He was 67.

On the eve of the funeral Sen. Vandenberg's son, Arthur H., Jr., disclosed he was considering publication of his father's memoirs. He said his father "never seemed to find the time."

Q—Are there more notes recorded on a big outside circle of a phonograph record than there are on one of the small inside circles?

A—No. The same number of notes are recorded each revolution of the record—the ones toward the outside being recorded farther apart. This is because no matter what distance the needle travels, all revolutions of the record take exactly the same length of time.

WASHINGTON FEARED FIRE

"There is nothing that fills my mind with more apprehension when I am from home, than fire. I request therefore that every charge, and every precaution against the bad effects of it, may be given, and used, during my absence, to guard against the danger of it."

That warning was written by George Washington in 1797, in a letter to the manager of his farm. The language may seem archaic, but the thought behind it is as modern as today. For fire remains one of the greatest dangers to life and property—in the home, on the farm, and in places of business.

Last year, the property loss from fire was more than $688,000,000. During the early part of this year, the trend was upward—in February for example, the waste was 18.5 per cent greater than in the same month a year before. In part, such increases can be attributed to rising prices and values. But the sad fact remains that back of almost every fire, great or small, is human failure—carelessness, ignorance, indifference.

Today, as in Washington's time, fire prevention is a matter of vigilance. For the most part, the causes of fire are simple—improper handling of smoking materials, accumulations of trash, heating plants and electrical systems that need repair, and so on. It takes no fire prevention expert to eliminate such obvious dangers as these. It takes only a little thought and a small amount of work.

BUYING ABROAD

When travelers to Europe budget their funds, they plan on spending about one-tenth of their money for shopping, and usually are not tempted to go above that amount, according to conclusions drawn from customs records. It is estimated that European travelers returned this year with goods amounting to twenty-six and a half million dollars.

With five hundred dollars' worth the limit which can be brought into this country duty-free by one individual, most Americans stay well below that limit. Forty-seven per cent of the returning travelers bring back less than one hundred dollars' worth each. While wealthy travelers buy clothes, jewels and perfume, those with less to spend use their funds for such things as watches, glassware, china and cameras. Observers agree that tourists' purchases are moderate, and that Europeans would do well to push their wares more.

Since the tourist business is one of the most lucrative to the countries abroad, they might perhaps profit by following American advertising tactics. By so doing they might tempt Americans to buy more and thus advance their own prosperity. American sellers have little or nothing to fear from this competition. The average American's trips abroad are few, while his trips to his local stores are many.

THREE HARLANS

The new head of the New York State Crime Commission, appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, has a useful public record and a distinguished family background. John M. Harlan's intimate acquaintance with law violation goes back to the days when he headed the prohibition enforcement department of the federal district attorney's office for New York City. Probably he will encounter some of his old acquaintances as he embarks on this new investigation of the city's shady characters.

His father, also named John M. Harlan, was a useful citizen in Chicago, a member of the city council at a time when he may have seemed almost the only honest man in that body, and a candidate for mayor against the perennial victor of those days, Carter H. Harrison.

His grandfather, still another John M. Harlan, a Kentuckian, won lasting fame as a member of the United States Supreme Court for 34 years, from his appointment by President Hayes in 1877 to his death in 1911. This is one of the longest tenures in the history of the court. Justice Harlan was nicknamed "The Great Dissenter," because he opposed the pro-corporation decisions that were likely to be written by the court of those days. He thus anticipated the later stands of Justices Holmes and Brandeis.

The latest member of the family has a chance to do good work in his new job. He could also win such popular acclaim in it as to become an important political figure.

'These Days'

THE CORE IS THE CONGRESS

An orderly mind cannot recognize anarchy as within the realm of possibility. General Douglas MacArthur once got into a controversy with Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," in 1931, about some clergymen refusing to serve in war, resulting in a strong letter in which much of his philosophy of life is stated. I take this letter from Frank Waldrop's "MacArthur on War," a most interesting study of a truly philosophic mind. MacArthur wrote Page:

"The question of war and peace is one that rests, under our form of government, in Congress. In exercising this authority, Congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the Constitution, its pronouncement on such a question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land, with the necessary implications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes, seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal and malefactor who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Of course, there is nothing new in this doctrine; it is clearly stated in the Constitution of the United States and in a number of decisions of the Supreme Court, ours is a congressional government; that is, a representative republic.

During the past 20 years much has been done to shift the center of authority from the Congress to the President, from the legislative to the executive. But the will of the people expresses itself best in the Congress, in the debates, the disagreements, the compromises, the acts of the Congress. A wilful executive can work in secrecy and therefore unrelate himself to the will of the people.

Congress can do no business in secrecy and therefore cannot betray the will of the people without the knowledge of the people. If the people are careless in their vigilance of Congress, that is the fault of the people who neglect their responsibilities and obligations. But the core of our government is the Congress and when that core rots, our nation will fall.

General Douglas MacArthur, in his magnificent address in 1935 to the Rainbow Division, which he commanded in World War I, said:

". . . Where are the empires of old? Where is Egypt, once a state on a high plane of civilization where a form of socialism prevailed and where the distribution of wealth was regulated . . . where are the empires of the east and the empires of the west which once were the shrines of wealth, wisdom and culture? Where are Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Rome, Byzantium? They all fell, never to rise again—annihilated at the hands of a more warlike and aggressive people. Their cultures, memories—their cities, ruins. . . .

"And saddest of all the downfall of Christian Byzantium. When Constantinople fell, that center of learning, pleasure and wealth—and all the weakness and corruption that goes with it—a pall fell over Asia and southeastern Europe which has never been lifted. . . .

"Two thousand years of existence of the Byzantine empire, its size, its religion, the wealth of its capital city were but added incentives and inducements to an impecunious conqueror. For wealth is no protection against aggression. It is no more an augury of military and defensive strength in a nation than it is an indication of health in an individual. Success in war depends upon men, not money. No nation has even been subdued for lack of it. Indeed, nothing is more insolent or provocative or more apt to lead to a breach of the peace than undefended riches among armed men."

It is when the hard core of a people's tradition rots away and nothing remains but individual excesses and competitions for place, that a nation perishes. It is in this same speech that MacArthur said in 1935 what is so absolutely true in 1951:

". . . We all dream of the day when human conduct will be governed by the decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. But, as yet it is only a dream. No one desires peace as much as the soldier for he must pay the greatest penalty in war. Our army is maintained solely for the preservation of peace—or, for the restoration of peace after it has been lost by statesmen or by others."

That Body of Yours

FATIGUE, TIREDNESS

There are a number of variations of the story of the man who was asked to count the number of apples in a barrel. He did so and was not tired. He rested for an hour and then he was asked to count the number of apples in another barrel, some of which were in first class condition and others in only fair condition and as he counted them, he was to decide which apples were in good condition and which were only fair. Before he had completed half the task he stopped because he was "tired."

Why was he tired with the task half done? The explanation was that he had to use his head, be concerned about whether each apple should be counted as good or fair. Making the decision tired him.

While some may get a smile out of the fact that making this decision really tired him, the truth of the matter is that where there is the slightest "anxiety" about a daily task, however unimportant, it tires us more quickly.

One of the things an instructor has to remember in teaching someone to ride a horse, drive a car or master another game or task is that when the brain must be used, fatigue comes on rapidly. In learning to play golf, the pupil has to watch various movements, control certain muscles, watch his stance, follow through, and follow other directions; similarly with learning to drive a car or learning to ride a bicycle. However, after he had learned any sport or game, it comes as natural as walking and the brain is not used because it is not needed. There is then no fatigue, or only slight fatigue.

We learn some interesting facts about fatigue from the book, "Fatigue and Impairment in Man," by Drs. S. H. Bartley and E. Chute. When you wonder why you feel so tired, since you "haven't done anything to make you tired," consider these factors: (a) Fatigue may develop in certain types of unpleasant social situations; (b) A person may become extremely tired at the mere thought of doing certain types of work; (c) if a given situation has once produced tiredness, it is apt to do so again; (d) when a person is tired, he is unlikely to feel enthusiastic about anything and when he is enthusiastic, he seldom feels tired; (e) in an emergency, a person can undergo unusual emotional strain and expend unbelievable amounts of energy without feeling correspondingly tired.

Neurasthenia—Mental and Physical Tiredness

Many men and women suffer with neurasthenia—mental and physical tiredness. Write today for Dr. Barton's helpful leaflet on this subject entitled "Neurasthenia." "What a Break"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Up until this week, most of the top strategists in the Republican party were reasonably sure that the GOP national convention battle 15 months hence would be between two men—Taft and Eisenhower. Now they aren't so sure.

The man who has upset them is the general who came back from Tokyo this week. Even despite the general's disclaimer of political ambitions, the politicos are upset.

It would be a mistake to say that those who mould policy inside the GOP are too enthusiastic about MacArthur as a candidate. In the first place, they couldn't control him. Secondly, patronage would be his, not theirs—and patronage is something without which no political boss can long survive.

This, incidentally, is one reason the party bosses never have been enthusiastic about General Eisenhower. For he likewise probably would not understand how the party system works. That is why Taft always has been the favorite of the chief architects of the Grand Old Party.

Nevertheless, the glamorous MacArthur, plus the crowds he has drawn, the appeal he seems to have, the manner in which he has made President Truman take a back seat, has made GOP planners think twice. Some do so with great regret, because they had their heart set on Taft. Some are waiting to see how soon—if ever—MacArthur stubs his toe.

Some are wondering also what the MacArthur boom will do to Eisenhower. If the GOP nominates a military man for president, then the Democrats are certain to offset him with a military man of their own adoption—Eisenhower.

That is why the return of the general of the army from Tokyo this week has turned the GOP candidate-pickers literally topsy-turvy. And it will take a couple of weeks for them to get their political predictions reshuffled and in place again.

Texas vs. Kentucky Humor

Sarp-tongued Sen. Tom Connally of Texas was ribbing Vice President Alben Barkley, a Kentuckian, about his reputation as a storyteller.

That's the only way you can get elected in Kentucky—telling those hillbillies down there stories to keep them happy,' said Connally.

"If you told more jokes and discarded that sour look, I'll bet you'd get all the votes in Texas," countered the Veep.

"I don't want all the votes, just a majority," replied Connally. "I couldn't stand being obligated to everybody in Texas."

G.I. Gripe Bag

In order to help servicemen with their problems of adjusting to military life, this column periodically publishes excerpts from G.I. letters and tries to answer their complaints. Names are withheld upon request.

Company G, 15th Infantry, Third Division, Korea—"We have just been brought back from the front for a rest. As we understand it, we are supposed to spend this time to rest, write letters and catch up on much-needed sleep—plus a little recreation. Instead we have spent our rest period building a sidewalk in a Korean village outside of Seoul. We have been working long hours, hauling chunks of stone, weighing up to 100 pounds, from a nearby cliff."

Answer — Front-line troops should be entitled to a rest. The army has promised a thorough investigation of the incident you report.

A Private, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"I was forced to travel to Camp Stoneman by train. Why shouldn't the army let me spend the same amount of money for an airplane ticket, so I can spend more time at home on furlough?"

Answer—The Defense Department has an unofficial policy of giving the railroads priority on military passenger travel. This is partly due to the fact that in wartime the airlines have been so crowded that it is difficult to get space on them.

A Draftee, Ft. Lewis, Wash.—"The Coast Guard is a haven for draft dodgers. Those who are lucky enough to get into port security units are exempt from the draft until M-Day. This isn't fair to the rest of us."

Answer—It is true that draft-eligible men have been able to get into Coast Guard port security units. It is also true that all they are required to do is attend 48 drills and serve two weeks active duty per year. This automatically exempts them from the draft. However, the Coast Guard claims it has sent letters to 160,000 ex-Coast Guard men in an attempt to recruit 289 officers and 2,420 enlisted men for port security units. Only after all other methods failed, the Coast Guard claims, did it open these units to draft-eligible men. These units are still short 67 officers and 826 men.

Mrs. Otto Tissof, St. Louis, Mo.—"My son has been in Korea all winter, and in each letter, he asks for food. The mail rates to Korea are very high. Isn't there any way these packages can be sent cheaper?"

Answer — Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat, has introduced a bill to provide free parcel post for wives and parents of servicemen sending packages to Korea. It is now up to Congress.

Note—Several letters have been received from veterans of the Fourth Marine Division, asking whether the war will interfere with their annual reunion. The answer is that there will be no interference. The reunion will be held in Chicago at the Hotel Sherman, June 28, 29 and 30.

Truman Telephones

President Truman was so pressed for votes during the fight on the 18½-year-old draft that he called a Republican senator off the floor and lectured him.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the energetic Oregonian, was arguing against the administration's 18-year-old draft when a page told him of an urgent telephone call.

It was the President.

"I have Secretary Marshall here with me," he said, "and both of us want you to know you're not helping him."

Morse was a little surprised, but replied:

"I respect you and the secretary, Mr. President, but this is a matter of conviction with me."

In the end, Senator Morse won. Congress passed the 18½-year-old draft, not the 18-year-old.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, April 21 (AP)—The firing of General Douglas MacArthur has had one unusual impact on the American economy. It has made it harder for a man to make a living impersonating Harry S. Truman.

This is on the word of Irving Fisher, 66, probably the President's most successful stage double. For more than five years Fisher, a veteran actor, has kept the wolf from his door by portraying Truman in Broadway shows and at club and convention entertainments.

But the MacArthur episode—a big political headache to the President—is a bigger pain in the pocketbook to his double.

"This whole fuss is murdering me," complained Fisher.

His chief beef: Since the dismissal of General MacArthur no organizations any longer seems to want to pay money to see him give his funny imitations of Truman.

Fisher currently portrays the President in a brief walk-on finale in "Call Me Madam," a musical starring Ethel Merman as a lady diplomat. Ordinarily he also averages about eight outside club dates a month in the same role.

Bookings Are Canceled

"But every outside job I had has disappeared," Fisher lamented. "Every booking I had clear up to next June has been cancelled in the last few days. What's happened to the country's sense of humor anyway?"

The fact he himself is a life-long Republican makes the situation only more ironic to him. If a Republican no longer can earn a living by imitating a Democrat, how confused can the times get? What can a man count on?"

"My family have been Republicans for generations," he sighed. "Why, my grandfather Fisher used to live next door to Abraham Lincoln out in Illinois.

"I guess it just goes to show that there really is no business quite like show business."

And another thing. The audience used to break out in surprised applause when he strode out on the stage, smiling and gesturing like President Truman.

Ladies Now 'Siss'

"Now," said Fisher, "the ladies siss me. You know, ladies don't hiss—they siss. Like this sissssss. And the men? A lot of them boo me."

When he walked along Broadway, many strangers—startled at his strong facial resemblance to the President—used to smile and give him a friendly, "Hi Harry!" Not so much today.

'Why Did You Fire Mac?'

They shout, "why did you fire Mac?" and they demand, "what are you guys trying to do down in Washington anyway?"

"I can't understand it," said Fisher. "The things they say — why, you'd think I really was Harry."

The actor has impersonated the President so long he always calls him by his first name. He first casually imitated Truman in a circus Saints and Sinners show more than five years ago.

"Nobody ever even had mentioned before that I look like him," he recalled. "But that's all I've been doing in the theatre ever since."

Incidentally, impersonating Harry S. Truman has grown into a small but steady industry.

"I know at least three or four other men who look more like him," Fisher said modestly. "But I have the ability to make myself look like him."

Mannerisms Down Pat

This came as the result of a painstaking study of the Truman facial movements and gestures.

"I've got all his mannerisms down pat—his choppy movement of the left hand, his grin, his jaunty walk," said Fisher. "He's got something of a bigger stomach than I have. So I just stick out my stomach and walk semi-stiff-legged. That's Harry.

"He's sure of himself. Right or wrong, he's sure of himself."

Fisher sighed again and said wistfully:

"That's a good way to be. But right now Harry has knocked the props out from under me."

He feels everything will be all right again when the MacArthur controversy dies down. But he wishes his fellow Republicans would quit talking about impeaching Harry Truman.

"What are they trying to do—ruin my business entirely?" he said. "You can't make a career out of impersonating an unemployed President."

Trains and planes brought official delegations from the capitol at Washington.

Vandenberg's neighbors and fellow citizens—the oldest of whom knew him as the harness maker's son—jointed in a huge and solemn tribute.

Funeral services were set for 2 p. m. (EST) at the Park Congregational Church. The church, with capacity for 1,000 installed a loudspeaker in the basement to carry the Rev. Edward Archibald Thomson's sermon to another 500 mourners.

Sen. Vandenberg, who served in Congress more than a score of years, died Wednesday night after a long illness. He was 67.

On the eve of the funeral Sen. Vandenberg's son, Arthur H., Jr., disclosed he was considering publication of his father's memoirs. He said his father "never seemed to find the time."

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The 10 crewmen of a navy patrol plane shot down April 8 last year over the Baltic sea have been listed as legally dead, the navy announced yesterday. The plane's disappearance—during a training flight from Weisbaden, Germany, to Denmark, — touched off a bitter row between the United States and Russia.

WASHINGTON FEARED FIRE

"There is nothing that fills my mind with more apprehension when I am from home, than fire. I request therefore that every charge, and every precaution against the bad effects of it, may be given, and used, during my absence, to guard against the danger of it."

That warning was written by George Washington in 1797, in a letter to the manager of his farm. The language may seem archaic, but the thought behind it is as modern as today. For fire remains one of the greatest dangers to life and property—in the home, on the farm, and in places of business.

Last year, the property loss from fire was more than $688,000,000. During the early part of this year, the trend was upward—in February for example, the waste was 18.5 per cent greater than in the same month a year before. In part, such increases can be attributed to rising prices and values. But the sad fact remains that back of almost every fire, great or small, is human failure—carelessness, ignorance, indifference.

Today, as in Washington's time, fire prevention is a matter of vigilance. For the most part, the causes of fire are simple—improper handling of smoking materials, accumulations of trash, heating plants and electrical systems that need repair, and so on. It takes no fire prevention expert to eliminate such obvious dangers as these. It takes only a little thought and a small amount of work.

BUYING ABROAD

When travelers to Europe budget their funds, they plan on spending about one-tenth of their money for shopping, and usually are not tempted to go above that amount, according to conclusions drawn from customs records. It is estimated that European travelers returned this year with goods amounting to twenty-six and a half million dollars.

With five hundred dollars' worth the limit which can be brought into this country duty-free by one individual, most Americans stay well below that limit. Forty-seven per cent of the returning travelers bring back less than one hundred dollars' worth each. While wealthy travelers buy clothes, jewels and perfume, those with less to spend use their funds for such things as watches, glassware, china and cameras. Observers agree that tourists' purchases are moderate, and that Europeans would do well to push their wares more.

Since the tourist business is one of the most lucrative to the countries abroad, they might perhaps profit by following American advertising tactics. By so doing they might tempt Americans to buy more and thus advance their own prosperity. American sellers have little or nothing to fear from this competition. The average American's trips abroad are few, while his trips to his local stores are many.

THREE HARLANS

The new head of the New York State Crime Commission, appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, has a useful public record and a distinguished family background. John M. Harlan's intimate acquaintance with law violation goes back to the days when he headed the prohibition enforcement department of the federal district attorney's office for New York City. Probably he will encounter some of his old acquaintances as he embarks on this new investigation of the city's shady characters.

His father, also named John M. Harlan, was a useful citizen in Chicago, a member of the city council at a time when he may have seemed almost the only honest man in that body, and a candidate for mayor against the perennial victor of those days, Carter H. Harrison.

His grandfather, still another John M. Harlan, a Kentuckian, won lasting fame as a member of the United States Supreme Court for 34 years, from his appointment by President Hayes in 1877 to his death in 1911. This is one of the longest tenures in the history of the court. Justice Harlan was nicknamed "The Great Dissenter," because he opposed the pro-corporation decisions that were likely to be written by the court of those days. He thus anticipated the later stands of Justices Holmes and Brandeis.

The latest member of the family has a chance to do good work in his new job. He could also win such popular acclaim in it as to become an important political figure.

'These Days'

THE CORE IS THE CONGRESS

An orderly mind cannot recognize anarchy as within the realm of possibility. General Douglas MacArthur once got into a controversy with Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," in 1931, about some clergymen refusing to serve in war, resulting in a strong letter in which much of his philosophy of life is stated. I take this letter from Frank Waldrop's "MacArthur on War," a most interesting study of a truly philosophic mind. MacArthur wrote Page:

"The question of war and peace is one that rests, under our form of government, in Congress. In exercising this authority, Congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the Constitution, its pronouncement on such a question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land, with the necessary implications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes, seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal and malefactor who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Of course, there is nothing new in this doctrine; it is clearly stated in the Constitution of the United States and in a number of decisions of the Supreme Court, ours is a congressional government; that is, a representative republic.

During the past 20 years much has been done to shift the center of authority from the Congress to the President, from the legislative to the executive. But the will of the people expresses itself best in the Congress, in the debates, the disagreements, the compromises, the acts of the Congress. A wilful executive can work in secrecy and therefore unrelate himself to the will of the people.

Congress can do no business in secrecy and therefore cannot betray the will of the people without the knowledge of the people. If the people are careless in their vigilance of Congress, that is the fault of the people who neglect their responsibilities and obligations. But the core of our government is the Congress and when that core rots, our nation will fall.

General Douglas MacArthur, in his magnificent address in 1935 to the Rainbow Division, which he commanded in World War I, said:

". . . Where are the empires of old? Where is Egypt, once a state on a high plane of civilization where a form of socialism prevailed and where the distribution of wealth was regulated . . . where are the empires of the east and the empires of the west which once were the shrines of wealth, wisdom and culture? Where are Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Rome, Byzantium? They all fell, never to rise again—annihilated at the hands of a more warlike and aggressive people. Their cultures, memories—their cities, ruins. . . .

"And saddest of all the downfall of Christian Byzantium. When Constantinople fell, that center of learning, pleasure and wealth—and all the weakness and corruption that goes with it—a pall fell over Asia and southeastern Europe which has never been lifted. . . .

"Two thousand years of existence of the Byzantine empire, its size, its religion, the wealth of its capital city were but added incentives and inducements to an impecunious conqueror. For wealth is no protection against aggression. It is no more an augury of military and defensive strength in a nation than it is an indication of health in an individual. Success in war depends upon men, not money. No nation has even been subdued for lack of it. Indeed, nothing is more insolent or provocative or more apt to lead to a breach of the peace than undefended riches among armed men."

It is when the hard core of a people's tradition rots away and nothing remains but individual excesses and competitions for place, that a nation perishes. It is in this same speech that MacArthur said in 1935 what is so absolutely true in 1951:

". . . We all dream of the day when human conduct will be governed by the decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. But, as yet it is only a dream. No one desires peace as much as the soldier for he must pay the greatest penalty in war. Our army is maintained solely for the preservation of peace—or, for the restoration of peace after it has been lost by statesmen or by others."

That Body of Yours

FATIGUE, TIREDNESS

There are a number of variations of the story of the man who was asked to count the number of apples in a barrel. He did so and was not tired. He rested for an hour and then he was asked to count the number of apples in another barrel, some of which were in first class condition and others in only fair condition and as he counted them, he was to decide which apples were in good condition and which were only fair. Before he had completed half the task he stopped because he was "tired."

Why was he tired with the task half done? The explanation was that he had to use his head, be concerned about whether each apple should be counted as good or fair. Making the decision tired him.

While some may get a smile out of the fact that making this decision really tired him, the truth of the matter is that where there is the slightest "anxiety" about a daily task, however unimportant, it tires us more quickly.

One of the things an instructor has to remember in teaching someone to ride a horse, drive a car or master another game or task is that when the brain must be used, fatigue comes on rapidly. In learning to play golf, the pupil has to watch various movements, control certain muscles, watch his stance, follow through, and follow other directions; similarly with learning to drive a car or learning to ride a bicycle. However, after he had learned any sport or game, it comes as natural as walking and the brain is not used because it is not needed. There is then no fatigue, or only slight fatigue.

We learn some interesting facts about fatigue from the book, "Fatigue and Impairment in Man," by Drs. S. H. Bartley and E. Chute. When you wonder why you feel so tired, since you "haven't done anything to make you tired," consider these factors: (a) Fatigue may develop in certain types of unpleasant social situations; (b) A person may become extremely tired at the mere thought of doing certain types of work; (c) if a given situation has once produced tiredness, it is apt to do so again; (d) when a person is tired, he is unlikely to feel enthusiastic about anything and when he is enthusiastic, he seldom feels tired; (e) in an emergency, a person can undergo unusual emotional strain and expend unbelievable amounts of energy without feeling correspondingly tired.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Up until this week, most of the top strategists in the Republican party were reasonably sure that the GOP national convention battle 15 months hence would be between two men—Taft and Eisenhower. Now they aren't so sure.

The man who has upset them is the general who came back from Tokyo this week. Even despite the general's disclaimer of political ambitions, the politicos are upset.

It would be a mistake to say that those who mould policy inside the GOP are too enthusiastic about MacArthur as a candidate. In the first place, they couldn't control him. Secondly, patronage would be his, not theirs—and patronage is something without which no political boss can long survive.

This, incidentally, is one reason the party bosses never have been enthusiastic about General Eisenhower. For he likewise probably would not understand how the party system works. That is why Taft always has been the favorite of the chief architects of the Grand Old Party.

Nevertheless, the glamorous MacArthur, plus the crowds he has drawn, the appeal he seems to have, the manner in which he has made President Truman take a back seat, has made GOP planners think twice. Some do so with great regret, because they had their heart set on Taft. Some are waiting to see how soon—if ever—MacArthur stubs his toe.

Some are wondering also what the MacArthur boom will do to Eisenhower. If the GOP nominates a military man for president, then the Democrats are certain to offset him with a military man of their own adoption—Eisenhower.

That is why the return of the general of the army from Tokyo this week has turned the GOP candidate-pickers literally topsy-turvy. And it will take a couple of weeks for them to get their political predictions reshuffled and in place again.

Texas vs. Kentucky Humor

Sarp-tongued Sen. Tom Connally of Texas was ribbing Vice President Alben Barkley, a Kentuckian, about his reputation as a storyteller.

That's the only way you can get elected in Kentucky—telling those hillbillies down there stories to keep them happy,' said Connally.

"If you told more jokes and discarded that sour look, I'll bet you'd get all the votes in Texas," countered the Veep.

"I don't want all the votes, just a majority," replied Connally. "I couldn't stand being obligated to everybody in Texas."

G.I. Gripe Bag

In order to help servicemen with their problems of adjusting to military life, this column periodically publishes excerpts from G.I. letters and tries to answer their complaints. Names are withheld upon request.

Company G, 15th Infantry, Third Division, Korea—"We have just been brought back from the front for a rest. As we understand it, we are supposed to spend this time to rest, write letters and catch up on much-needed sleep—plus a little recreation. Instead we have spent our rest period building a sidewalk in a Korean village outside of Seoul. We have been working long hours, hauling chunks of stone, weighing up to 100 pounds, from a nearby cliff."

Answer — Front-line troops should be entitled to a rest. The army has promised a thorough investigation of the incident you report.

A Private, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"I was forced to travel to Camp Stoneman by train. Why shouldn't the army let me spend the same amount of money for an airplane ticket, so I can spend more time at home on furlough?"

Answer—The Defense Department has an unofficial policy of giving the railroads priority on military passenger travel. This is partly due to the fact that in wartime the airlines have been so crowded that it is difficult to get space on them.

A Draftee, Ft. Lewis, Wash.—"The Coast Guard is a haven for draft dodgers. Those who are lucky enough to get into port security units are exempt from the draft until M-Day. This isn't fair to the rest of us."

Answer—It is true that draft-eligible men have been able to get into Coast Guard port security units. It is also true that all they are required to do is attend 48 drills and serve two weeks active duty per year. This automatically exempts them from the draft. However, the Coast Guard claims it has sent letters to 160,000 ex-Coast Guard men in an attempt to recruit 289 officers and 2,420 enlisted men for port security units. Only after all other methods failed, the Coast Guard claims, did it open these units to draft-eligible men. These units are still short 67 officers and 826 men.

Mrs. Otto Tissof, St. Louis, Mo.—"My son has been in Korea all winter, and in each letter, he asks for food. The mail rates to Korea are very high. Isn't there any way these packages can be sent cheaper?"

Answer — Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat, has introduced a bill to provide free parcel post for wives and parents of servicemen sending packages to Korea. It is now up to Congress.

Note—Several letters have been received from veterans of the Fourth Marine Division, asking whether the war will interfere with their annual reunion. The answer is that there will be no interference. The reunion will be held in Chicago at the Hotel Sherman, June 28, 29 and 30.

Truman Telephones

President Truman was so pressed for votes during the fight on the 18½-year-old draft that he called a Republican senator off the floor and lectured him.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the energetic Oregonian, was arguing against the administration's 18-year-old draft when a page told him of an urgent telephone call.

It was the President.

"I have Secretary Marshall here with me," he said, "and both of us want you to know you're not helping him."

Morse was a little surprised, but replied:

"I respect you and the secretary, Mr. President, but this is a matter of conviction with me."

In the end, Senator Morse won. Congress passed the 18½-year-old draft, not the 18-year-old.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, April 21 (AP)—The firing of General Douglas MacArthur has had one unusual impact on the American economy. It has made it harder for a man to make a living impersonating Harry S. Truman.

This is on the word of Irving Fisher, 66, probably the President's most successful stage double. For more than five years Fisher, a veteran actor, has kept the wolf from his door by portraying Truman in Broadway shows and at club and convention entertainments.

But the MacArthur episode—a big political headache to the President—is a bigger pain in the pocketbook to his double.

"This whole fuss is murdering me," complained Fisher.

His chief beef: Since the dismissal of General MacArthur no organizations any longer seems to want to pay money to see him give his funny imitations of Truman.

Fisher currently portrays the President in a brief walk-on finale in "Call Me Madam," a musical starring Ethel Merman as a lady diplomat. Ordinarily he also averages about eight outside club dates a month in the same role.

Bookings Are Canceled

"But every outside job I had has disappeared," Fisher lamented. "Every booking I had clear up to next June has been cancelled in the last few days. What's happened to the country's sense of humor anyway?"

The fact he himself is a lifelong Republican makes the situation only more ironic to him. If a Republican no longer can earn a living by imitating a Democrat, how confused can the times get? What can a man count on?"

"My family have been Republicans for generations," he sighed. "Why, my grandfather Fisher used to live next door to Abraham Lincoln out in Illinois.

"I guess it just goes to show that there really is no business quite like show business."

And another thing. The audience used to break out in surprised applause when he strode out on the stage, smiling and gesturing like President Truman.

Ladies Now 'Siss'

"Now," said Fisher, "the ladies siss me. You know, ladies don't hiss—they siss. Like this sissssss. And the men? A lot of them boo me."

When he walked along Broadway, many strangers—startled at his strong facial resemblance to the President—used to smile and give him a friendly, "Hi Harry!" Not so much today.

'Why Did You Fire Mac?'

They shout, "why did you fire Mac?" and they demand, "what are you guys trying to do down in Washington anyway?"

"I can't understand it," said Fisher. "The things they say — why, you'd think I really was Harry."

The actor has impersonated the President so long he always calls him by his first name. He first casually imitated Truman in a circus Saints and Sinners show more than five years ago.

"Nobody ever even had mentioned before that I look like him," he recalled. "But that's all I've been doing in the theatre ever since."

Incidentally, impersonating Harry S. Truman has grown into a small but steady industry.

"I know at least three or four other men who look more like him," Fisher said modestly. "But I have the ability to make myself look like him."

Mannerisms Down Pat

This came as the result of a painstaking study of the Truman facial movements and gestures.

"I've got all his mannerisms down pat—his choppy movement of the left hand, his grin, his jaunty walk," said Fisher. "He's got something of a bigger stomach than I have. So I just stick out my stomach and walk semi-stiff-legged. That's Harry.

"He's sure of himself. Right or wrong, he's sure of himself."

Fisher sighed again and said wistfully:

"That's a good way to be. But right now Harry has knocked the props out from under me."

He feels everything will be all right again when the MacArthur controversy dies down. But he wishes his fellow Republicans would quit talking about impeaching Harry Truman.

"What are they trying to do—ruin my business entirely?" he said. "You can't make a career out of impersonating an unemployed President."

There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards all attesting to the high esteem in which she was held. Thursday evening Father Gaffney called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary and prayers for the dead. Burial took place in St. Peter's Cemetery where Father Gaffney gave the final absolution. Bearers were Henry Myers, Cuyler VanVechten, John Daley and William Mills.

Orange County Vet Asks Impeachment Of U. S. President

Central Valley, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—A tree expert in this Orange county rural town says he is mailing out copies of a petition asking Congress to impeach President Truman over the MacArthur dismissal.

William C. Hall, 38-year-old veteran of World War 2 as a tank ordnance sergeant, said last night he has mailed about 600 copies of the petition to various persons in all 48 states.

Hall said the idea of the petition came to him as soon as he heard news of the dismissal on April 11. He said he immediately drew it up and had 1,000 copies printed.

First, he said, he sent copies to friends, then used local directories.

Hall said he also has sent telegrams urging the President's impeachment to New York's senators and to his congresswoman, Rep. Katharine St. George, Tuxedo Park Republican.

Petition copies, he said, are to be mailed to congressmen.

Hall said he left the Republican party in 1949 because he disagreed with Senators Wayne Morse of Oregon and George D. Aiken of Vermont.

He added that he "disagreed with Truman's foreign policy all along."

Florida Youth Is Held as Burglar

A 22-year-old laborer was taken off a bus at Monroe Friday evening as he was on his way home to Florida after ransacking his employer's Mt. Tremper home, according to a burglary charge filed against him by the Ulster county sheriff's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cleland of Mt. Tremper told the sheriff's office Friday night that Paul Bush, a worker whom they had brought here from Florida, disappeared after they found their home ransacked, with money, topcoat, a watch and several articles of costume jewelry missing.

They traced him to the Trailways Terminal in Kingston, they said, where they learned he bought a ticket for Washington, D. C. Night Jailer Wesley O'Brien was notified, and he immediately informed Monroe police as well as local police. Monroe police in turn notified state police at the Monroe substation, who intercepted the bus at 6:43 p. m. and took Bush into custody. Sheriff's office men today were sent to bring Bush back to this county to face a third degree burglary charge.

Priscilla Tandy Wins VFW History Contest

The contest was held under the sponsorship of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Other top winners included Michael Dugan, second prize; and Louis Nosenzo, third.

Twelve students, chosen as the result of the preliminary test held last month, took part in the quiz. Other contestants were Harold Hutton, Ernest Myer, Ruth Paley, Marion Misove, Wayne Burton, Anthony Gardecki, Marguerite Schaeffer and Neil Poley.

Judges for the contest were Principal John Henry Martin, Sherwood Davis and Hubert Richter. Judge Raymond Mino acted as quiz master.

Flood Victims Meeting Tonight

The third meeting of persons who suffered loss in the flood of the Esopus creek on March 31 will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Town of Ulster highway department garage.

John M. Walker, chairman of the group, reported today that Herman Gottfried, Margaretville attorney and former counsel for the New York City Board of Water Supply, will be present to discuss possibilities of a lawsuit against New York city in an attempt to recover damages suffered in the flood.

Elliott's Bride Sued By Attorney for $80,000

Los Angeles, April 21 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt's bride, heiress Minnewa Bell Ross, was sued yesterday by her attorney for $80,000.

John W. Walting, Jr. alleged in Superior Court that Mrs. Roosevelt's legal bill from Dec. 17, 1949, to Dec. 30, 1950, was $101,500, of which he has been paid $21,500. He did not specify the nature of the legal work he did.

She and Roosevelt were wed, each for the fourth time, in Miami Beach March 15. She and Dr. Rex L. Ross, Santa Monica physician, were divorced three days earlier at Key West. Much of last year, she and the doctor were involved in divorce and custody suits in California courts. The latter revolve about their son, Rex III, eight years old.

Mrs. Crater Dies at 85

Hershey, Pa., April 21 (AP)—The mother of the long missing Judge Crater is dead at 85. Mrs. Lelia Montague Crater, died Thursday night. Funeral services will be tomorrow at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Henry. Judge Joseph F. Crater disappeared in August, 1930, while serving on the New York State Supreme Court bench. His mother, a native of Easton, Pa., never gave up hope that her son was alive.

Fight Suppression Of News, Editors Told by Society

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors was advised today to fight what one of its committees described as an increasing tendency toward "arrogant suppression of news" by government officials.

The committee on freedom of information, in a report prepared for today's convention session told some 400 editors:

"We are beginning to suspect that the biggest uncovered story of our time is the insidious seizure of news prerogatives by public officials."

The committee, headed by James S. Pope of the Louisville Courier-Journal, recommended that editors wage the fight not only through news and editorial columns but through the courts when necessary.

"More often, publicity itself is the simplest and most devastating ammunition action against secrecy," Pope said.

The report contained a long sampling of cases of news interference on the part of officials ranging from city clerks to the heads of federal agencies.

Air Force to Investigate

"When we protested to the secretary of the air force he promptly expressed his regret and his full sympathy with our concept of civil and news rights," the report said. "The air force will investigate each incident and undertake to prevent their repetition."

The committee found serious fault with the "advisory censorship" for businessmen recently set up by the Commerce Department. This policy encourages industry to withhold data which concerned "advanced industrial developments, production know-how and technology, strategic equipment, special installations." In recommending this for the duration of the present mobiization program, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said such information might be of value to potential enemies.

Pope said one business group was advised by the Commerce Department's experts to omit from its reporting of government contracts "any information in connection with the national defense effort." The editor added:

Beginning of Plan

"Here is the beginning of a vast, hardly discerned network of potential news suppression at the source by government agencies who seem to be only vaguely instructed on intricate factors that really involve military security."

"How much of this is going on we do not know. We've only begun to look. We suggest that all of you take a hard look, through your Washington bureaus and your press services."

Russian Minds Are Poisoned Against American Nation

Frederick, Md., April 21 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall said today he believed Russian people are friendly but their minds have been "poisoned" against the U. S.

"I think for many years they had a decided leaning toward this country, but now are steadily being turned against us," Marshall said in an address prepared for delivery at a convocation of Hood College. His prepared text made no reference to the controversy over the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"When one pauses to consider the problem we have in dealing with Russia where their people hear the truth regarding us and our friendly nations, it is not difficult to comprehend how nearly impossible it is to reach a general understanding with them," Marshall said.

'Watchdog' Group Is To Check Spending

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A powerful new seven-man "watchdog" sub-committee has been set up to keep an eye on the way the armed forces spend their billions.

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee announced the move and said the group will have authority to investigate all phases of procurement by the army, navy, air force and marines.

This subcommittee, headed by Rep. Hebert (D.-La.), is comparable to the Truman Senate Committee of World War Two days. President Truman, then a senator, headed that committee. It made headlines checking into military buying.

The new House subcommittee has subpoena powers and the authority to put witnesses under oath. An investigation staff headed by John J. Courtney, attorney formerly with the Department of Justice, will aid in its work.

Detroit Transit Strike

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—Detroit's transit workers went on strike today, threatening a citywide tie-up of all municipal transportation. The AFL's street car and bus operators union climaxed a wage dispute with the city in a surprise walkout starting at 4 a. m. (EST). Originally, the union demanded a 25 cents an hour pay raise. Later it reduced this to a "rock-bottom" 7½ cents. The city offered five cents. Base pay for the drivers is $1.67½ hourly. A number of fringe increases serve to bring up the general average of pay.

Sheep, like cattle, have four stomachs, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Reds Driven . . .

Parallel to await reinforcements. The report was without confirmation.

The 39th Parallel is 70 miles inside Red Korea.

A gradual Red withdrawal has been in progress all along the front. But Allied sources estimate the 600,000 Communist troops are north of the Chorwon-Kumhwa line. A Red counter-offensive has been considered probable.

The Reds made several counterattacks Friday south and southeast of Chorwon. Five hundred made one of these assaults. The attack lost 75 killed and 150 to 175 wounded.

In central Korea, near the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, an allied tank-infantry element clashed for four hours with 300 Reds. The Reds finally withdrew.

An allied force advanced Saturday toward the west branch of the Pukhan river against no opposition.

Plan to Cut Prices

drops at the retail level, DiSalle said.

The plan reportedly would:

1. Allow manufacturers to strike an average of their dollar profits in their three best years during the four years, 1946-1949.

2. Forbid price increases which would boost manufacturers' profits more than 85 per cent of that average.

3. Allow prices which have broken through the 85 per cent formula to stand, but

4. Require manufacturers to absorb increase costs without raising prices until their profits run not more than 85 per cent of the average of the three best years from 1946 through 1949.

Would Affect Many

DiSalle said the order would affect between 100,000 and 150,000 manufactutrers.

Johnston wants to follow up, according to previous reports from government officials, with two more big orders completing a stabilization triangle:

1. Labor—Set June 30, 1951 as the final date on which wage increases would be allowed under cost-of-living or other "escalator" (automatic increase) clauses in union contracts.

2. Agriculture—"Freeze" farm parity at the levels of last Jan. 15, thereby making it possible to build a farm ceiling over food prices.

Parity is a formula to give the farmer a fair return on his products in relation to the prices of things he buys. Parity prices swing up or down as the level of non-farm prices teeter. Therefore, food prices can continue to rise so long as other prices rise. Labor objects to limitations on wage increases — the present formula is 10 per cent above wages of Jan. 15, 1950 — while food prices are allowed to crawl up.

New Act Expected

President Truman may send a defense production act proposal to Congress next week, to take the place of the present act, expiring June 30. The farm bloc will probably fight without quarter against any attempt to tamper with parity.

However, Johnston was reported as feeling that the only fair and lasting price stabilization approach was to bracket all three main economic forces—Industry, labor and agriculture—else one or more would forever be running to catch up with advances in another field.

Maid Admits She Stole Guests' Jewels

New York, April 21 (AP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid, detectives say, has admitted stealing $350,000 to $400,000 worth of jewels from guests in 35 of New York's swankiest hotels.

The woman, Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, 44, of Brooklyn, was charged yesterday with grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail. Police said she rifled guest rooms over a 30-month period.

Her alleged thefts, police said, occurred in such luxury hostelries as the Waldorf-Astoria, Essex House, Biltmore, Commodore, St. Regis, Vanderbilt, Pierre, and Sherry-Netherland.

Detectives said $30,000 worth of gems and 233 pawn tickets were found in her apartment.

One of the pawned items, police said, was an insured $60,000 diamond and platinum ring reported missing last June by Mrs. Esther duPont Weir, of Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. Weir was staying at the Pierre while Mrs. Abbotofsky was employed there, police said.

Police said Mrs. Arbotofsky changed employment frequently, never informing new employers that she had worked in hotels before. She also asked pawn-brokers not to pay her too much, apparently afraid to carry large sums, police said.

Queuille Asks Confidence Vote

Paris, April 21 (AP)—French Premier Henri Queuille today asked for another vote of confidence in his coalition cabinet in a move to try to speed general elections.

Queuille wants the National Assembly to stick to a small agenda of budget and financial bills, get these passed in a hurry, and elections held June 10.

Each time the Assembly attempts to enlarge the agenda, threatening to delay Parliament's work and put elections off till next October, Queuille turns the attempt down and asks for a confidence vote on his move.

He did this three days ago on a technical issue, and did it again today when the Assembly tried to get on the agenda discussion of a bill for setting up a labor code for overseas territories.

The vote on this issue and the previous one will be held Wednesday.

Leg Broken When Struck by Auto

Donald Talmadge, 17, of Saugerties, was treated at Kingston Hospital late Friday night for a compound fracture of the left leg which state police said he received when he was struck by an automobile on Route 9W two miles south of Saugerties.

Troopers of the Lake Katrine substation reported Talmadge was struck about 11:15 p. m. Friday by an automobile driven by James Hackett, 19, also of Saugerties.

Talmadge was walking on the paved portion of the northbound lane when the accident occurred, troopers reported. Walking with him were Earl Minkler, 20, and Carroll Kimble, 14, both of Saugerties and both of whom were not injured, according to the state police report. Talmadge was taken to Kingston Hospital by Leyton's ambulance. No arrest was made.

Chicago on . . .

across the city in the brightest of springtime April suns.

It was the greatest of all the ticker-tape parades that for generations have been a trademark of New York's hero welcomes. The police estimate of the crowd made it nearly twice as large as the 4,000,000 spectators who turned out for Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927 and again for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1945.

"This is the greatest city in the world," said MacArthur in frank amazement at the spectacle of thousands before City Hall.

Then, letting his mind drift back through the years, he went on:

"The tremendous reception you have given me recalls a somewhat similar homecoming in which I participated as a cadet from West Point long, long ago.

"It was Admiral Dewey's return from the war in the Pacific. The years have passed, indeed, since then but the hospitality of New York seems only to have grown with time."

Admiral George Dewey, hero of the Spanish-American War, was given a hero's welcome in New York in 1899—a noisy greeting that set a pattern down through the years and culminated in the greatest pageant of all for MacArthur.

Attended Luncheon

After the parade through New York streets, the general was guest at an official luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria.

Visibly tired after the day-long activities, he said New York's welcome has done what an enemy in 10 years of war failed to—made him surrender.

He said Mrs. MacArthur told him not to make "another speech."

"Although many of you doubt it, I do most meticulously obey my commander-in-chief," he said, looking at Mrs. MacArthur. He added:

"You have etched on our hearts a memory we shall never forget. * * * you have forced us to capitulate. At long last we do surrender."

Then the general left the banquet hall as a military band played "Old Soldiers Never Die"—the military ballad MacArtur quoted before Congress Thursday.

The luncheon, which ended almost at dusk, marked the culmination of the general's official functions. Today he relaxed in his hotel suite while his wife and son were to go to the Polo Grounds to see the Brooklyn Dodgers play the New York Giants this afternoon.

His son, Arthur, didn't attend the official luncheon. He chose to watch it on television from the family's suite.

Paper Says General

so was a way to convince the people of Asia that we had no imperialistic designs there.

Predicted War's End

MacArthur predicted that organized resistence would end in the whole Korean peninsula by last Thanksgiving Day and said he hoped to withdraw the Eighth Army to Japan by Christmas. This view was widely reported at the time by news sources.

The Times goes on to say:

"After the crisis of what he (MacArthur) called an 'entirely new war' on Nov. 29 as a result of the (Chinese Red) intervention, the United Nations commander pressed for a more aggressive policy in the Far East and became increasingly outspoken against the President. The harmony turned into disillusionment in the White House and the Pentagon."

As for Mr. Truman's plan for a Pacific pact—he projected the actual pact this week—like the North Atlantic Pact, the Times said MacArthur thought it would be a great arrangement for the Pacific but he forsaw difficulties because the countries were so widely scatered and lacked strong forces.

More effective than the pact, the newspaper quotes the general as saying, he contended, now that victory in Korea was in sight, would be a declaration immediately after the Wake conference of a Truman doctrine for the Pacific.

Upon being questioned about it, the Times said, MacArthur added such a doctrine would be invoked in instances of direct aggression and not to guerrilla outbreaks like those in Greece and Indo-China.

The Times said the President and MacArthur amicably discussed the Japanese peace treaty, Korean rehabilitation, and the question of French army effectiveness against the Communist Viet-Minh forces in Indo-China.

Lang Shoots Self

New York, April 20 (AP)—John C. Lang, treasurer of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association which had been under grand jury scrutiny, shot himself to death in a Bronx playground. Police said Lang, 47, who had been on the force for 25 years, shot himself through the temple with his own service revolver.

Tin Pan Alley Plays With 'Old Soldiers'

New York, April 21 (AP) — Tin Pan Alley juggled its sharps and flats today to the tune of "Old Soldiers Never Die," the ballad quoted by General MacArthur.

Composers said they were working hard on ditties based on the theme MacArthur quoted in a speech before Congress Thursday. The general said the ballad harked back to his days at West Point.

Gene Autry, Columbia Records said, was to record the original tune at his California home last night.

Bing Crosby also plans to croon the ballad. Crosby said in Hollywood he thinks he has found the song referred to by MacArthur in a collection titled "Lane London Daily Express Community Song Book." He says he'll sing it on his next Wednesday radio show.

Meanwhile, a West Point spokesman said yesterday it was believed Gen. Charles P. Summerall (Ret.) introduced the song at the U. S. military academy. But Summerall denied this, saying the ballad "came after my day."

Other sources said the ballad was written in 1855 by Abbey Hutchinson, a trooper, and was popular among Allied troops during World War 1.

Today, it looked like a good prospect for the popular hit song parades.

Will Sell Recordings Of General's Speech

New York, April 21 (AP)—General MacArthur's address to Congress is to be available to the public.

In Chicago, the Chicago Tribune said last night it will sell recordings of the speech at cost starting Wednesday. The newspaper said a long-playing (33 1/3 RPM) disc would cost $1.85 over-the-counter or $2 by mail; and a set of four standard (78 RPM) records will be $2.75 over-the-counter or $3 by mail.

Columbia records announced last night in New York that it will issue complete speech recordings beginning Tuesday.

RCA also said it would issue recordings of the address.

Radio station WOR (Mutual) announced that it would market recordings of the MacArthur speech in the New York city metropolitan area. WOR said distribution would begin Monday, but gave no price.

Long-playing records will carry the entire speech, WOR said, while 12-inch standard records will have excerpts only.

Sees Husband Briefly

Athens, April 20 (AP)—Tassoula Kephaloyannis, Crete's mountain Juliet, had a miscarriage several weeks ago brought on by extreme worry over imprisonment of her husband, friends of the family said today. Tassaula saw Costa yesterday for one hour in Piraeus, the port of of Athens. He was sentenced to two years in prison last February in connection with the abduction of Tassoula the previous August.

Parley Is . . .

Chiefs of Staff had shared his military views.

When he fired MacArthur from his Far East commands, President Truman said his policies in Korea might touch off World War 3.

The Defense Department countered MacArthur's speech with a statement in which it said the joint chiefs had recommended his dismissal.

Not Point, He Says

Hickenlooper told a reporter today that whether the chiefs concurred in ousting the five-star general was "not the point." He added:

"The big issue is: Did they approve of MacArthur's program, as he said they did."

Hickenlooper and Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted the general would back up his statement with documents. And in Tokyo, a key military official said MacArthur certainly could do so.

Long said in an interview that even if there was military approval of MacArthur's views, foreign policy questions might be overriding.

"Militarily it's always good strategy to bomb the enemy's supply lines and even his cities," he added. It might be good strategy to send our navy to bombard Shanghai. But politically it probably would not be the thing to do."

In New York, Senator Byrd (D-Va.) told 500 persons at a dinner in his honor that MacArthur's dismissal was a "tragedy of errors" that is leading to a greater disunity within this country.

Speaking of the split over Far Eastern policy on top of a division in the country over domestic policies, Byrd asked:

"How can we fight communism if we are fighting among ourselves?"

Had to Remove Sign

Inglewood, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Anger was unbounded. Bristling over the firing of General MacArthur, sign painter Jack Anger hauled out his brushes and went to work. He made a sign five feet high and 14 feet long and erected it on his property. In garish letters, it urged impeachment of President Truman, ouster of Secretary of State Acheson, and withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations. But yesterday Anger was curbed. A city building inspector ordered the sign removed because there was no permit for such a display. The sign came down. Anger still boiled, however.

Many Saw MacArthur

New York, April 21 (AP)—A C. E. Hooper Survey shows that Gen. MacArthur's parade through New York city yesterday was viewed on television screens in 43.6 per cent of New York homes equipped with sets. The survey was made between noon and 1 p. m. The Hooper rating system gave MacArthur 48.7 per cent for his speech before Congress Thursday. Previous high rating was 34.3 per cent achieved last month during the New York hearings of the U. S. Senate Crime Committee.

Staff Officer Says MacArthur Can Document Speech

Tokyo, April 20 (AP) — A key staff officer said today General MacArthur could document fully his speech to Congress.

Asked if MacArthur could provide proof of his remarks, the officer replied:

"Of course, that will be the easiest part of it." he added:

"The big battle will come when he appears before the Senate Armed Services Committee to bring out the details."

The disputed point of whether the Joint Chiefs of Staff had expressed approval of MacArthur's views remained obscure. It was generally felt, however, that MacArthur would not have said so if he were unprepared to back up his statement.

Key officers pointed out that many of the meetings between the visiting joint chiefs and MacArthur were held privately. At his headquarters only the general himself knew what had been said.

Changes From Truman To MacArthur Date

Los Angeles, April 21 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice H. C. Wood doesn't like her birthday. It is the same as President Truman's. She has served notice she will celebrate hereafter on General MacArthur's birthday instead.

Mrs. Wood said in a personal notice she offered the Los Angeles Times last night that she has celebrated many years on May 8 but hereafter will observe Jan. 26 "along with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, with whom I am willing to fade away."

To a suggestion that perhaps her hour of birth might have been different from the President's, Mrs. Wood replied:

"I was born very early in the morning * * * it was too early for me to be awake, or I'd have done something about it."

Incidentally, Mrs. Wood and her husband, Vernon D. Wood, a financial counsellor, are both Republicans.

Funeral services for C. Belle Riseley, who died in New York on April 16, were held at the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Thursday at 2 p. m. by the Rev. Burton Tarr. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mary A. Daley

The funeral of Miss Mary A. Daley of Rosendale was held Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale and at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, at 10 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Thomas Gaffney. Eleanor Murphy and Edward Cherny were the soloists assisted at the organ by James Sweeney. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards all attesting to the high esteem in which she was held. Thursday evening Father Gaffney called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary and prayers for the dead. Burial took place in St. Peter's Cemetery where Father Gaffney gave the final absolution. Bearers were Henry Myers, Cuyler VanVechten, John Daley and William Mills.

Orange County Vet Asks Impeachment Of U. S. President

Central Valley, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—A tree expert in this Orange county rural town says he is mailing out copies of a petition asking Congress to impeach President Truman over the MacArthur dismissal.

William C. Hall, 38-year-old veteran of World War 2 as a tank ordnance sergeant, said last night he has mailed about 600 copies of the petition to various persons in all 48 states.

Hall said the idea of the petition came to him as soon as he heard news of the dismissal on April 11. He said he immediately drew it up and had 1,000 copies printed.

First, he said, he sent copies to friends, then used local directories.

Hall said he also has sent telegrams urging the President's impeachment to New York's senators and to his congresswoman, Rep. Katharine St. George, Tuxedo Park Republican.

Petition copies, he said, are to be mailed to congressmen.

Hall said he left the Republican party in 1949 because he disagreed with Senators Wayne Morse of Oregon and George D. Aiken of Vermont.

Florida Youth Is Held as Burglar

A 22-year-old laborer was taken off a bus at Monroe Friday evening as he was on his way home to Florida after ransacking his employer's Mt. Tremper home, according to a burglary charge filed against him by the Ulster county sheriff's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cleland of Mt. Tremper told the sheriff's office Friday night that Paul Bush, a worker whom they had brought here from Florida, disappeared after they found their home ransacked, with money, topcoat, a watch and several articles of costume jewelry missing.

They traced him to the Trailways Terminal in Kingston, they said, where they learned he bought a ticket for Washington, D. C. Night Jailer Wesley O'Brien was notified, and he immediately informed Monroe police as well as local police. Monroe police in turn notified state police at the Monroe substation, who intercepted the bus at 6:43 p. m. and took Bush into custody. Sheriff's office men today were sent to bring Bush back to this county to face a third degree burglary charge.

The contest was held under the sponsorship of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Other top winners included Michael Dugan, second prize; and Louis Nosenzo, third.

Twelve students, chosen as the result of the preliminary test held last month, took part in the quiz. Other contestants were Harold Hutton, Ernest Myer, Ruth Paley, Marion Misove, Wayne Burton, Anthony Gardecki, Marguerite Schaeffer and Neil Poley.

Judges for the contest were Principal John Henry Martin, Sherwood Davis and Hubert Richter. Judge Raymond Mino acted as quiz master.

Flood Victims Meeting Tonight

The third meeting of persons who suffered loss in the flood of the Esopus creek on March 31 will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Town of Ulster highway department garage.

John M. Walker, chairman of the group, reported today that Herman Gottfried, Margaretville attorney and former counsel for the New York City Board of Water Supply, will be present to discuss possibilities of a lawsuit against New York city in an attempt to recover damages suffered in the flood.

Elliott's Bride Sued By Attorney for $80,000

Los Angeles, April 21 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt's bride, heiress Minnewa Bell Ross, was sued yesterday by her attorney for $80,000.

John W. Walting, Jr. alleged in Superior Court that Mrs. Roosevelt's legal bill from Dec. 17, 1949, to Dec. 30, 1950, was $101,500, of which he has been paid $21,500. He did not specify the nature of the legal work he did.

She and Roosevelt were wed, each for the fourth time, in Miami Beach March 15. She and Dr. Rex L. Ross, Santa Monica physician, were divorced three days earlier at Key West. Much of last year, she and the doctor were involved in divorce and custody suits in California courts. The latter revolve about their son, Rex III, eight years old.

Mrs. Crater Dies at 85

Hershey, Pa., April 21 (AP)—The mother of the long missing Judge Crater is dead at 85. Mrs. Lelia Montague Crater, died Thursday night. Funeral services will be tomorrow at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Henry. Judge Joseph F. Crater disappeared in August, 1930, while serving on the New York State Supreme Court bench. His mother, a native of Easton, Pa., never gave up hope that her son was alive.

Fight Suppression Of News, Editors Told by Society

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors was advised today to fight what one of its committees described as an increasing tendency toward "arrogant suppression of news" by government officials.

The committee on freedom of information, in a report prepared for today's convention session told some 400 editors:

"We are beginning to suspect that the biggest uncovered story of our time is the insidious seizure of news prerogatives by public officials."

The committee, headed by James S. Pope of the Louisville Courier-Journal, recommended that editors wage the fight not only through news and editorial columns but through the courts when necessary.

"More often, publicity itself is the simplest and most devastating ammunition action against secrecy," Pope said.

The report contained a long sampling of cases of news interference on the part of officials ranging from city clerks to the heads of federal agencies.

Air Force to Investigate

"When we protested to the secretary of the air force he promptly expressed his regret and his. full sympathy with our concept of civil and news rights," the report said. "The air force will investigate each incident and undertake to prevent their repetition."

The committee found serious fault with the "advisory censorship" for businessmen recently set up by the Commerce Department. This policy encourages industry to withhold data which concerned "advanced industrial developments, production know-how and technology, strategic equipment, special installations." In recommending this for the duration of the present mobiization program, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said such information might be of value to potential enemies.

Pope said one business group was advised by the Commerce Department's experts to omit from its reporting of government contracts "any information in connection with the national defense effort." The editor added:

Beginning of Plan

"Here is the beginning of a vast, hardly discerned network of potential news suppression at the source by government agencies who seem to be only vaguely instructed on intricate factors that really involve military security."

"How much of this is going on we do not know. We've only begun to look. We suggest that all of you take a hard look, through your Washington bureaus and your press services."

Russian Minds Are Poisoned Against American Nation

Frederick, Md., April 21 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall said today he believed Russian people are friendly but their minds have been "poisoned" against the U. S.

"I think for many years they had a decided leaning toward this country, but now are steadily being turned against us," Marshall said in an address prepared for delivery at a convocation of Hood College. His prepared text made no reference to the controversy over the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"When one pauses to consider the problem we have in dealing with Russia where their people hear the truth regarding us and our friendly nations, it is not difficult to comprehend how nearly impossible it is to reach a general understanding with them," Marshall said.

'Watchdog' Group Is To Check Spending

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A powerful new seven-man "watchdog" sub-committee has been set up to keep an eye on the way the armed forces spend their billions.

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee announced the move and said the group will have authority to investigate all phases of procurement by the army, navy, air force and marines.

This subcommittee, headed by Rep. Hebert (D.-La.), is comparable to the Truman Senate Committee of World War Two days. President Truman, then a senator, headed that committee. It made headlines checking into military buying.

The new House subcommittee has subpoena powers and the authority to put witnesses under oath. An investigation staff headed by John J. Courtney, attorney formerly with the Department of Justice, will aid in its work.

Detroit Transit Strike

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—Detroit's transit workers went on strike today, threatening a citywide tie-up of all municipal transportation. The AFL's street car and bus operators union climaxed a wage dispute with the city in a surprise walkout starting at 4 a. m. (EST). Originally, the union demanded a 25 cents an hour pay raise. Later it reduced this to a "rock-bottom" 7½ cents. The city offered five cents. Base pay for the drivers is $1.67½ hourly. A number of fringe increases serve to bring up the general average of pay.

Sheep, like cattle, have four stomachs, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Reds Driven . . .

Parallel to await reinforcements. The report was without confirmation.

The 39th Parallel is 70 miles inside Red Korea.

A gradual Red withdrawal has been in progress all along the front. But Allied sources estimate the 600,000 Communist troops are north of the Chorwon-Kumhwa line. A Red counter-offensive has been considered probable.

The Reds made several counterattacks Friday south and southeast of Chorwon. Five hundred made one of these assaults. The attack lost 75 killed and 150 to 175 wounded.

In central Korea, near the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, an allied tank-infantry element clashed for four hours with 300 Reds. The Reds finally withdrew.

An allied force advanced Saturday toward the west branch of the Pukhan river against no opposition.

Plan to Cut Prices

drops at the retail level, DiSalle said.

The plan reportedly would:

1. Allow manufacturers to strike an average of their dollar profits in their three best years during the four years, 1946-1949.

2. Forbid price increases which would boost manufacturers' profits more than 85 per cent of that average.

3. Allow prices which have broken through the 85 per cent formula to stand, but

4. Require manufacturers to absorb increase costs without raising prices until their profits run not more than 85 per cent of the average of the three best years from 1946 through 1949.

Would Affect Many

DiSalle said the order would affect between 100,000 and 150,000 manufactutrers.

Johnston wants to follow up, according to previous reports from government officials, with two more big orders completing a stabilization triangle:

1. Labor—Set June 30, 1951 as the final date on which wage increases would be allowed under cost-of-living or other "escalator" (automatic increase) clauses in union contracts.

2. Agriculture—"Freeze" farm parity at the levels of last Jan. 15, thereby making it possible to build a farm ceiling over food prices.

Parity is a formula to give the farmer a fair return on his products in relation to the prices of things he buys. Parity prices swing up or down as the level of non-farm prices teeter. Therefore, food prices can continue to rise so long as other prices rise. Labor objects to limitations on wage increases — the present formula is 10 per cent above wages of Jan. 15, 1950 — while food prices are allowed to crawl up.

New Act Expected

President Truman may send a defense production act proposal to Congress next week, to take the place of the present act, expiring June 30. The farm bloc will probably fight without quarter against any attempt to tamper with parity.

However, Johnston was reported as feeling that the only fair and lasting price stabilization approach was to bracket all three main economic forces—Industry, labor and agriculture—else one or more would forever be running to catch up with advances in another field.

Maid Admits She Stole Guests' Jewels

New York, April 21 (AP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid, detectives say, has admitted stealing $350,000 to $400,000 worth of jewels from guests in 35 of New York's swankiest hotels.

The woman, Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, 44, of Brooklyn, was charged yesterday with grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail. Police said she rifled guest rooms over a 30-month period.

Her alleged thefts, police said, occurred in such luxury hostelries as the Waldorf-Astoria, Essex House, Biltmore, Commodore, St. Regis, Vanderbilt, Pierre, and Sherry-Netherland.

Detectives said $30,000 worth of gems and 233 pawn tickets were found in her apartment.

One of the pawned items, police said, was an insured $60,000 diamond and platinum ring reported missing last June by Mrs. Esther duPont Weir, of Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. Weir was staying at the Pierre while Mrs. Abbotofsky was employed there, police said.

Police said Mrs. Arbotofsky changed employment frequently, never informing new employers that she had worked in hotels before. She also asked pawn-brokers not to pay her too much, apparently afraid to carry large sums, police said.

Queuille Asks Confidence Vote

Paris, April 21 (AP)—French Premier Henri Queuille today asked for another vote of confidence in his coalition cabinet in a move to try to speed general elections.

Queuille wants the National Assembly to stick to a small agenda of budget and financial bills, get these passed in a hurry, and elections held June 10.

Each time the Assembly attempts to enlarge the agenda, threatening to delay Parliament's work and put elections off till next October, Queuille turns the attempt down and asks for a confidence vote on his move.

He did this three days ago on a technical issue, and did it again today when the Assembly tried to get on the agenda discussion of a bill for setting up a labor code for overseas territories.

The vote on this issue and the previous one will be held Wednesday.

Leg Broken When Struck by Auto

Donald Talmadge, 17, of Saugerties, was treated at Kingston Hospital late Friday night for a compound fracture of the left leg which state police said he received when he was struck by an automobile on Route 9W two miles south of Saugerties.

Troopers of the Lake Katrine substation reported Talmadge was struck about 11:15 p. m. Friday by an automobile driven by James Hackett, 19, also of Saugerties.

Talmadge was walking on the paved portion of the northbound lane when the accident occurred, troopers reported. Walking with him were Earl Minkler, 20, and Carroll Kimble, 14, both of Saugerties and both of whom were not injured, according to the state police report. Talmadge was taken to Kingston Hospital by Leyton's ambulance. No arrest was made.

Chicago on . . .

across the city in the brightest of springtime April suns.

It was the greatest of all the ticker-tape parades that for generations have been a trademark of New York's hero welcomes. The police estimate of the crowd made it nearly twice as large as the 4,000,000 spectators who turned out for Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927 and again for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1945.

"This is the greatest city in the world," said MacArthur in frank amazement at the spectacle of thousands before City Hall.

Then, letting his mind drift back through the years, he went on:

"The tremendous reception you have given me recalls a somewhat similar homecoming in which I participated as a cadet from West Point long, long ago.

"It was Admiral Dewey's return from the war in the Pacific. The years have passed, indeed, since then but the hospitality of New York seems only to have grown with time."

Admiral George Dewey, hero of the Spanish-American War, was given a hero's welcome in New York in 1899—a noisy greeting that set a pattern down through the years and culminated in the greatest pageant of all for MacArthur.

Attended Luncheon

After the parade through New York streets, the general was guest at an official luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria.

Visibly tired after the day-long activities, he said New York's welcome has done what an enemy in 10 years of war failed to—made him surrender.

He said Mrs. MacArthur told him not to make "another speech."

"Although many of you doubt it, I do most meticulously obey my commander-in-chief," he said, looking at Mrs. MacArthur. He added:

"You have etched on our hearts a memory we shall never forget. * * * you have forced us to capitulate. At long last we do surrender."

Then the general left the banquet hall as a military band played "Old Soldiers Never Die"—the military ballad MacArtur quoted before Congress Thursday.

The luncheon, which ended almost at dusk, marked the culmination of the general's official functions. Today he relaxed in his hotel suite while his wife and son were to go to the Polo Grounds to see the Brooklyn Dodgers play the New York Giants this afternoon.

His son, Arthur, didn't attend the official luncheon. He chose to watch it on television from the family's suite.

Paper Says General

so was a way to convince the people of Asia that we had no imperialistic designs there.

Predicted War's End

MacArthur predicted that organized resistence would end in the whole Korean peninsula by last Thanksgiving Day and said he hoped to withdraw the Eighth Army to Japan by Christmas. This view was widely reported at the time by news sources.

The Times goes on to say:

"After the crisis of what he (MacArthur) called an 'entirely new war' on Nov. 29 as a result of the (Chinese Red) intervention, the United Nations commander pressed for a more aggressive policy in the Far East and became increasingly outspoken against the President. The harmony turned into disillusionment in the White House and the Pentagon."

As for Mr. Truman's plan for a Pacific pact—he projected the actual pact this week—like the North Atlantic Pact, the Times said MacArthur thought it would be a great arrangement for the Pacific but he forsaw difficulties because the countries were so widely scatered and lacked strong forces.

More effective than the pact, the newspaper quotes the general as saying, he contended, now that victory in Korea was in sight, would be a declaration immediately after the Wake conference of a Truman doctrine for the Pacific.

Upon being questioned about it, the Times said, MacArthur added such a doctrine would be invoked in instances of direct aggression and not to guerrilla outbreaks like those in Greece and Indo-China.

The Times said the President and MacArthur amicably discussed the Japanese peace treaty, Korean rehabilitation, and the question of French army effectiveness against the Communist Viet-Minh forces in Indo-China.

Lang Shoots Self

New York, April 20 (AP)—John C. Lang, treasurer of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association which had been under grand jury scrutiny, shot himself to death in a Bronx playground. Police said Lang, 47, who had been on the force for 25 years, shot himself through the temple with his own service revolver.

Tin Pan Alley Plays With 'Old Soldiers'

New York, April 21 (AP) — Tin Pan Alley juggled its sharps and flats today to the tune of "Old Soldiers Never Die," the ballad quoted by General MacArthur.

Composers said they were working hard on ditties based on the theme MacArthur quoted in a speech before Congress Thursday. The general said the ballad harked back to his days at West Point.

Gene Autry, Columbia Records said, was to record the original tune at his California home last night.

Bing Crosby also plans to croon the ballad. Crosby said in Hollywood he thinks he has found the song referred to by MacArthur in a collection titled "Lane London Daily Express Community Song Book." He says he'll sing it on his next Wednesday radio show.

Meanwhile, a West Point spokesman said yesterday it was believed Gen. Charles P. Summerall (Ret.) introduced the song at the U. S. military academy. But Summerall denied this, saying the ballad "came after my day."

Other sources said the ballad was written in 1855 by Abbey Hutchinson, a trooper, and was popular among Allied troops during World War 1.

Today, it looked like a good prospect for the popular hit song parades.

Will Sell Recordings Of General's Speech

New York, April 21 (AP)—General MacArthur's address to Congress is to be available to the public.

In Chicago, the Chicago Tribune said last night it will sell recordings of the speech at cost starting Wednesday. The newspaper said a long-playing (33 1/3 RPM) disc would cost $1.85 over-the-counter or $2 by mail; and a set of four standard (78 RPM) records will be $2.75 over-the-counter or $3 by mail.

Columbia records announced last night in New York that it will issue complete speech recordings beginning Tuesday.

RCA also said it would issue recordings of the address.

Radio station WOR (Mutual) announced that it would market recordings of the MacArthur speech in the New York city metropolitan area. WOR said distribution would begin Monday, but gave no price.

Long-playing records will carry the entire speech, WOR said, while 12-inch standard records will have excerpts only.

Sees Husband Briefly

Athens, April 20 (AP)—Tassoula Kephaloyannis, Crete's mountain Juliet, had a miscarriage several weeks ago brought on by extreme worry over imprisonment of her husband, friends of the family said today. Tassaula saw Costa yesterday for one hour in Piraeus, the port of of Athens. He was sentenced to two years in prison last February in connection with the abduction of Tassoula the previous August.

Parley Is . . .

Chiefs of Staff had shared his military views.

When he fired MacArthur from his Far East commands, President Truman said his policies in Korea might touch off World War 3.

The Defense Department countered MacArthur's speech with a statement in which it said the joint chiefs had recommended his dismissal.

Not Point, He Says

Hickenlooper told a reporter today that whether the chiefs concurred in ousting the five-star general was "not the point." He added:

"The big issue is: Did they approve of MacArthur's program, as he said they did."

Hickenlooper and Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted the general would back up his statement with documents. And in Tokyo, a key military official said MacArthur certainly could do so.

Long said in an interview that even if there was military approval of MacArthur's views, foreign policy questions might be overriding.

"Militarily it's always good strategy to bomb the enemy's supply lines and even his cities," he added. It might be good strategy to send our navy to bombard Shanghai. But politically it probably would not be the thing to do."

In New York, Senator Byrd (D-Va.) told 500 persons at a dinner in his honor that MacArthur's dismissal was a "tragedy of errors" that is leading to a greater disunity within this country.

Speaking of the split over Far Eastern policy on top of a division in the country over domestic policies, Byrd asked:

"How can we fight communism if we are fighting among ourselves?"

Had to Remove Sign

Inglewood, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Anger was unbounded. Bristling over the firing of General MacArthur, sign painter Jack Anger hauled out his brushes and went to work. He made a sign five feet high and 14 feet long and erected it on his property. In garish letters, it urged impeachment of President Truman, ouster of Secretary of State Acheson, and withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations. But yesterday Anger was curbed. A city building inspector ordered the sign removed because there was no permit for such a display. The sign came down. Anger still boiled, however.

Many Saw MacArthur

New York, April 21 (AP)—A C. E. Hooper Survey shows that Gen. MacArthur's parade through New York city yesterday was viewed on television screens in 43.6 per cent of New York homes equipped with sets. The survey was made between noon and 1 p. m. The Hooper rating system gave MacArthur 48.7 per cent for his speech before Congress Thursday. Previous high rating was 34.3 per cent achieved last month during the New York hearings of the U. S. Senate Crime Committee.

Staff Officer Says MacArthur Can Document Speech

Tokyo, April 20 (AP) — A key staff officer said today General MacArthur could document fully his speech to Congress.

Asked if MacArthur could provide proof of his remarks, the officer replied:

"Of course, that will be the easiest part of it." he added:

"The big battle will come when he appears before the Senate Armed Services Committee to bring out the details."

The disputed point of whether the Joint Chiefs of Staff had expressed approval of MacArthur's views remained obscure. It was generally felt, however, that MacArthur would not have said so if he were unprepared to back up his statement.

Key officers pointed out that many of the meetings between the visiting joint chiefs and MacArthur were held privately. At his headquarters only the general himself knew what had been said.

Changes From Truman To MacArthur Date

Los Angeles, April 21 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice H. C. Wood doesn't like her birthday. It is the same as President Truman's. She has served notice she will celebrate hereafter on General MacArthur's birthday instead.

Mrs. Wood said in a personal notice she offered the Los Angeles Times last night that she has celebrated many years on May 8 but hereafter will observe Jan. 26 "along with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, with whom I am willing to fade away."

To a suggestion that perhaps her hour of birth might have been different from the President's, Mrs. Wood replied:

"I was born very early in the morning * * * it was too early for me to be awake, or I'd have done something about it."

Incidentally, Mrs. Wood and her husband, Vernon D. Wood, a financial counsellor, are both Republicans.

Thompson Still Serious

John Thompson of Woodstock, who was brutally beaten about the head with a hatchet and robbed of an estimated $200 last week-end, remains in serious condition at Kingston Hospital, authorities there reported today. Orange County Vet Asks Impeachment Of U. S. President

Central Valley, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—A tree expert in this Orange county rural town says he is mailing out copies of a petition asking Congress to impeach President Truman over the MacArthur dismissal.

William C. Hall, 38-year-old veteran of World War 2 as a tank ordnance sergeant, said last night he has mailed about 600 copies of the petition to various persons in all 48 states.

Hall said the idea of the petition came to him as soon as he heard news of the dismissal on April 11. He said he immediately drew it up and had 1,000 copies printed.

First, he said, he sent copies to friends, then used local directories.

Hall said he also has sent telegrams urging the President's impeachment to New York's senators and to his congresswoman, Rep. Katharine St. George, Tuxedo Park Republican.

Petition copies, he said, are to be mailed to congressmen.

Hall said he left the Republican party in 1949 because he disagreed with Senators Wayne Morse of Oregon and George D. Aiken of Vermont.

He added that he "disagreed with Truman's foreign policy all along."

Florida Youth Is Held as Burglar

A 22-year-old laborer was taken off a bus at Monroe Friday evening as he was on his way home to Florida after ransacking his employer's Mt. Tremper home, according to a burglary charge filed against him by the Ulster county sheriff's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cleland of Mt. Tremper told the sheriff's office Friday night that Paul Bush, a worker whom they had brought here from Florida, disappeared after they found their home ransacked, with money, topcoat, a watch and several articles of costume jewelry missing.

They traced him to the Trailways Terminal in Kingston, they said, where they learned he bought a ticket for Washington, D. C. Night Jailer Wesley O'Brien was notified, and he immediately informed Monroe police as well as local police. Monroe police in turn notified state police at the Monroe substation, who intercepted the bus at 6:43 p. m. and took Bush into custody. Sheriff's office men today were sent to bring Bush back to this county to face a third degree burglary charge.

Priscilla Tandy Wins VFW History Contest

Priscilla Tandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tandy of Shokan, won a $25 war bond as first prize winner in the second annual history quiz held Thursday night at the high school.

The contest was held under the sponsorship of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Other top winners included Michael Dugan, second prize; and Louis Nosenzo, third.

Twelve students, chosen as the result of the preliminary test held last month, took part in the quiz. Other contestants were Harold Hutton, Ernest Myer, Ruth Paley, Marion Misove, Wayne Burton, Anthony Gardecki, Marguerite Schaeffer and Neil Poley.

Judges for the contest were Principal John Henry Martin, Sherwood Davis and Hubert Richter. Judge Raymond Mino acted as quiz master.

Flood Victims Meeting Tonight

The third meeting of persons who suffered loss in the flood of the Esopus creek on March 31 will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Town of Ulster highway department garage.

John M. Walker, chairman of the group, reported today that Herman Gottfried, Margaretville attorney and former counsel for the New York City Board of Water Supply, will be present to discuss possibilities of a lawsuit against New York city in an attempt to recover damages suffered in the flood.

Elliott's Bride Sued By Attorney for $80,000

Los Angeles, April 21 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt's bride, heiress Minnewa Bell Ross, was sued yesterday by her attorney for $80,000.

John W. Walting, Jr. alleged in Superior Court that Mrs. Roosevelt's legal bill from Dec. 17, 1949, to Dec. 30, 1950, was $101,500, of which he has been paid $21,500. He did not specify the nature of the legal work he did.

She and Roosevelt were wed, each for the fourth time, in Miami Beach March 15. She and Dr. Rex L. Ross, Santa Monica physician, were divorced three days earlier at Key West. Much of last year, she and the doctor were involved in divorce and custody suits in California courts. The latter revolve about their son, Rex III, eight years old.

Mrs. Crater Dies at 85

Hershey, Pa., April 21 (AP)—The mother of the long missing Judge Crater is dead at 85. Mrs. Lelia Montague Crater, died Thursday night. Funeral services will be tomorrow at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Henry. Judge Joseph F. Crater disappeared in August, 1930, while serving on the New York State Supreme Court bench. His mother, a native of Easton, Pa., never gave up hope that her son was alive.

Fight Suppression Of News, Editors Told by Society

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors was advised today to fight what one of its committees described as an increasing tendency toward "arrogant suppression of news" by government officials.

The committee on freedom of information, in a report prepared for today's convention session told some 400 editors:

"We are beginning to suspect that the biggest uncovered story of our time is the insidious seizure of news prerogatives by public officials."

The committee, headed by James S. Pope of the Louisville Courier-Journal, recommended that editors wage the fight not only through news and editorial columns but through the courts when necessary.

"More often, publicity itself is the simplest and most devastating ammunition action against secrecy," Pope said.

The report contained a long sampling of cases of news interference on the part of officials ranging from city clerks to the heads of federal agencies.

Air Force to Investigate

"When we protested to the secretary of the air force he promptly expressed his regret and his full sympathy with our concept of civil and news rights," the report said. "The air force will investigate each incident and undertake to prevent their repetition."

The committee found serious fault with the "advisory censorship" for businessmen recently set up by the Commerce Department. This policy encourages industry to withhold data which concerned "advanced industrial developments, production know-how and technology, strategic equipment, special installations." In recommending this for the duration of the present mobilization program, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said such information might be of value to potential enemies.

Pope said one business group was advised by the Commerce Department's experts to omit from its reporting of government contracts "any information in connection with the national defense effort." The editor added:

Beginning of Plan

"Here is the beginning of a vast, hardly discerned network of potential news suppression at the source by government agencies who seem to be only vaguely instructed on intricate factors that really involve military security."

"How much of this is going on we do not know. We've only begun to look. We suggest that all of you take a hard look, through your Washington bureaus and your press services."

Russian Minds Are Poisoned Against American Nation

Frederick, Md., April 21 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall said today he believed Russian people are friendly but their minds have been "poisoned" against the U. S.

"I think for many years they had a decided leaning toward this country, but now are steadily being turned against us," Marshall said in an address prepared for delivery at a convocation of Hood College. His prepared text made no reference to the controversy over the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"When one pauses to consider the problem we have in dealing with Russia where their people hear the truth regarding us and our friendly nations, it is not difficult to comprehend how nearly impossible it is to reach a general understanding with them," Marshall said.

'Watchdog' Group Is To Check Spending

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A powerful new seven-man "watchdog" sub-committee has been set up to keep an eye on the way the armed forces spend their billions.

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee announced the move and said the group will have authority to investigate all phases of procurement by the army, navy, air force and marines.

This subcommittee, headed by Rep. Hebert (D.-La.), is comparable to the Truman Senate Committee of World War Two days. President Truman, then a senator, headed that committee. It made headlines checking into military buying.

The new House subcommittee has subpoena powers and the authority to put witnesses under oath. An investigation staff headed by John J. Courtney, attorney formerly with the Department of Justice, will aid in its work.

Detroit Transit Strike

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—Detroit's transit workers went on strike today, threatening a citywide tie-up of all municipal transportation. The AFL's street car and bus operators union climaxed a wage dispute with the city in a surprise walkout starting at 4 a. m. (EST). Originally, the union demanded a 25 cents an hour pay raise. Later it reduced this to a "rock-bottom" 7½ cents. The city offered five cents. Base pay for the drivers is $1.67½ hourly. A number of fringe increases serve to bring up the general average of pay.

Sheep, like cattle, have four stomachs, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Reds Driven . . .

Parallel to await reinforcements. The report was without confirmation.

The 39th Parallel is 70 miles inside Red Korea.

A gradual Red withdrawal has been in progress all along the front. But Allied sources estimate the 600,000 Communist troops are north of the Chorwon-Kumhwa line. A Red counter-offensive has been considered probable.

The Reds made several counter-attacks Friday south and southeast of Chorwon. Five hundred made one of these assaults. The attack lost 75 killed and 150 to 175 wounded.

In central Korea, near the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, an allied tank-infantry element clashed for four hours with 300 Reds. The Reds finally withdrew.

An allied force advanced Saturday toward the west branch of the Pukhan river against no opposition.

Plan to Cut Prices

drops at the retail level, DiSalle said.

The plan reportedly would:

1. Allow manufacturers to strike an average of their dollar profits in their three best years during the four years, 1946-1949.

2. Forbid price increases which would boost manufacturers' profits more than 85 per cent of that average.

3. Allow prices which have broken through the 85 per cent formula to stand, but

4. Require manufacturers to absorb increase costs without raising prices until their profits run not more than 85 per cent of the average of the three best years from 1946 through 1949.

Would Affect Many

DiSalle said the order would affect between 100,000 and 150,000 manufactutrers.

Johnston wants to follow up, according to previous reports from government officials, with two more big orders completing a stabilization triangle:

1. Labor—Set June 30, 1951 as the final date on which wage increases would be allowed under cost-of-living or other "escalator" (automatic increase) clauses in union contracts.

2. Agriculture—"Freeze" farm parity at the levels of last Jan. 15, thereby making it possible to build a farm ceiling over food prices.

Parity is a formula to give the farmer a fair return on his products in relation to the prices of things he buys. Parity prices swing up or down as the level of non-farm prices teeter. Therefore, food prices can continue to rise so long as other prices rise. Labor objects to limitations on wage increases — the present formula is 10 per cent above wages of Jan. 15, 1950 — while food prices are allowed to crawl up.

New Act Expected

President Truman may send a defense production act proposal to Congress next week, to take the place of the present act, expiring June 30. The farm bloc will probably fight without quarter against any attempt to tamper with parity.

However, Johnston was reported as feeling that the only fair and lasting price stabilization approach was to bracket all three main economic forces—Industry, labor and agriculture—else one or more would forever be running to catch up with advances in another field.

Maid Admits She Stole Guests' Jewels

New York, April 21 (AP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid, detectives say, has admitted stealing $350,000 to $400,000 worth of jewels from guests in 35 of New York's swankiest hotels.

The woman, Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, 44, of Brooklyn, was charged yesterday with grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail. Police said she rifled guest rooms over a 30-month period.

Her alleged thefts, police said, occurred in such luxury hostelries as the Waldorf-Astoria, Essex House, Biltmore, Commodore, St. Regis, Vanderbilt, Pierre, and Sherry-Netherland.

Detectives said $30,000 worth of gems and 233 pawn tickets were found in her apartment.

One of the pawned items, police said, was an insured $60,000 diamond and platinum ring reported missing last June by Mrs. Esther duPont Weir, of Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. Weir was staying at the Pierre while Mrs. Abbotofsky was employed there, police said.

Police said Mrs. Arbotofsky changed employment frequently, never informing new employers that she had worked in hotels before. She also asked pawn-brokers not to pay her too much, apparently afraid to carry large sums, police said.

Queuille Asks Confidence Vote

Paris, April 21 (AP)—French Premier Henri Queuille today asked for another vote of confidence in his coalition cabinet in a move to try to speed general elections.

Queuille wants the National Assembly to stick to a small agenda of budget and financial bills, get these passed in a hurry, and elections held June 10.

Each time the Assembly attempts to enlarge the agenda, threatening to delay Parliament's work and put elections off till next October, Queuille turns the attempt down and asks for a confidence vote on his move.

He did this three days ago on a technical issue, and did it again today when the Assembly tried to get on the agenda discussion of a bill for setting up a labor code for overseas territories.

The vote on this issue and the previous one will be held Wednesday.

Leg Broken When Struck by Auto

Donald Talmadge, 17, of Saugerties, was treated at Kingston Hospital late Friday night for a compound fracture of the left leg which state police said he received when he was struck by an automobile on Route 9W two miles south of Saugerties.

Troopers of the Lake Katrine substation reported Talmadge was struck about 11:15 p. m. Friday by an automobile driven by James Hackett, 19, also of Saugerties.

Talmadge was walking on the paved portion of the northbound lane when the accident occurred, troopers reported. Walking with him were Earl Minkler, 20, and Carroll Kimble, 14, both of Saugerties and both of whom were not injured, according to the state police report. Talmadge was taken to Kingston Hospital by Leyton's ambulance. No arrest was made.

Chicago on . . .

across the city in the brightest of springtime April suns.

It was the greatest of all the ticker-tape parades that for generations have been a trademark of New York's hero welcomes. The police estimate of the crowd made it nearly twice as large as the 4,000,000 spectators who turned out for Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927 and again for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1945.

"This is the greatest city in the world," said MacArthur in frank amazement at the spectacle of thousands before City Hall.

Then, letting his mind drift back through the years, he went on:

"The tremendous reception you have given me recalls a somewhat similar homecoming in which I participated as a cadet from West Point long, long ago.

"It was Admiral Dewey's return from the war in the Pacific. The years have passed, indeed, since then but the hospitality of New York seems only to have grown with time."

Admiral George Dewey, hero of the Spanish-American War, was given a hero's welcome in New York in 1899—a noisy greeting that set a pattern down through the years and culminated in the greatest pageant of all for MacArthur.

Attended Luncheon

After the parade through New York streets, the general was guest at an official luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria.

Visibly tired after the day-long activities, he said New York's welcome has done what an enemy in 10 years of war failed to—made him surrender.

He said Mrs. MacArthur told him not to make "another speech."

"Although many of you doubt it, I do most meticulously obey my commander-in-chief," he said, looking at Mrs. MacArthur. He added:

"You have etched on our hearts a memory we shall never forget. * * * you have forced us to capitulate. At long last we do surrender."

Then the general left the banquet hall as a military band played "Old Soldiers Never Die"—the military ballad MacArtur quoted before Congress Thursday.

The luncheon, which ended almost at dusk, marked the culmination of the general's official functions. Today he relaxed in his hotel suite while his wife and son were to go to the Polo Grounds to see the Brooklyn Dodgers play the New York Giants this afternoon.

His son, Arthur, didn't attend the official luncheon. He chose to watch it on television from the family's suite.

Paper Says General

so was a way to convince the people of Asia that we had no imperialistic designs there.

Predicted War's End

MacArthur predicted that organized resistence would end in the whole Korean peninsula by last Thanksgiving Day and said he hoped to withdraw the Eighth Army to Japan by Christmas. This view was widely reported at the time by news sources.

The Times goes on to say:

"After the crisis of what he (MacArthur) called an 'entirely new war' on Nov. 29 as a result of the (Chinese Red) intervention, the United Nations commander pressed for a more aggressive policy in the Far East and became increasingly outspoken against the President. The harmony turned into disillusionment in the White House and the Pentagon."

As for Mr. Truman's plan for a Pacific pact—he projected the actual pact this week—like the North Atlantic Pact, the Times said MacArthur thought it would be a great arrangement for the Pacific but he forsaw difficulties because the countries were so widely scatered and lacked strong forces.

More effective than the pact, the newspaper quotes the general as saying, he contended, now that victory in Korea was in sight, would be a declaration immediately after the Wake conference of a Truman doctrine for the Pacific.

Upon being questioned about it, the Times said, MacArthur added such a doctrine would be invoked in instances of direct aggression and not to guerrilla outbreaks like those in Greece and Indo-China.

The Times said the President and MacArthur amicably discussed the Japanese peace treaty, Korean rehabilitation, and the question of French army effectiveness against the Communist Viet-Minh forces in Indo-China.

Lang Shoots Self

New York, April 20 (AP)—John C. Lang, treasurer of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association which had been under grand jury scrutiny, shot himself to death in a Bronx playground. Police said Lang, 47, who had been on the force for 25 years, shot himself through the temple with his own service revolver.

Tin Pan Alley Plays With 'Old Soldiers'

New York, April 21 (AP) — Tin Pan Alley juggled its sharps and flats today to the tune of "Old Soldiers Never Die," the ballad quoted by General MacArthur.

Composers said they were working hard on ditties based on the theme MacArthur quoted in a speech before Congress Thursday. The general said the ballad harked back to his days at West Point.

Gene Autry, Columbia Records said, was to record the original tune at his California home last night.

Bing Crosby also plans to croon the ballad. Crosby said in Hollywood he thinks he has found the song referred to by MacArthur in a collection titled "Lane London Daily Express Community Song Book." He says he'll sing it on his next Wednesday radio show.

Meanwhile, a West Point spokesman said yesterday it was believed Gen. Charles P. Summerall (Ret.) introduced the song at the U. S. military academy. But Summerall denied this, saying the ballad "came after my day."

Other sources said the ballad was written in 1855 by Abbey Hutchinson, a trooper, and was popular among Allied troops during World War 1.

Today, it looked like a good prospect for the popular hit song parades.

Will Sell Recordings Of General's Speech

New York, April 21 (AP)—General MacArthur's address to Congress is to be available to the public.

In Chicago, the Chicago Tribune said last night it will sell recordings of the speech at cost starting Wednesday. The newspaper said a long-playing (33 1/3 RPM) disc would cost $1.85 over-the-counter or $2 by mail; and a set of four standard (78 RPM) records will be $2.75 over-the-counter or $3 by mail.

Columbia records announced last night in New York that it will issue complete speech recordings beginning Tuesday.

RCA also said it would issue recordings of the address.

Radio station WOR (Mutual) announced that it would market recordings of the MacArthur speech in the New York city metropolitan area. WOR said distribution would begin Monday, but gave no price.

Long-playing records will carry the entire speech, WOR said, while 12-inch standard records will have excerpts only.

Sees Husband Briefly

Athens, April 20 (AP)—Tassoula Kephaloyannis, Crete's mountain Juliet, had a miscarriage several weeks ago brought on by extreme worry over imprisonment of her husband, friends of the family said today. Tassaula saw Costa yesterday for one hour in Piraeus, the port of of Athens. He was sentenced to two years in prison last February in connection with the abduction of Tassoula the previous August.

Parley Is . . .

Chiefs of Staff had shared his military views.

When he fired MacArthur from his Far East commands, President Truman said his policies in Korea might touch off World War 3.

The Defense Department countered MacArthur's speech with a statement in which it said the joint chiefs had recommended his dismissal.

Not Point, He Says

Hickenlooper told a reporter today that whether the chiefs concurred in ousting the five-star general was "not the point." He added:

"The big issue is: Did they approve of MacArthur's program, as he said they did."

Hickenlooper and Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted the general would back up his statement with documents. And in Tokyo, a key military official said MacArthur certainly could do so.

Long said in an interview that even if there was military approval of MacArthur's views, foreign policy questions might be overriding.

"Militarily it's always good strategy to bomb the enemy's supply lines and even his cities," he added. It might be good strategy to send our navy to bombard Shanghai. But politically it probably would not be the thing to do."

In New York, Senator Byrd (D-Va.) told 500 persons at a dinner in his honor that MacArthur's dismissal was a "tragedy of errors" that is leading to a greater disunity within this country.

Speaking of the split over Far Eastern policy on top of a division in the country over domestic policies, Byrd asked:

"How can we fight communism if we are fighting among ourselves?"

Had to Remove Sign

Inglewood, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Anger was unbounded. Bristling over the firing of General MacArthur, sign painter Jack Anger hauled out his brushes and went to work. He made a sign five feet high and 14 feet long and erected it on his property. In garish letters, it urged impeachment of President Truman, ouster of Secretary of State Acheson, and withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations. But yesterday Anger was curbed. A city building inspector ordered the sign removed because there was no permit for such a display. The sign came down. Anger still boiled, however.

Many Saw MacArthur

New York, April 21 (AP)—A C. E. Hooper Survey shows that Gen. MacArthur's parade through New York city yesterday was viewed on television screens in 43.6 per cent of New York homes equipped with sets. The survey was made between noon and 1 p. m. The Hooper rating system gave MacArthur 48.7 per cent for his speech before Congress Thursday. Previous high rating was 34.3 per cent achieved last month during the New York hearings of the U. S. Senate Crime Committee.

Staff Officer Says MacArthur Can Document Speech

Tokyo, April 20 (AP) — A key staff officer said today General MacArthur could document fully his speech to Congress.

Asked if MacArthur could provide proof of his remarks, the officer replied:

"Of course, that will be the easiest part of it," he added:

"The big battle will come when he appears before the Senate Armed Services Committee to bring out the details."

The disputed point of whether the Joint Chiefs of Staff had expressed approval of MacArthur's views remained obscure. It was generally felt, however, that MacArthur would not have said so if he were unprepared to back up his statement.

Key officers pointed out that many of the meetings between the visiting joint chiefs and MacArthur were held privately. At his headquarters only the general himself knew what had been said.

Changes From Truman To MacArthur Date

Los Angeles, April 21 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice H. C. Wood doesn't like her birthday. It is the same as President Truman's. She has served notice she will celebrate hereafter on General MacArthur's birthday instead.

Mrs. Wood said in a personal notice she offered the Los Angeles Times last night that she has celebrated many years on May 8 but hereafter will observe Jan. 26 "along with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, with whom I am willing to fade away."

To a suggestion that perhaps her hour of birth might have been different from the President's, Mrs. Wood replied:

"I was born very early in the morning * * * it was too early for me to be awake, or I'd have done something about it."

Incidentally, Mrs. Wood and her husband, Vernon D. Wood, a financial counsellor, are both Republicans.

Man—Yes, and after marriage he earns for her too.

The feeling is going that communism is more of a system of sabotage than even as a political heresy. There seems ground for believing that the damage and incidents on naval ships and establishments have been caused by Communist saboteurs.

Fisherman—Just stand there and throw me five of the biggest of those trout.

Fish Dealer—Throw 'em? What for?

Fisherman—So I can tell the family I caught 'em. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm no liar.

Bus Driver—Are these seven children yours or is it a picnic?

Woman—They're all mine, and it's no picnic.

Miss Gurgle—I hear they had a big fight at the liquor party last night. Were you mixed up in it?

Betty Burp—No, I just sat tight all evening.

The world's oldest firm of tea merchants—Davison, Newman & Co., of Creechurche Lane in the city of London—who supplied the tea thrown overboard at the Boston Tea Party, recently celebrated their 300th anniversary.

The soap-box orator was warming to his subject. "Comrades," he cried passionately, "make me your leader and in everything you undertake I'll be behind you."

Sweetwater, Tex., obtains its water supply from Bitter Creek.—Mrs. U. E. Byers, Sunray, Tex.

Marriage encourages thrift, says a banker. "Demands" is the word.

Before the war the United States consumed 44 per cent of the total world supply of newsprint and it got 67 per cent of its requirements from Canada. Today the United States consumes over 60 per cent of total world supply and it draws 80 per cent of its needs from Canada.

Agnes—What shall I do? I'm engaged to a man who simply can't bear children.
Grace—Well, you musn't expect too much of a husband.

A gentleman is a man who holds the door open for his wife while she carries in a load of groceries.

My wife tells me that your wife displayed a marvelous knowledge of parliamentary law at the Woman's Club the other day.
Friend—Well, why shouldn't she? She has been speaker of the house for 15 years.

Census Taker—And just how do you spend your income?
Worker—About 30 per cent for shelter, 30 per cent for clothes, 40 per cent for food, 10 per cent for medical services and miscellaneous, and 10 per cent for amusement.
C.T.—But you can't. That adds up to 120 per cent.
Worker—I can't, but it does.

When opportunity knocks at the door some people are out in the yard looking for four-leaf clovers.

An expert has been defined as one who is familiar with the subject but who comes from out of town.
Friend—Now, take a man: Before marriage, he yearns for a woman.

Breeder Sees Big Poultry Profits

Asked recently for his views on the probable course of the poultry industry for the next year, Irving Kauder of New Paltz, whose chickens are again achieving sweeping victories at official laying tests, had the following comments:

"The outstanding development of the last year has been the tremendous growth of the broiler industry. Today, over half of all chicks hatched are for broiler purposes—and monthly reports of chick hatchings show that so far in 1951, broiler chick hatching exceeds 1950 by a wide margin. The explanation of this is simple. High prices for red meats have stimulated demand for poultry. There is absolutely no indication that this trend will see any change during the next year. Though there may be local oversupply in some sections, especially of poorer quality broilers, there is still a tremendous demand for high quality broiler chicks. It is probable that we will have to hatch throughout the rest of 1951 to help fill this demand—as will most other breeding farms where top quality meat chicks are produced.

"On the egg-producing side, the picture has changed vastly in the last 60 to 90 days. Last summer and fall, most poultrymen thought the outlook was pretty black for egg production because feed was so high and prices for eggs were low.

"Now, three factors add up to the certainty that the next twelve months will be one of the most profitable the New York state poultryman has seen for many years. First of these is the egg supply. Storage supplies are at an all-time low. Supplies of fresh eggs coming into metropolitan markets are below expectations.

"Second factor is the fact that though feed prices are high, they are low enough so efficient poultrymen can show a nice profit. The relationship between feed and egg prices is more favorable now than it has been for nearly two years.

"Third is the fact that, due to fewer layers on farms and so fewer eggs being marketed, egg prices are fully a third above a year ago—and steadily climbing.

"All of these factors add up to the cheering conclusion to the New York state farmer and poultryman that now is a good time to put in chicks for either broilers or eggs. For one more fact has a vital bearing on the whole picture: There are, so far, less chicks hatched for laying purposes in the northeast than at the same date in 1950. That means that eggs will be scarce as the proverbial hens' teeth by next winter."

Veterans Urged to Act Immediately For GI Insurance

Veterans of World Wars 1 and 2 eligible to purchase Government Life Insurance or National Service Life Insurance must act immediately or they may be deprived of their right to purchase such insurance, Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, warned today.

A new indemnity and insurance bill, passed by Congress on April 13, will, if signed by President Truman, end the government's right to issue new policies under the terms authorized by existing law. The President is expected to sign the law at any moment.

Under existing law, World War 1 veterans who served between October 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921, can now obtain United States Government Life Insurance policies upon application, premium payment, and proof of good health, to an aggregate of $10,000. World War 2 veterans who served between October 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945, and members of the armed forces in active service, can obtain National Service Life Insurance policies.

The new bill, if it becomes law, will provide free insurance to present servicemen, but will deprive the many persons in the above categories of their right to purchase insurance, unless applications, accompanied by premium remittances, are received by the Veterans Administration, delivered to an authorized representative of any of the uniformed services, or placed in the mails directed to V.A., before the President signs the bill.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

Harry Rigby stopped in to further clear up the mystery of the landscaping of Kingston Point Park. I mentioned the other day in this column that Downing Vaux, who made his home at the local Y.M.C.A., did the landscape architect work of our park. Mr. Vaux died May 15, 1926 so perhaps his obituary would give further clues. It is said he also landscaped Downing Park in Newburgh and Riverside Drive in New York city. According to Mr. Rigby, he understood that Vaux was a student of the foremost landscape gardener, Andrew Jackson Downing. He also thinks that A. J. Downing landscaped Central Park in New York city besides the many famous estates of his day. He further gave me a clue that in Carl Carmer's "The Hudson," there is an item on A. J. Downing.

I have the small armed service edition, although was loaned the big book some time ago by a local uptown dentist. In chapter 21 called "Hudson River Aesthete" one reads about "Old Baron de Liderer, who on a summer's day met A. J. Downing, a young boy, and together they enjoyed talking about flowers, trees and stones. The Austrian consul general, brought Andrew to "Danskammer" where he met Edward Armstrong. Young Andrew became a frequent visitor to Armstrong's castle of pearly granite, inside of which was black walnut. Armstrong's wife, talked a fluent Italian and French and painted in water colors, fruits and flowers. Armstrong wrote poetry, played the violin and danced well with his vivacious wife. Andrew's father was a poor nurseryman-gardener who died when Andrew was seven, leaving him sensitive and lonely. Armstrong's happy, wealthy, cultured family gave him the education and culture his talent needed

Mrs. Armstrong soon sought his suggestion of planting a double row of locust trees along the "avenue" leading to their estate. Andrew's mother wanted him to be an apprentice-clerk in a dry goods store, but Andrew soon joined partnership with his elder brother Charles, who had inherited their father's nursery. Andrew visited famous estates along the Hudson to study flower and plant arrangements and so met Caroline De Windt. She was a great-granddaughter of one President Adams and a niece of another yet she married this humble gardener in a grand June wedding in 1838. Soon Andrew bought his brother out and began to build a dwelling for his bride among the Downing Botanic Gardens and Nurseries.

At 26 he had achieved fame not only as a landscape artist, but also as an author of a book on the subject. Letters poured in from Europe. It became a favorite wedding gift for young couples about to build. In his own right he became editor of "Horticulturist." His sayings became famous, one of which reads: "Unless there is something of the castle in the man, it is very likely, if it (his home) be like a real castle, to dwarf him to the stature of a mouse." And such a man, according to Mr. Rigby, was Vaux's teacher, who designed our Kingston Point Park.

Life ended all too soon and tragic for Andrew Jack Downing. He was drowned in the fire of the steamer, "Henry Clay."

Manley, Patton Duel For North-South Title

Pinehurst, N. C., April 21 (AP)—Two young lumber men who can really put the wood to a golf ball—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C.—met today for the 51st North and South amateur championship.

Their 36-hole duel over the 6,900-yard par 72 No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club was set up by semi final contests yesterday in which they ganged up on the last remaining Walker Cup team representatives.

Manley, 25-year-old long knocker who is in the lumber business, put out cup team regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3 and 1, in one 36-hole affair. The other saw Patton, a 29-year old lumber dealer, oust Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2. Goodloe is an alternate on the cup squad which leaves next week to play the British team in mid-May.

Manley had never played here before. Patton is making his second appearance after going to the third round a year ago.

Yonkers, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—Constance Scott, owned and driven by Dick Scott, won the $4,000 White Flains pace last night before 18,020 Yonkers Raceway fans, the largest turnout of the young season. The six-year-old brown mare defeated Peter K. Lee, driven by Floyd Milton, and Milor Vic, handled by Henry Thomas. The winner returned $9.90, $5.50 and $3.20. The time was 2:08 3/5. The mutuel handle was $761,054.

Says He'll Do Best To Stay Out of Trouble

New York, April 21 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's star second baseman, thinks certain national league umpires are "out to get me."

Robinson, involved in a squabble with Umpires Babe Pinelli and Dusty Boggess at Ebbets Field Wednesday, spoke his piece last night.

"I'm not blind to the fact that certain umpires are out to get me," he said. "Anything I do, they'll give me the worst of the breaks. I know what I'm up against."

Jackie did not mention names.

"I'm doing my best to stay out of trouble," said Robinson. "I promised Chuch Dressen (Brooklyn manager) and my wife. But you know how much I want to win.

"Dressen talked to me several times, asking me to stay out of arguments. I know it doesn't do me any good to get mixed up in them. And I'm doing my best to stay out.

"But no matter what anybody says, I'm not blind. I think I know what's going on. Certain umpires are out to get me."

Robinson's difficulty in Brooklyn followed a called third strike by Boggess. Jackie threw his bat down angrily and ran to his position. He admits he yelled something at Boggess after he reached his post.

Then he says Pinelli took up the argument and jawed him for yelling at Boggess.

Frick Ready to Act

"I didn't think Boggess even heard me," he said. "I didn't have any wrangle with him at the plate. But I wouldn't blame him if he came out after I hollered. But it was Pinelli who took it up."

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," he said, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Dodger coaches and many of Robinson's friends have been after him for some time trying to get him to tone down his arguments with the umps.

Yanks Drop Pair To Nats, 5-3, 8-4

(By the Associated Press)

Who stole the Fenway Park left field wall or what's the matter with the Boston Red Sox?

That's the puzzler for the good citizens of Boston.

The Sox, perennial pre-season favorites to waltz to the American League pennant, are in a deep freeze.

Steve O'Neil's men entered the season with 11 straight exhibition victories and their long suffering followers licked chops, anticipating a terrific start. But alas, the Sox still are wallowing in the dust, looking for victory No. 1.

They began by dropping two games to the world champion Yankees in New York, scoring only once in the process.

Yesterday they opened their home season and it appeared that their spiked guns would smoke and belch as of old. Victory seemed a lead pipe cinch.

All Factors Fizzle

The factors that pointed to a sure-fire Red Sox victory were:

1. The Sox were back on their home lot with that chummy left field wall, a haven for their awesome right handed hitters.

2. They were to meet the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's, dead last in 1950, had lost 22 straight games at Fenway Park, not winning in Boston since Sept. 12, 1948.

3. Alex Kellner, a 20-game loser in 1950 and a lefthander to boot, was to pitch for the A's. A lefthander goes the route and beats the Sox in Boston only once in a blue moon. Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Gene Bearden of Washington were the only ones to perform that feat last year.

4. Mel Parnell was to pitch for Boston. Marvelous Mel had racked up the A's 10 straight times.

But Kellner stunned a crowd of 11,461 fans by turning back the star-studded Sox, 6-3, permitting only four hits along the way.

Kermit Wahl broke up the game in the eighth inning. Wahl belted a two-out two-run double and scored the clincher when the usually reliable Dom DiMaggio dropped Joe Tipton's liner.

Yanks Drop Pair

The Yanks ran into a snag in Washington, dropping a day-night doubleheader to the Washington Senators, 5-3, and 8-4.

Sandalio Consuegra yielded four hits in the day game in outlasting five Yankee pitchers who granted only two hits. Thirteen bases on balls ruined the Yanks. A crowd of 27,331 fans including President Truman turned out as Washington belatedly opened its season.

Lefty Al Sima scattered 10 hits in the night game which attracted 15,553 customers. Mickey Vernon batted in four runs on a triple, double and two singles to spoil the debut of rookie Tom Morgan, the Yanks spring training flash.

The double triumph put the Nats in first by a half game over the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox who scored their third straight triumphs in the afternoon.

Bob Feller came up with a neat five hitter as he pitched the Indians to a 4-1 victory over the hapless St. Louis Browns before 48,316 fans in Cleveland's home opener.

Gumpert Tames Tigers

Randy Gumpert pitched Chicago to a 5-0 three-hit victory over the Detroit Tigers before 8,731 at Chicago. Gumpert helped his cause by driving in two runs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers spoiled the day for the Giants and 30,870 fans by downing the New Yorkers, 7-3, at the Polo Grounds. The Boston Braves nipped the Phils, 2-1, before 17,423 fans in Philadelphia. Don Newcombe tamed the Giants on five hits. Max Surkont surrendered only two hits and drove home the winning run with a fly ball as the Braves shaded the Phils.

Gerry Staley scattered nine hits as the Cards opened their home season with a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in St. Louis under the lights.

TEAM MAN WILLIAMS—Ted Williams has been criticized by people who felt the Red Sox slugger was not exactly the ideal team player. Here the big Boston outfielder goes all out in an attempt to break up a double play against the Yankees. But Jerry Coleman, who took a toss from Phil Rizzuto, got the ball to Johnny Mize for a double killing on Vern Stephens. (NEA)

City Delegation Bids for Tourney

A formal bid by leading bowlers and other representatives of Kingston was made in Elmira today at 1 p. m. to secure the 1952 New York state bowling championship for this city.

The formal application followed a big party thrown by the local delegation Friday night at the Mark Twain Hotel in Elmira for members of the New York State Bowling Association.

According to news from the tournament convention hall, the city of Rochester also will apply for the 1952 championships.

Gavilan's Warmup Fails to Sparkle

New York, April 21 (AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan is ready to begin training for his May 18 welter title bout with Johnny Bratton after a warmup win over cagey Aldo Minelli.

Maybe "warmup" isn't the word for Gavilan's 10-rounder with the 31-year-old Italian last night at St. Nicholas arena. The crowd of 2,5882 that paid $5,829 hooted the unanimous decision for the 3½ to 1 favorite.

Minelli bothered the sleek keed with his unorthodox style. Bouncing at long range and then swarming inside to clutch after looping a long counter right was the Minelli system. Gavilan didn't exactly sparkle.

But the keed's bolo punching to the body reddened Aldo's side. And a hook to the head wobbled him in the ninth. There were no knockdowns.

Judge Charley Shortell had it 8-2, Judge Joe Angello 7-3 and Referee George Walsh 6-3-1. The AP card was 7-3.

Gavilan's handler said he came out of the fight in good style and will go to his Summit, N. J., camp the first of the week. He'll only have to take off 3¾ pounds from last night's 150¾, Minelli weighed 152½.

The Cuban is favored to whip Bratton, the NBA-recognized successor to Sugar Ray Robinson. New York will crown the winner, provided he agrees to meet Billy Graham.

Seton Hall Cops One Mile Relay

Newark, N. J., April 21 (AP)—Host Seton Hall took the Catholic Century yesterday in the opening of the fifth annual Seton Hall relays.

Harry Bright, Charlie Slade, Morris Curotta and Bob Carter did 3:22.8 to win the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference one-mile championship.

They did 3:287 in the mile, breaking the 1950 record of 3:30, and their 1/32.8 in the 880 broke the old 1:33.8 of '47 and '50.

Armstrong High School of Washington, D. C., won the 440-yard high school relay.

Athletes from 88 eastern seaboard high and prep schools and colleges are competing.

Former Gives Up Both Bingles in Opening Stanza

Eight Stewart Field Errors Help Cause

Backed by some steady two-hit hurling by Jerry Bechtold and Al Kuhn, Kingston High School launched its 1951 baseball campaign Friday on a happy note by scoring a convincing 10 to 3 victory over Stewart Field.

Bechtold, the righthander who started on the hill for Coach Will Burke's nine, was touched for both hits in the first inning when Stewart Field pushed across three runs.

But after that, Bechtold settled down and whitewashed the losers. Bechtold hurled the first five frames and gave way to Kuhn who came on in the sixth and checked the Stewart Field nine without a hit in the last two innings.

Kingston didn't actually knock the cover off the ball in registering its lopsided victory. The Maroons found a pair of Stewart Field hurlers for six hits, one an extra base clout by B. Lyons who homered. Eight Stewart Field errors helped Kingston's cause.

Score Four in First

The Burkemen hopped on starter Robinson for four big tallies in the first and were never headed. Kingston pushed across two more in the second, one in the fourth and a final cluster of three in the fifth to end the scoring.

R. Lyons, third baseman for Kingston, led the six-hit assault with a pair of safeties. Lee Jackson, Engel, Moll Leonard and D. Lyons also chipped in with hits.

Kingston meets Windham in another non-league fray next Tuesday at 4 p. m., at the municipal stadium. The locals open the 1951 DUSO League schedule Thursday, May 4, at the stadium by playing Middletown.

Breeder Sees Big Poultry Profits

Asked recently for his views on the probable course of the poultry industry for the next year, Irving Kauder of New Paltz, whose chickens are again achieving sweeping victories at official laying tests, had the following comments:

"The outstanding development of the last year has been the tremendous growth of the broiler industry. Today, over half of all chicks hatched are for broiler purposes—and monthly reports of chick hatchings show that so far in 1951, broiler chick hatching exceeds 1950 by a wide margin. The explanation of this is simple. High prices for red meats have stimulated demand for poultry. There is absolutely no indication that this trend will see any change during the next year. Though there may be local oversupply in some sections, especially of poorer quality broilers, there is still a tremendous demand for high quality broiler chicks. It is probable that we will have to hatch throughout the rest of 1951 to help fill this demand—as will most other breeding farms where top quality meat chicks are produced.

"On the egg-producing side, the picture has changed vastly in the last 60 to 90 days. Last summer and fall, most poultrymen thought the outlook was pretty black for egg production because feed was so high and prices for eggs were low.

"Now, three factors add up to the certainty that the next twelve months will be one of the most profitable the New York state poultryman has seen for many years. First of these is the egg supply. Storage supplies are at an all-time low. Supplies of fresh eggs coming into metropolitan markets are below expectations.

"Second factor is the fact that though feed prices are high, they are low enough so efficient poultrymen can show a nice profit. The relationship between feed and egg prices is more favorable now than it has been for nearly two years.

"Third is the fact that, due to fewer layers on farms and so fewer eggs being marketed, egg prices are fully a third above a year ago—and steadily climbing.

"All of these factors add up to the cheering conclusion to the New York state farmer and poultryman that now is a good time to put in chicks for either broilers or eggs. For one more fact has a vital bearing on the whole picture: There are, so far, less chicks hatched for laying purposes in the northeast than at the same date in 1950. That means that eggs will be scarce as the proverbial hens' teeth by next winter."

Veterans Urged to Act Immediately For GI Insurance

Veterans of World Wars 1 and 2 eligible to purchase Government Life Insurance or National Service Life Insurance must act immediately or they may be deprived of their right to purchase such insurance, Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, warned today.

A new indemnity and insurance bill, passed by Congress on April 13, will, if signed by President Truman, end the government's right to issue new policies under the terms authorized by existing law. The President is expected to sign the law at any moment.

Under existing law, World War 1 veterans who served between October 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921, can now obtain United States Government Life Insurance policies upon application, premium payment, and proof of good health, to an aggregate of $10,000. World War 2 veterans who served between October 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945, and members of the armed forces in active service, can obtain National Service Life Insurance policies.

The new bill, if it becomes law, will provide free insurance to present servicemen, but will deprive the many persons in the above categories of their right to purchase insurance, unless applications, accompanied by premium remittances, are received by the Veterans Administration, delivered to an authorized representative of any of the uniformed services, or placed in the mails directed to V.A., before the President signs the bill.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Harry Rigby stopped in to further clear up the mystery of the landscaping of Kingston Point Park. I mentioned the other day in this column that Downing Vaux, who made his home at the local Y.M.C.A., did the landscape architect work of our park. Mr. Vaux died May 15, 1926 so perhaps his obituary would give further clues. It is said he also landscaped Downing Park in Newburgh and Riverside Drive in New York city. According to Mr. Rigby, he understood that Vaux was a student of the foremost landscape gardener, Andrew Jackson Downing. He also thinks that A. J. Downing landscaped Central Park in New York city besides the many famous estates of his day. He further gave me a clue that in Carl Carmer's "The Hudson," there is an item on A. J. Downing.

I have the small armed service edition, although was loaned the big book some time ago by a local uptown dentist. In chapter 21 called "Hudson River Aesthete" one reads about "Old Baron de Liderer, who on a summer's day met A. J. Downing, a young boy, and together they enjoyed talking about flowers, trees and stones. The Austrian consul general, brought Andrew to "Danskammer" where he met Edward Armstrong. Young Andrew became a frequent visitor to Armstrong's castle of pearly granite, inside of which was black walnut. Armstrong's wife, talked a fluent Italian and French and painted in water colors, fruits and flowers. Armstrong wrote poetry, played the violin and danced well with his vivacious wife. Andrew's father was a poor nurseryman-gardener who died when Andrew was seven, leaving him sensitive and lonely. Armstrong's happy, wealthy, cultured family gave him the education and culture his talent needed

Mrs. Armstrong soon sought his suggestion of planting a double row of locust trees along the "avenue" leading to their estate. Andrew's mother wanted him to be an apprentice-clerk in a dry goods store, but Andrew soon joined partnership with his elder brother Charles, who had inherited their father's nursery. Andrew visited famous estates along the Hudson to study flower and plant arrangements and so met Caroline De Windt. She was a great-granddaughter of one President Adams and a niece of another yet she married this humble gardener in a grand June wedding in 1838. Soon Andrew bought his brother out and began to build a dwelling for his bride among the Downing Botanic Gardens and Nurseries.

At 26 he had achieved fame not only as a landscape artist, but also as an author of a book on the subject. Letters poured in from Europe. It became a favorite wedding gift for young couples about to build. In his own right he became editor of "Horticulturist." His sayings became famous, one of which reads: "Unless there is something of the castle in the man, it is very likely, if it (his home) be like a real castle, to dwarf him to the stature of a mouse." And such a man, according to Mr. Rigby, was Vaux's teacher, who designed our Kingston Point Park.

Life ended all too soon and tragic for Andrew Jack Downing. He was drowned in the fire of the steamer, "Henry Clay."

Manley, Patton Duel For North-South Title

Pinehurst, N. C., April 21 (AP)—Two young lumber men who can really put the wood to a golf ball—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C.—met today for the 51st North and South amateur championship.

Their 36-hole duel over the 6,900-yard par 72 No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club was set up by semi final contests yesterday in which they ganged up on the last remaining Walker Cup team representatives.

Manley, 25-year-old long knocker who is in the lumber business, put out cup team regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3 and 1, in one 36-hole affair. The other saw Patton, a 29-year old lumber dealer, oust Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2. Goodloe is an alternate on the cup squad which leaves next week to play the British team in mid-May.

Manley had never played here before. Patton is making his second appearance after going to the third round a year ago.

Yonkers, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—Constance Scott, owned and driven by Dick Scott, won the $4,000 White Plains pace last night before 18,020 Yonkers Raceway fans, the largest turnout of the young season. The six-year-old brown mare defeated Peter K. Lee, driven by Floyd Milton, and Milor Vic, handled by Henry Thomas. The winner returned $9.90, $5.50 and $3.20. The time was 2:08 3/5. The mutuel handle was $761,054.

Says He'll Do Best To Stay Out of Trouble

New York, April 21 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's star second baseman, thinks certain national league umpires are "out to get me."

Robinson, involved in a squabble with Umpires Babe Pinelli and Dusty Boggess at Ebbets Field Wednesday, spoke his piece last night.

"I'm not blind to the fact that certain umpires are out to get me," he said. "Anything I do, they'll give me the worst of the breaks. I know what I'm up against."

Jackie did not mention names.

"I'm doing my best to stay out of trouble," said Robinson. "I promised Chuch Dressen (Brooklyn manager) and my wife. But you know how much I want to win.

"Dressen talked to me several times, asking me to stay out of arguments. I know it doesn't do me any good to get mixed up in them. And I'm doing my best to stay out.

"But no matter what anybody says, I'm not blind. I think I know what's going on. Certain umpires are out to get me."

Robinson's difficulty in Brooklyn followed a called third strike by Boggess. Jackie threw his bat down angrily and ran to his position. He admits he yelled something at Boggess after he reached his post.

Then he says Pinelli took up the argument and jawed him for yelling at Boggess.

Frick Ready to Act

"I didn't think Boggess even heard me," he said. "I didn't have any wrangle with him at the plate. But I wouldn't blame him if he came out after I hollered. But it was Pinelli who took it up."

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," he said, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Dodger coaches and many of Robinson's friends have been after him for some time trying to get him to tone down his arguments with the umps.

Yanks Drop Pair To Nats, 5-3, 8-4

(By the Associated Press)

Who stole the Fenway Park left field wall or what's the matter with the Boston Red Sox?

That's the puzzler for the good citizens of Boston.

The Sox, perennial pre-season favorites to waltz to the American League pennant, are in a deep freeze.

Steve O'Neil's men entered the season with 11 straight exhibition victories and their long suffering followers licked chops, anticipating a terrific start. But alas, the Sox still are wallowing in the dust, looking for victory No. 1.

They began by dropping two games to the world champion Yankees in New York, scoring only once in the process.

Yesterday they opened their home season and it appeared that their spiked guns would smoke and belch as of old. Victory seemed a lead pipe cinch.

All Factors Fizzle

The factors that pointed to a sure-fire Red Sox victory were:

1. The Sox were back on their home lot with that chummy left field wall, a haven for their awesome right handed hitters.

2. They were to meet the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's, dead last in 1950, had lost 22 straight games at Fenway Park, not winning in Boston since Sept. 12, 1948.

3. Alex Kellner, a 20-game loser in 1950 and a lefthander to boot, was to pitch for the A's. A lefthander goes the route and beats the Sox in Boston only once in a blue moon. Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Gene Bearden of Washington were the only ones to perform that feat last year.

4. Mel Parnell was to pitch for Boston. Marvelous Mel had racked up the A's 10 straight times.

But Kellner stunned a crowd of 11,461 fans by turning back the star-studded Sox, 6-3, permitting only four hits along the way.

Kermit Wahl broke up the game in the eighth inning. Wahl belted a two-out two-run double and scored the clincher when the usually reliable Dom DiMaggio dropped Joe Tipton's liner.

Yanks Drop Pair

The Yanks ran into a snag in Washington, dropping a day-night doubleheader to the Washington Senators, 5-3, and 8-4.

Sandalio Consuegra yielded four hits in the day game in outlasting five Yankee pitchers who granted only two hits. Thirteen bases on balls ruined the Yanks. A crowd of 27,331 fans including President Truman turned out as Washington belatedly opened its season.

Lefty Al Sima scattered 10 hits in the night game which attracted 15,553 customers. Mickey Vernon batted in four runs on a triple, double and two singles to spoil the debut of rookie Tom Morgan, the Yanks spring training flash.

The double triumph put the Nats in first by a half game over the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox who scored their third straight triumphs in the afternoon.

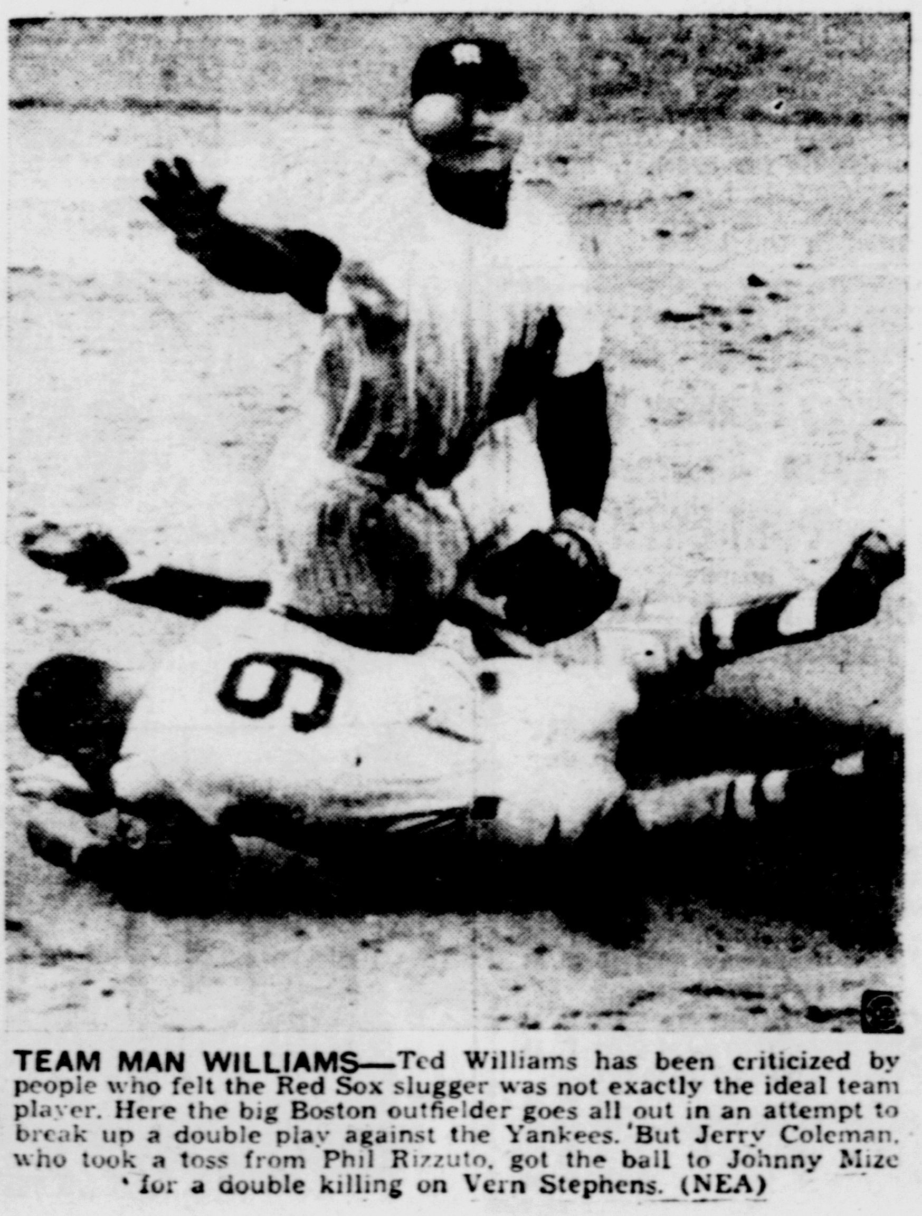
Bob Feller came up with a neat five hitter as he pitched the Indians to a 4-1 victory over the hapless St. Louis Browns before 48,316 fans in Cleveland's home opener.

Gumpert Tames Tigers

Randy Gumpert pitched Chicago to a 5-0 three-hit victory over the Detroit Tigers before 8,731 at Chicago. Gumpert helped his cause by driving in two runs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers spoiled the day for the Giants and 30,870 fans by downing the New Yorkers, 7-3, at the Polo Grounds. The Boston Braves nipped the Phils, 2-1, before 17,423 fans in Philadelphia. Don Newcombe tamed the Giants on five hits. Max Surkont surrendered only two hits and drove home the winning run with a fly ball as the Braves shaded the Phils.

Gerry Staley scattered nine hits as the Cards opened their home season with a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in St. Louis under the lights.



TEAM MAN WILLIAMS—Ted Williams has been criticized by people who felt the Red Sox slugger was not exactly the ideal team player. Here the big Boston outfielder goes all out in an attempt to break up a double play against the Yankees. But Jerry Coleman, who took a toss from Phil Rizzuto, got the ball to Johnny Mize for a double killing on Vern Stephens. (NEA)

City Delegation Bids for Tourney

A formal bid by leading bowlers and other representatives of Kingston was made in Elmira today at 1 p. m. to secure the 1952 New York state bowling championship for this city.

The formal application followed a big party thrown by the local delegation Friday night at the Mark Twain Hotel in Elmira for members of the New York State Bowling Association.

According to news from the tournament convention hall, the city of Rochester also will apply for the 1952 championships.

Gavilan's Warmup Fails to Sparkle

New York, April 21 (AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan is ready to begin training for his May 18 welter title bout with Johnny Bratton after a warmup win over cagey Aldo Minelli.

Maybe "warmup" isn't the word for Gavilan's 10-rounder with the 31-year-old Italian last night at St. Nicholas arena. The crowd of 2,5882 that paid $5,829 hooted the unanimous decision for the 3½ to 1 favorite.

Minelli bothered the sleek keed with his unorthodox style. Bouncing at long range and then swarming inside to clutch after looping a long counter right was the Minelli system. Gavilan didn't exactly sparkle.

But the keed's bolo punching to the body reddened Aldo's side. And a hook to the head wobbled him in the ninth. There were no knockdowns.

Judge Charley Shortell had it 8-2, Judge Joe Angello 7-3 and Referee George Walsh 6-3-1. The AP card was 7-3.

Gavilan's handler said he came out of the fight in good style and will go to his Summit, N. J., camp the first of the week. He'll only have to take off 3¾ pounds from last night's 150¾, Minelli weighed 152½.

The Cuban is favored to whip Bratton, the NBA-recognized successor to Sugar Ray Robinson. New York will crown the winner, provided he agrees to meet Billy Graham.

Seton Hall Cops One Mile Relay

Newark, N. J., April 21 (AP)—Host Seton Hall took the Catholic Century yesterday in the opening of the fifth annual Seton Hall relays.

Harry Bright, Charlie Slade, Morris Curotta and Bob Carter did 3:22.8 to win the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference one-mile championship.

They did 3:287 in the mile, breaking the 1950 record of 3:30, and their 1/32.8 in the 880 broke the old 1:33.8 of '47 and '50.

Armstrong High School of Washington, D. C., won the 440-yard high school relay.

Athletes from 88 eastern seaboard high and prep schools and colleges are competing.

Eighteen teams of the 34 entrants fell by the wayside yesterday, including the 1950 champions from the University of Vermont. High point winner in the qualifying round was Holt Spencer of the University of Redlands, Calif., with 1,026 out of a possible 1,200 points.

Eight Stewart Field Errors Help Cause

Backed by some steady two-hit hurling by Jerry Bechtold and Al Kuhn, Kingston High School launched its 1951 baseball campaign Friday on a happy note by scoring a convincing 10 to 3 victory over Stewart Field.

Bechtold, the righthander who started on the hill for Coach Will Burke's nine, was touched for both hits in the first inning when Stewart Field pushed across three runs.

But after that, Bechtold settled down and whitewashed the losers. Bechtold hurled the first five frames and gave way to Kuhn who came on in the sixth and checked the Stewart Field nine without a hit in the last two innings.

Kingston didn't actually knock the cover off the ball in registering its lopsided victory. The Maroons found a pair of Stewart Field hurlers for six hits, one an extra base clout by B. Lyons who homered. Eight Stewart Field errors helped Kingston's cause.

Score Four in First

The Burkemen hopped on starter Robinson for four big tallies in the first and were never headed. Kingston pushed across two more in the second, one in the fourth and a final cluster of three in the fifth to end the scoring.

R. Lyons, third baseman for Kingston, led the six-hit assault with a pair of safeties. Lee Jackson, Engel, Moll Leonard and D. Lyons also chipped in with hits.

Kingston meets Windham in another non-league fray next Tuesday at 4 p. m., at the municipal stadium. The locals open the 1951 DUSO League schedule Thursday, May 4, at the stadium by playing Middletown.

Breeder Sees Big Poultry Profits

Asked recently for his views on the probable course of the poultry industry for the next year, Irving Kauder of New Paltz, whose chickens are again achieving sweeping victories at official laying tests, had the following comments:

"The outstanding development of the last year has been the tremendous growth of the broiler industry. Today, over half of all chicks hatched are for broiler purposes—and monthly reports of chick hatchings show that so far in 1951, broiler chick hatching exceeds 1950 by a wide margin. The explanation of this is simple. High prices for red meats have stimulated demand for poultry. There is absolutely no indication that this trend will see any change during the next year. Though there may be local oversupply in some sections, especially of poorer quality broilers, there is still a tremendous demand for high quality broiler chicks. It is probable that we will have to hatch throughout the rest of 1951 to help fill this demand—as will most other breeding farms where top quality meat chicks are produced.

"On the egg-producing side, the picture has changed vastly in the last 60 to 90 days. Last summer and fall, most poultrymen thought the outlook was pretty black for egg production because feed was so high and prices for eggs were low.

"Now, three factors add up to the certainty that the next twelve months will be one of the most profitable the New York state poultryman has seen for many years. First of these is the egg supply. Storage supplies are at an all-time low. Supplies of fresh eggs coming into metropolitan markets are below expectations.

"Second factor is the fact that though feed prices are high, they are low enough so efficient poultrymen can show a nice profit. The relationship between feed and egg prices is more favorable now than it has been for nearly two years.

"Third is the fact that, due to fewer layers on farms and so fewer eggs being marketed, egg prices are fully a third above a year ago—and steadily climbing.

"All of these factors add up to the cheering conclusion to the New York state farmer and poultryman that now is a good time to put in chicks for either broilers or eggs. For one more fact has a vital bearing on the whole picture: There are, so far, less chicks hatched for laying purposes in the northeast than at the same date in 1950. That means that eggs will be scarce as the proverbial hens' teeth by next winter."

Veterans Urged to Act Immediately For GI Insurance

Veterans of World Wars 1 and 2 eligible to purchase Government Life Insurance or National Service Life Insurance must act immediately or they may be deprived of their right to purchase such insurance, Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, warned today.

A new indemnity and insurance bill, passed by Congress on April 13, will, if signed by President Truman, end the government's right to issue new policies under the terms authorized by existing law. The President is expected to sign the law at any moment.

Under existing law, World War 1 veterans who served between October 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921, can now obtain United States Government Life Insurance policies upon application, premium payment, and proof of good health, to an aggregate of $10,000. World War 2 veterans who served between October 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945, and members of the armed forces in active service, can obtain National Service Life Insurance policies.

The new bill, if it becomes law, will provide free insurance to present servicemen, but will deprive the many persons in the above categories of their right to purchase insurance, unless applications, accompanied by premium remittances, are received by the Veterans Administration, delivered to an authorized representative of any of the uniformed services, or placed in the mails directed to V.A., before the President signs the bill.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

Harry Rigby stopped in to further clear up the mystery of the landscaping of Kingston Point Park. I mentioned the other day in this column that Downing Vaux, who made his home at the local Y.M.C.A., did the landscape architect work of our park. Mr. Vaux died May 15, 1926 so perhaps his obituary would give further clues. It is said he also landscaped Downing Park in Newburgh and Riverside Drive in New York city. According to Mr. Rigby, he understood that Vaux was a student of the foremost landscape gardener, Andrew Jackson Downing. He also thinks that A. J. Downing landscaped Central Park in New York city besides the many famous estates of his day. He further gave me a clue that in Carl Carmer's "The Hudson," there is an item on A. J. Downing.

I have the small armed service edition, although was loaned the big book some time ago by a local uptown dentist. In chapter 21 called "Hudson River Aesthete" one reads about "Old Baron de Liderer, who on a summer's day met A. J. Downing, a young boy, and together they enjoyed talking about flowers, trees and stones. The Austrian consul general, brought Andrew to "Danskammer" where he met Edward Armstrong. Young Andrew became a frequent visitor to Armstrong's castle of pearly granite, inside of which was black walnut. Armstrong's wife, talked a fluent Italian and French and painted in water colors, fruits and flowers. Armstrong wrote poetry, played the violin and danced well with his vivacious wife. Andrew's father was a poor nurseryman-gardener who died when Andrew was seven, leaving him sensitive and lonely. Armstrong's happy, wealthy, cultured family gave him the education and culture his talent needed

Mrs. Armstrong soon sought his suggestion of planting a double row of locust trees along the "avenue" leading to their estate. Andrew's mother wanted him to be an apprentice-clerk in a dry goods store, but Andrew soon joined partnership with his elder brother Charles, who had inherited their father's nursery. Andrew visited famous estates along the Hudson to study flower and plant arrangements and so met Caroline De Windt. She was a great-granddaughter of one President Adams and a niece of another yet she married this humble gardener in a grand June wedding in 1838. Soon Andrew bought his brother out and began to build a dwelling for his bride among the Downing Botanic Gardens and Nurseries.

At 26 he had achieved fame not only as a landscape artist, but also as an author of a book on the subject. Letters poured in from Europe. It became a favorite wedding gift for young couples about to build. In his own right he became editor of "Horticulturist." His sayings became famous, one of which reads: "Unless there is something of the castle in the man, it is very likely, if it (his home) be like a real castle, to dwarf him to the stature of a mouse." And such a man, according to Mr. Rigby, was Vaux's teacher, who designed our Kingston Point Park.

Life ended all too soon and tragic for Andrew Jack Downing. He was drowned in the fire of the steamer, "Henry Clay."

In the individual roundup, Marty Kellenberger furnished the only 600 of the night, a hefty 654 hat trick triple.

Kellenberger opened fast with 233 and came back for sticks of 212 and 209.

H. Pine nosed out Joe Bosco for runnerup honors by one pin on the strength of his 214-583 effort. Bosco held down third place honors with 206-582.

Harry Secreto made it a close call for fourth place on 207-581.

Also of note were W. Lawrence with 210-578; J. Ferraro 209-578; Joe Amendola 201-573; and Jim Moss 201-571.

Frank Cashara fired steady games of 221 and 204 in his two opening blasts Friday night and wound up with a 587 triple to spark the pinfall in the Everybody's League at the Central Rec drives.

Cashara wound up his third game with 162 to complete the top triple of the night.

T. Heard splashed the maples for 202-573 good enough for runnerup honors.

Manley, Patton Duel For North-South Title

Pinehurst, N. C., April 21 (AP)—Two young lumber men who can really put the wood to a golf ball—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C.—met today for the 51st North and South amateur championship.

Their 36-hole duel over the 6,900-yard par 72 No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club was set up by semi final contests yesterday in which they ganged up on the last remaining Walker Cup team representatives.

Manley, 25-year-old long knocker who is in the lumber business, put out cup team regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3 and 1, in one 36-hole affair. The other saw Patton, a 29-year old lumber dealer, oust Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2. Goodloe is an alternate on the cup squad which leaves next week to play the British team in mid-May.

Manley had never played here before. Patton is making his second appearance after going to the third round a year ago.

Top Crowd at Yonkers

Yonkers, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—Constance Scott, owned and driven by Dick Scott, won the $4,000 White Plains pace last night before 18,020 Yonkers Raceway fans, the largest turnout of the young season. The six-year-old brown mare defeated Peter K. Lee, driven by Floyd Milton, and Milor Vic, handled by Henry Thomas. The winner returned $9.90, $5.50 and $3.20. The time was 2:08 3/5. The mutuel handle was $761,054.

Says He'll Do Best To Stay Out of Trouble

New York, April 21 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's star second baseman, thinks certain national league umpires are "out to get me."

Robinson, involved in a squabble with Umpires Babe Pinelli and Dusty Boggess at Ebbets Field Wednesday, spoke his piece last night.

"I'm not blind to the fact that certain umpires are out to get me," he said. "Anything I do, they'll give me the worst of the breaks. I know what I'm up against."

Jackie did not mention names.

"I'm doing my best to stay out of trouble," said Robinson. "I promised Chuch Dressen (Brooklyn manager) and my wife. But you know how much I want to win.

"Dressen talked to me several times, asking me to stay out of arguments. I know it doesn't do me any good to get mixed up in them. And I'm doing my best to stay out.

"But no matter what anybody says, I'm not blind. I think I know what's going on. Certain umpires are out to get me."

Robinson's difficulty in Brooklyn followed a called third strike by Boggess. Jackie threw his bat down angrily and ran to his position. He admits he yelled something at Boggess after he reached his post.

Then he says Pinelli took up the argument and jawed him for yelling at Boggess.

Frick Ready to Act

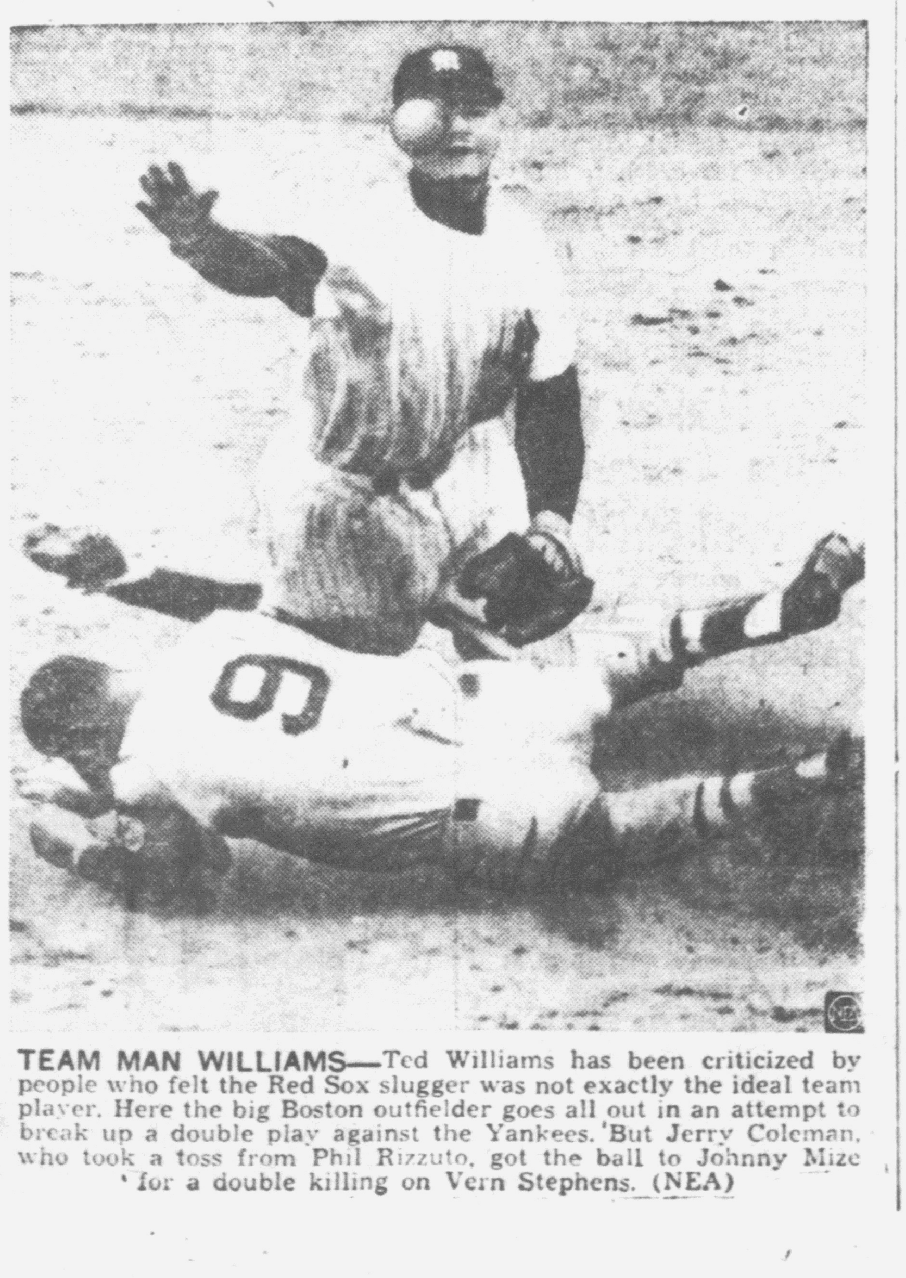
"I didn't think Boggess even heard me," he said. "I didn't have any wrangle with him at the plate. But I wouldn't blame him if he came out after I hollered. But it was Pinelli who took it up."

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," he said, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Dodger coaches and many of Robinson's friends have been after him for some time trying to get him to tone down his arguments with the umps.

Phoenix — Charlie Salas, 150, Phoenix, outpointed Lou Joseph, 150, Seattle, 10.



TEAM MAN WILLIAMS—Ted Williams has been criticized by people who felt the Red Sox slugger was not exactly the ideal team player. Here the big Boston outfielder goes all out in an attempt to break up a double play against the Yankees. But Jerry Coleman, who took a toss from Phil Rizzuto, got the ball to Johnny Mize for a double killing on Vern Stephens. (NEA)

Yanks Drop Pair To Nats, 5-3, 8-4

(By the Associated Press)

Who stole the Fenway Park left field wall or what's the matter with the Boston Red Sox?

That's the puzzler for the good citizens of Boston.

The Sox, perennial pre-season favorites to waltz to the American League pennant, are in a deep freeze.

Steve O'Neil's men entered the season with 11 straight exhibition victories and their long suffering followers licked chops, anticipating a terrific start. But alas, the Sox still are wallowing in the dust, looking for victory No. 1.

They began by dropping two games to the world champion Yankees in New York, scoring only once in the process.

Yesterday they opened their home season and it appeared that their spiked guns would smoke and belch as of old. Victory seemed a lead pipe cinch.

All Factors Fizzle

The factors that pointed to a sure-fire Red Sox victory were:

1. The Sox were back on their home lot with that chummy left field wall, a haven for their awesome right handed hitters.

2. They were to meet the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's, dead last in 1950, had lost 22 straight games at Fenway Park, not winning in Boston since Sept. 12, 1948.

3. Alex Kellner, a 20-game loser in 1950 and a lefthander to boot, was to pitch for the A's. A lefthander goes the route and beats the Sox in Boston only once in a blue moon. Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Gene Bearden of Washington were the only ones to perform that feat last year.

4. Mel Parnell was to pitch for Boston. Marvelous Mel had racked up the A's 10 straight times.

But Kellner stunned a crowd of 11,461 fans by turning back the star-studded Sox, 6-3, permitting only four hits along the way.

Kermit Wahl broke up the game in the eighth inning. Wahl belted a two-out two-run double and scored the clincher when the usually reliable Dom DiMaggio dropped Joe Tipton's liner.

Yanks Drop Pair

The Yanks ran into a snag in Washington, dropping a day-night doubleheader to the Washington Senators, 5-3, and 8-4.

Sandalio Consuegra yielded four hits in the day game in outlasting five Yankee pitchers who granted only two hits. Thirteen bases on balls ruined the Yanks. A crowd of 27,331 fans including President Truman turned out as Washington belatedly opened its season.

Lefty Al Sima scattered 10 hits in the night game which attracted 15,553 customers. Mickey Vernon batted in four runs on a triple, double and two singles to spoil the debut of rookie Tom Morgan, the Yanks spring training flash.

The double triumph put the Nats in first by a half game over the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox who scored their third straight triumphs in the afternoon.

Bob Feller came up with a neat five hitter as he pitched the Indians to a 4-1 victory over the hapless St. Louis Browns before 48,316 fans in Cleveland's home opener.

Gumpert Tames Tigers

Randy Gumpert pitched Chicago to a 5-0 three-hit victory over the Detroit Tigers before 8,731 at Chicago. Gumpert helped his cause by driving in two runs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers spoiled the day for the Giants and 30,870 fans by downing the New Yorkers, 7-3, at the Polo Grounds. The Boston Braves nipped the Phils, 2-1, before 17,423 fans in Philadelphia. Don Newcombe tamed the Giants on five hits. Max Surkont surrendered only two hits and drove home the winning run with a fly ball as the Braves shaded the Phils.

Gerry Staley scattered nine hits as the Cards opened their home season with a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in St. Louis under the lights.

City Delegation Bids for Tourney

A formal bid by leading bowlers and other representatives of Kingston was made in Elmira today at 1 p. m. to secure the 1952 New York state bowling championship for this city.

The formal application followed a big party thrown by the local delegation Friday night at the Mark Twain Hotel in Elmira for members of the New York State Bowling Association.

According to news from the tournament convention hall, the city of Rochester also will apply for the 1952 championships.

Gavilan's Warmup Fails to Sparkle

New York, April 21 (AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan is ready to begin training for his May 18 welter title bout with Johnny Bratton after a warmup win over cagey Aldo Minelli.

Maybe "warmup" isn't the word for Gavilan's 10-rounder with the 31-year-old Italian last night at St. Nicholas arena. The crowd of 2,588 that paid $5,829 hooted the unanimous decision for the 3½ to 1 favorite.

Minelli bothered the sleek keed with his unorthodox style. Bouncing at long range and then swarming inside to clutch after looping a long counter right was the Minelli system. Gavilan didn't exactly sparkle.

But the keed's bolo punching to the body reddened Aldo's side. And a hook to the head wobbled him in the ninth. There were no knockdowns.

Judge Charley Shortell had it 8-2, Judge Joe Angello 7-3 and Referee George Walsh 6-3-1. The AP card was 7-3.

Gavilan's handler said he came out of the fight in good style and will go to his Summit, N. J., camp the first of the week. He'll only have to take off 3¾ pounds from last night's 150¾, Minelli weighed 152½.

The Cuban is favored to whip Bratton, the NBA-recognized successor to Sugar Ray Robinson. New York will crown the winner, provided he agrees to meet Billy Graham.

Seton Hall Cops One Mile Relay

Newark, N. J., April 21 (AP)—Host Seton Hall took the Catholic Century yesterday in the opening of the fifth annual Seton Hall relays.

Harry Bright, Charlie Slade, Morris Curotta and Bob Carter did 3:22.8 to win the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference one-mile championship.

Providence took the two-mile and distance Medley Catholic Relays, the other opening collegiate events.

In the Eastern High School Championships Cardinal Hayes High School of the Bronx, N. Y. smashed both records in taking the one-mile and 880-yard relays.

They did 3:287 in the mile, breaking the 1950 record of 3:30, and their 1/32.8 in the 880 broke the old 1:33.8 of '47 and '50.

Armstrong High School of Washington, D. C., won the 440-yard high school relay.

Athletes from 88 eastern seaboard high and prep schools and colleges are competing.

West Point, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—Sixteen college teams entered the quarterfinals today in the fifth annual West Point National Invitation debating tournament. Eighteen teams of the 34 entrants fell by the wayside yesterday, including the 1950 champions from the University of Vermont. High point winner in the qualifying round was Holt Spencer of the University of Redlands, Calif., with 1,026 out of a possible 1,200 points.

Eight Stewart Field Errors Help Cause

Backed by some steady two-hit hurling by Jerry Bechtold and Al Kuhn, Kingston High School launched its 1951 baseball campaign Friday on a happy note by scoring a convincing 10 to 3 victory over Stewart Field.

Bechtold, the righthander who started on the hill for Coach Will Burke's nine, was touched for both hits in the first inning when Stewart Field pushed across three runs.

But after that, Bechtold settled down and whitewashed the losers. Bechtold hurled the first five frames and gave way to Kuhn who came on in the sixth and checked the Stewart Field nine without a hit in the last two innings.

Kingston didn't actually knock the cover off the ball in registering its lopsided victory. The Maroons found a pair of Stewart Field hurlers for six hits, one an extra base clout by B. Lyons who homered. Eight Stewart Field errors helped Kingston's cause.

Score Four in First

The Burkemen hopped on starter Robinson for four big tallies in the first and were never headed. Kingston pushed across two more in the second, one in the fourth and a final cluster of three in the fifth to end the scoring.

R. Lyons, third baseman for Kingston, led the six-hit assault with a pair of safeties. Lee Jackson, Engel, Moll Leonard and D. Lyons also chipped in with hits.

Kingston meets Windham in another non-league fray next Tuesday at 4 p. m., at the municipal stadium. The locals open the 1951 DUSO League schedule Thursday, May 4, at the stadium by playing Middletown.

Critic Hails Phyllis Frankel for Opera Role in Baltimore

A former resident, Phyllis Levey Frankel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Levey of Baltimore, and formerly of this city, was hailed as "lovely in appearance and voice," last Saturday night by Weldon Wallace, music critic for The Sun, (Baltimore, Md.), when Miss Frankel played in the role of Violetta in the Baltimore Civic Opera Company's latest production, Verdi's La Traviata.

"Miss Frankel," the critic continued, "brought a genuine theatrical flare to her singing and acting. . . . The natural timbre of her voice is limpid, warm and persuasive . . . her enactment caught the emotional fervor of the part and conveyed it vividly to the audience. This was not merely a learned role. It carried the conviction of feeling."

Miss Frankel is still a student, studying privately in Baltimore, and hopes to make the opera her career.

Study Club Hears Recorded Lecture

A tape recorded lecture by Dr. Marcella Lawlor, professor of education at Columbia University was presented by Dr. Ruth Northway, director of elementary education in the Kingston schools, Thursday night when Child Study Club No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. William Kelly, 165 Pearl street. Lang Syne Study Club of Stone Ridge met with group as their guests.

During the recorded address on modern trends in education, Dr. Lawlor spoke of the need of correlating the curriculum with the experiences and interests of the child. She stressed that each child in the classroom is a distinct individual, with varying rates of growth and development. It is therefore imperative, she said, that the educational process be geared to this variance. Dr. Northway acted as discussion leader after Dr. Lawlor's address.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Donald Swan, and Mrs. William Golden assisted the hostess with refreshments.

Good Taste Today

SERVING GUESTS

The rule of courtesy is easily applied to this situation: "In your column you've said it was rude to serve the hostess first when another lady is present. What when a husband passes refreshments around on a tray? Should he single out all the women in the room first and then go to his wife and then the men, or how?"

He should serve one of the ladies first and then from her go on around the room to ladies and gentlemen as they happen to come—his wife amongst them. Any other procedure would be awkward.

Remarrying Ex-Husband

Dear Mrs. Post: I am remarrying my ex-husband from whom I've been separated for three years at a very quiet ceremony in church. Neither has been married to anyone else. He has suggested we give a large reception and let everyone celebrate the occasion with us. Would it be proper? And may we send printed invitations to this? How should they be worded?

Answer: The reception may be as large as you wish, and the invitations printed as follows:

requested at a reception
on Tuesday, the fifth of August
at five o'clock
Glen Oak Country Club
In celebration of the remarriage
of
The John Henry Smiths

Girl Invited to Man's Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: A man from town here has invited me to a dance at his large university. This will necessitate my staying overnight and coming back the next day. He asked whether he should get me a room in a hotel or find one with a private family? Evidently I'm not staying with other guests. We know a family in this town, not too well, and I wondered if it might be better for me to ask them if they could put me up. If not, would a hotel or private family be more appropriate?

Answer: Unless you know the family intimately well, it would be an imposition to ask them to put you up. Since you're apparently staying alone and not with other guests, the room with the private family would seem to be more proper than the hotel.

Critic Hails Phyllis Frankel for Opera Role in Baltimore

A former resident, Phyllis Levey Frankel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Levey of Baltimore, and formerly of this city, was hailed as "lovely in appearance and voice," last Saturday night by Weldon Wallace, music critic for The Sun, (Baltimore, Md.), when Miss Frankel played in the role of Violetta in the Baltimore Civic Opera Company's latest production, Verdi's La Traviata.

"Miss Frankel," the critic continued, "brought a genuine theatrical flare to her singing and acting. . . . The natural timbre of her voice is limpid, warm and persuasive . . . her enactment caught the emotional fervor of the part and conveyed it vividly to the audience. This was not merely a learned role. It carried the conviction of feeling."

Miss Frankel is still a student, studying privately in Baltimore, and hopes to make the opera her career.

Study Club Hears Recorded Lecture

A tape recorded lecture by Dr. Marcella Lawlor, professor of education at Columbia University was presented by Dr. Ruth Northway, director of elementary education in the Kingston schools, Thursday night when Child Study Club No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. William Kelly, 165 Pearl street. Lang Syne Study Club of Stone Ridge met with group as their guests.

During the recorded address on modern trends in education, Dr. Lawlor spoke of the need of correlating the curriculum with the experiences and interests of the child. She stressed that each child in the classroom is a distinct individual, with varying rates of growth and development. It is therefore imperative, she said, that the educational process be geared to this variance. Dr. Northway acted as discussion leader after Dr. Lawlor's address.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Donald Swan, and Mrs. William Golden assisted the hostess with refreshments.

SERVING GUESTS

The rule of courtesy is easily applied to this situation: "In your column you've said it was rude to serve the hostess first when another lady is present. What when a husband passes refreshments around on a tray? Should he single out all the women in the room first and then go to his wife and then the men, or how?"

He should serve one of the ladies first and then from her go on around the room to ladies and gentlemen as they happen to come—his wife amongst them. Any other procedure would be awkward.

Remarrying Ex-Husband

Dear Mrs. Post: I am remarrying my ex-husband from whom I've been separated for three years at a very quiet ceremony in church. Neither has been married to anyone else. He has suggested we give a large reception and let everyone celebrate the occasion with us. Would it be proper? And may we send printed invitations to this? How should they be worded?

Answer: The reception may be as large as you wish, and the invitations printed as follows:

The pleasure of your company is requested at a reception
on Tuesday, the fifth of August
at five o'clock
Glen Oak Country Club
In celebration of the remarriage
of

Girl Invited to Man's Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: A man from town here has invited me to a dance at his large university. This will necessitate my staying overnight and coming back the next day. He asked whether he should get me a room in a hotel or find one with a private family? Evidently I'm not staying with other guests. We know a family in this town, not too well, and I wondered if it might be better for me to ask them if they could put me up. If not, would a hotel or private family be more appropriate?

Answer: Unless you know the family intimately well, it would be an imposition to ask them to put you up. Since you're apparently staying alone and not with other guests, the room with the private family would seem to be more proper than the hotel.

Critic Hails Phyllis Frankel for Opera Role in Baltimore

A former resident, Phyllis Levey Frankel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Levey of Baltimore, and formerly of this city, was hailed as "lovely in appearance and voice," last Saturday night by Weldon Wallace, music critic for The Sun, (Baltimore, Md.), when Miss Frankel played in the role of Violetta in the Baltimore Civic Opera Company's latest production, Verdi's La Traviata.

"Miss Frankel," the critic continued, "brought a genuine theatrical flare to her singing and acting. . . . The natural timbre of her voice is limpid, warm and persuasive . . . her enactment caught the emotional fervor of the part and conveyed it vividly to the audience. This was not merely a learned role. It carried the conviction of feeling."

Miss Frankel is still a student, studying privately in Baltimore, and hopes to make the opera her career.

It is therefore imperative, she said, that the educational process be geared to this variance. Dr. Northway acted as discussion leader after Dr. Lawlor's address.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Donald Swan, and Mrs. William Golden assisted the hostess with refreshments.

Mendelssohn Forms Basis for Program Of 'Y' Music Group

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Umpleby Thursday, the Music Appreciation Group of the YWCA heard "a rich and deeply stirring program" based on Mendelssohn's oratorio, Elijah.

Reminding her audience that in background and taste Mendelssohn was much like Mozart, Mrs. Byron Chatham continued to explain that his work Elijah was inspired by a chance reading of the text: "Behold the Lord passed by."

Elijah, which was presented in 1847 in London before Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, won universal praise. It was hailed not only for its beauty, the speaker explained, but for its dramatic and moving events which were drawn from the text of the First Book of Kings, where Elijah is represented as a man of great religious fervor and leadership.

Biblical Background

The next speaker, Mrs. William Ochs, sketched the Biblical background, and called attention to the state of Israel during the reign of Solomon, when, despite the Lord's ultimatum that evil would befall the people if they forsook their God, Solomon allowed his foreign wives to turn him to the worship of idols.

Other forms of corruption flourished, Mrs. Ochs continued, and the Lord was angry. Elijah found himself chosen to be the leader and exhorter of Israel, and going, as he had been told, to the home of a widow and her son, he performed miracles revealing he was a true man of God.

After an interval of preparation for his ministry, the speaker said, Elijah adressed the Israelites, commanding them to choose between Baal and God. This, she added, is the climax reached with the revelation of "the still, small voice."

Selections Heard

The widow's plea, What Have I to Do With Thee, from Part 1, was then sung by Mrs. Ralph Harper, accompanied by Mrs. C. Franklin Pierce. Next, an antiphonal effect was achieved as Mrs. Ochs spoke the lines of the prophet Elijah.

Recordings, Lord God of Abraham, sung by Norman Cordon, and Thanks Be to God, sung by the Huddersfield Choral Society were played. Recordings chosen from Part 2 were: Hear Ye, O Israel, Isabel Bailey; It Is Enough, Harold Williams; See Now He Sleepeth, James Jameson; Rest in the Lord, Marian Anderson; Behold, the Lord Passeth By, the Huddersfield Choral Society.

At the business meeting preceding the program, the group voted to write its congressman urging the passage of a bill to exempt the Metropolitan Opera and Symphony from the 20 per cent federal admissions tax.

New officers for the '51-'52 season are as follows: Mrs. Boyd N. Williams, chairman; Mrs. William Jackson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Alfred Schmid, secretary; Mrs. Charles Brandt, treasurer.

It was announced that Mrs. Raymond Craft will be program chairman, and Mrs. Rachel Smith will serve as chairman of hostesses. Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw and Mrs. George Ross were appointed joint press chairmen by Mrs. Williams.

Health for All

The "Unknown Case" of TB

The chronic communicable disease, tuberculosis, ranks first as the cause of death among infectious diseases and kills more young people between 15 and 35 than any other disease.

To cut down on the frightful toll in lives and suffering which tuberculosis takes, we must prevent the spread of the disease from person to person. To check the spread of tuberculosis, everyone who has the disease in an active form must be found and placed under treatment.

It is estimated that there are half a million cases of tuberculosis in this country. Of this total, only half are known to the health authorities. This means that there remain a quarter of a million "unknown cases"—people not known to the health authorities, most of whom are not under treatment and many of whom do not even know they are ill.

A person can have tuberculosis without knowing it. The onset of tuberculosis is usually slow and the disease may be in an advanced stage when the symptoms become obvious. Therefore, the search for unknown cases must be made among apparently healthy people. And one of the major aids in finding unknown cases of tuberculosis is the chest X-ray.

The chest X-ray, a "photograph" of a person's lungs, can show up suspicious shadows in the lungs of a sick person long before the victim feels ill or shows symptoms of the disease. The X-ray is widely used today in searching out unknown cases of tuberculosis among large groups of apparently healthy people. The development of X-ray machines using miniature film has made possible the screening even of whole communities in comparatively short periods of time.

When suspicious shadows show up on the small film, a larger film is taken for more detailed study. If the larger film then indicates signs of disease, further tests are made before final diagnosis. If a diagnosis of tuberculosis is made, steps can be taken to help that person get prompt treatment. The patient thus has a better chance of regaining his health than if his disease had gone on undiscovered until it reached an advanced stage. At the same time, the chance of his spreading TB are reduced when the disease is discovered early.

If every adult had a chest X-ray at least once a year, there would be no "unknown cases" of tuberculosis, and most cases of the disease would be discovered in an early stage. When that happens, we shall be a long way toward eradicating tuberculosis in this country.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street in Kingston.

Lightweight Coats Herald Spring

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York—(NEA) — Lightweight wool is cut into both the topper and the greatcoat this spring. A wool that weighs only 12 ounces a yard, for instance, may have the texture look of a fine, heavy fleece. And a greatcoat cut in this porous wool weighs little more than a dressmaker suit.

A handsome topper designed (left) by Mangone is pure white virgin wool, suitable for summer as well as spring. Mangone gives this topper a long revere collar, detailed sleeves with split cuffs and beautiful white bone buttons. The deep pockets are slanted and detailed to harmonize with the cuffs.

In practically every British mystery film ever made, the sleuth turns up at some point in a greatcoat. Monte-Sano has done the feminine version of a greatcoat (right) this spring. It's a distinct departure from the well-known pyramid.

It's a coat with character, light in weight, yet having the necessary bulky look of the greatcoat. The appearance of fullness is gained by a gored skirt and back. Cuffs are deeply turned back and the collar has long flaring points to be worn curved under or spread wing-wise. Bodice panels are used just above the waistline.

SOFT FULLNESS STRESSED IN SUMMER COTTONS

New York — (NEA) — Though the predominant skirt in the cotton dress collections is the slim one, there are enough full skirts to make not a trend, but just a trend toward a trend.

Dresses from the collections of three American designers stress the point. Sylvan Rich, in doing a bolero ensemble in French gray linen, uses not the expected slim skirt but a full skirt falling into soft folds. The bolero, like the dress itself, has blue yarn saddle stitching as trim. The bolero hides a sun-top.

A sleeveless brown broadcloth dress by Betty Barclay has the full skirt, this time given an inverted pleat that starts at the waistline. High, round neck and armholes are banded in white pique. Deep pockets, too, have pique trim.

Jerry Parnis, in doing a novelty striped pique, uses white with a purple stripe. A one-piece dress with a pyramid decollette, it has shoulder cap sleeves. The skirt is deceptively full, made soft by wide box pleats that start at the waistline.

Checking Chevalier Bid to Enter U. S.

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The Justice Department is studying an application from Maurice Chevalier, famous French Music Hall artist, to come to the United States.

State Department officials said the application is being scrutinized to see whether Chevalier is barred from admission by the 1950 Internar Security (McCarran) Act.

That law blocks entry of aliens who are, or at any time have been, members of—or affiliated with—the Communist Party or any other totalitarian organization.

It was reported yesterday from Paris that Chevalier had applied two months ago for a visa so he could make a movie in Hollywood.

He is due in Montreal, Canada, by ship next Tuesday.

MOTHER'S DAY STYLES FEATURE SUBTLE FLATTERY

These are designs intended to make a young matron look her prettiest on Mother's Day. Two-piece jacket dress (above) is pale blue, has top in cotton lace.

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York—(NEA)—The prettiest girl on the avenue on Mother's Day will be, of course, mother. She'll wear fashions designed especially for the trim, mature figure.

Pure silk shantung, a fabric that's well-loved this spring, makes a dress with diagonal lines in a warm golden tan. A diagonal closing begins at the neckline and, with self buttons, continues to the hem. The collar is cut double. A large, cuffed, elephant-ear pocket adds skirt interest.

The delicate colors of one pure silk print would make it exactly right for the mother with a fragile look. In shades of iris and forget-me-not blue, it has slim lines and a brief bolero packet. Both jacket and neckline of the sheath dress under it are sprinkled with twinkling blue sequins in various shades of blue. The bolero has a flat notched collar and three-quarter-length sleeves.

Pale blue, a lovely color for the young matron whose hair is blonde, is used for a trim two-piece dress. The belted jacket is in cotton lace with collar, cuffs, belt, front binding and pocket flaps in the linen of the straight skirt.

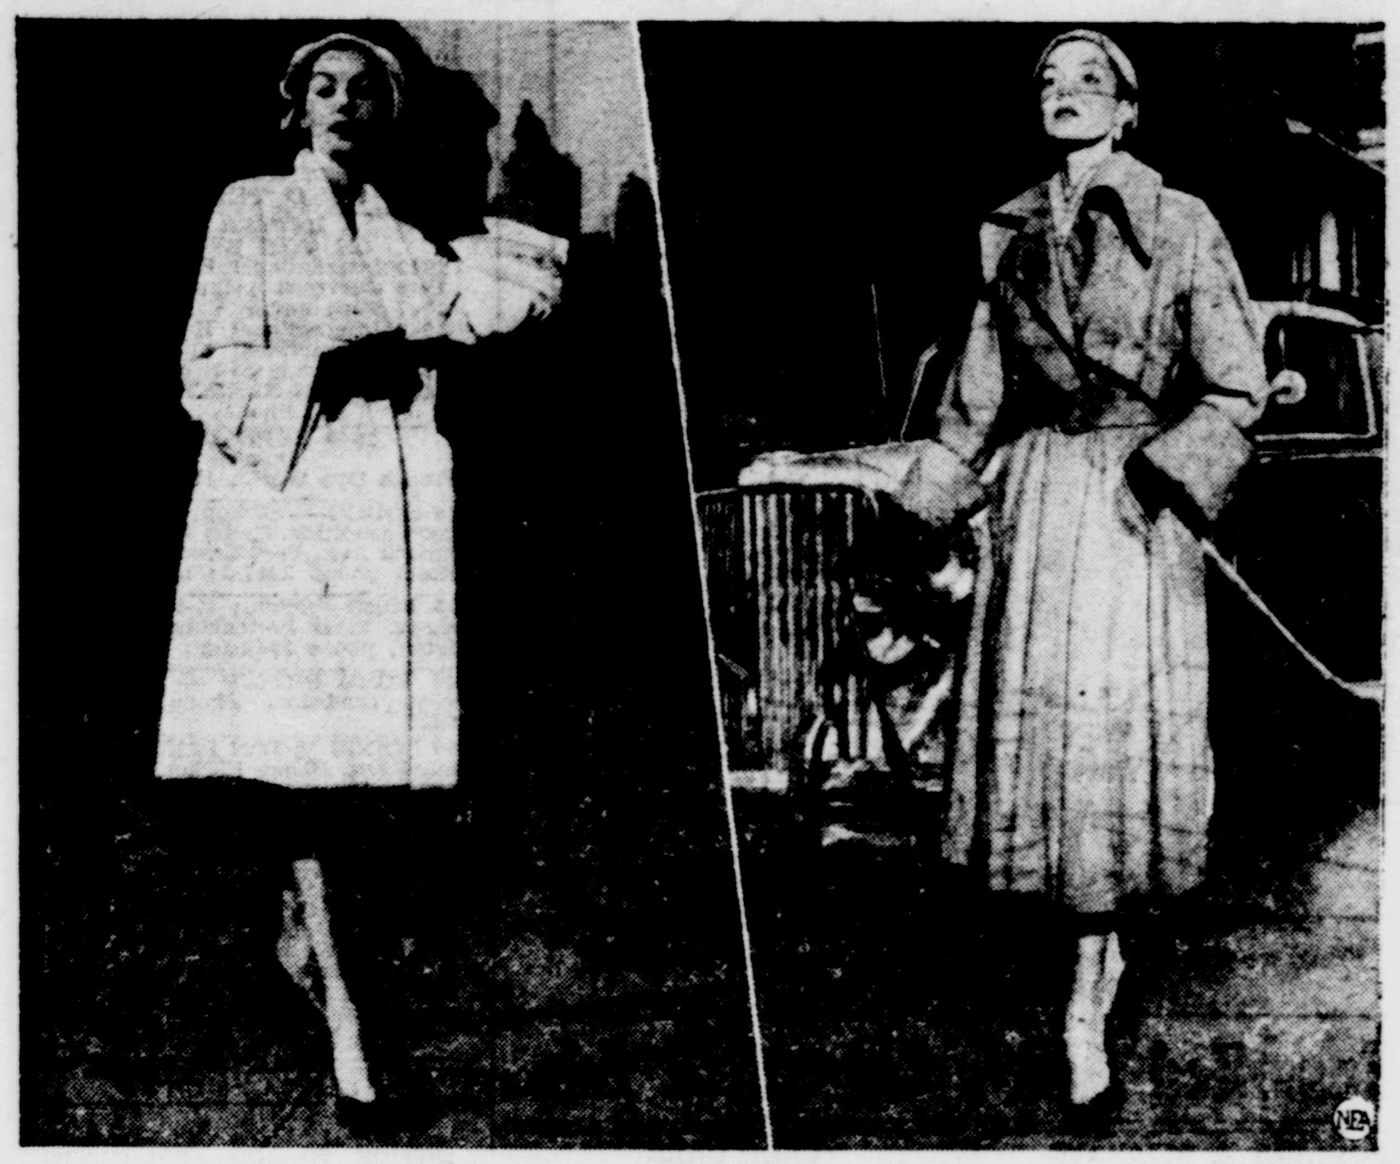
Lightweight Coats Herald Spring



By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

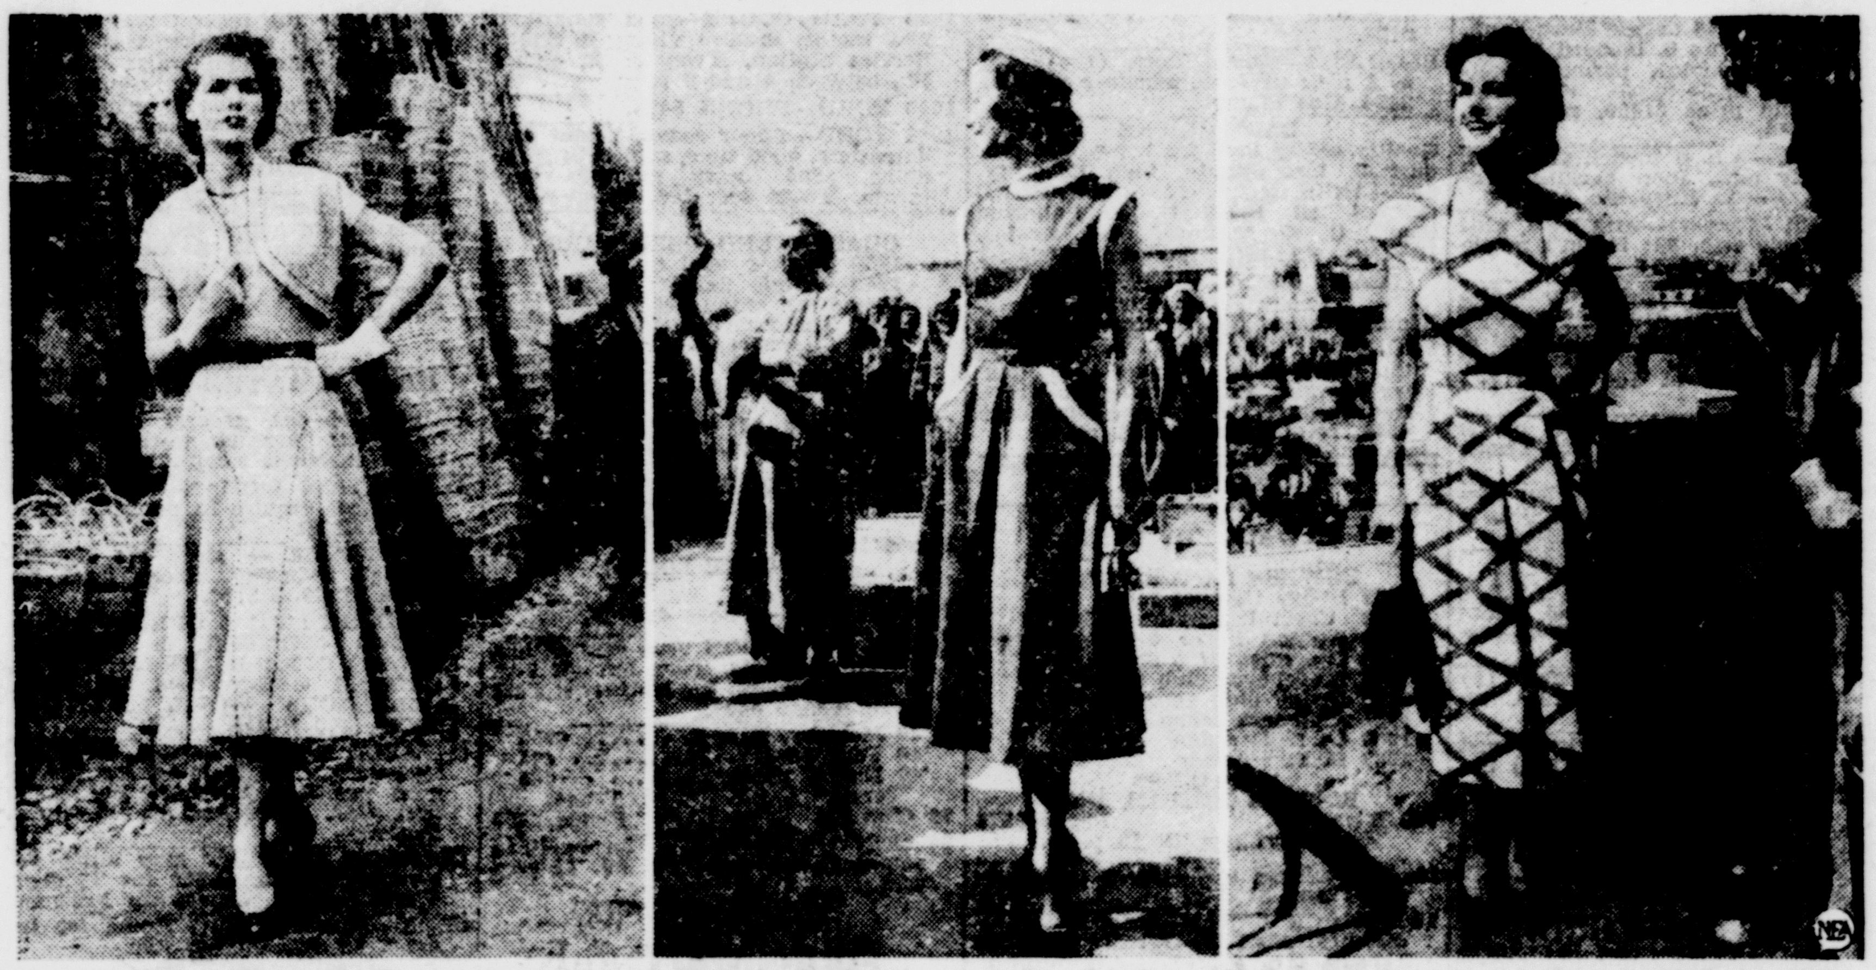
New York—(NEA) — Lightweight wool is cut into both the topper and the greatcoat this spring. A wool that weighs only 12 ounces a yard, for instance, may have the texture look of a fine, heavy fleece. And a greatcoat cut in this porous wool weighs little more than a dressmaker suit.

A handsome topper designed (left) by Mangone is pure white virgin wool, suitable for summer as well as spring. Mangone gives this topper a long revere collar, detailed sleeves with split cuffs and beautiful white bone buttons. The deep pockets are slanted and detailed to harmonize with the cuffs.

In practically every British mystery film ever made, the sleuth turns up at some point in a greatcoat. Monte-Sano has done the feminine version of a greatcoat (right) this spring. It's a distinct departure from the well-known pyramid.

It's a coat with character, light in weight, yet having the necessary bulky look of the greatcoat. The appearance of fullness is gained by a gored skirt and back. Cuffs are deeply turned back and the collar has long flaring points to be worn curved under or spread wing-wise. Bodice panels are used just above the waistline.

SOFT FULLNESS STRESSED IN SUMMER COTTONS



These dresses, shown in the exotic setting of Marrakech, North Africa, are by American designers. One girl (left) is photographed at the Mart of the Medina wearing French gray linen by Sylvan Rich. It's a full-skirted bolero ensemble. A second (center) watches a snake charmer. She wears sleeveless brown banded in white pique. It's a Betty Barclay design. The third girl (right) wears a novelty striped pique by Jerry Parnis in white-and-purple with smooth bodice and easy skirt. Nearby is a native water carrier.

A sleeveless brown broadcloth dress by Betty Barclay has the full skirt, this time given an inverted pleat that starts at the waistline. High, round neck and armholes are banded in white pique. Deep pockets, too, have pique trim.

Jerry Parnis, in doing a novelty striped pique, uses white with a purple stripe. A one-piece dress with a pyramid decollette, it has shoulder cap sleeves. The skirt is deceptively full, made soft by wide box pleats that start at the waistline.

Checking Chevalier Bid to Enter U. S.

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The Justice Department is studying an application from Maurice Chevalier, famous French Music Hall artist, to come to the United States.

State Department officials said the application is being scrutinized to see whether Chevalier is barred from admission by the 1950 Internar Security (McCarran) Act.

That law blocks entry of aliens who are, or at any time have been, members of—or affiliated with—the Communist Party or any other totalitarian organization.

It was reported yesterday from Paris that Chevalier had applied two months ago for a visa so he could make a movie in Hollywood.

He is due in Montreal, Canada, by ship next Tuesday.

New York—(NEA)—The prettiest girl on the avenue on Mother's Day will be, of course, mother. She'll wear fashions designed especially for the trim, mature figure.

Pure silk shantung, a fabric that's well-loved this spring, makes a dress with diagonal lines in a warm golden tan. A diagonal closing begins at the neckline and, with self buttons, continues to the hem. The collar is cut double. A large, cuffed, elephant-ear pocket adds skirt interest.

The delicate colors of one pure silk print would make it exactly right for the mother with a fragile look. In shades of iris and forget-me-not blue, it has slim lines and a brief bolero packet. Both jacket and neckline of the sheath dress under it are sprinkled with twinkling blue sequins in various shades of blue. The bolero has a flat notched collar and three-quarter-length sleeves.

Pale blue, a lovely color for the young matron whose hair is blonde, is used for a trim two-piece dress. The belted jacket is in cotton lace with collar, cuffs, belt, front binding and pocket flaps in the linen of the straight skirt.

Mendelssohn Forms Basis for Program Of 'Y' Music Group

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Umpleby Thursday, the Music Appreciation Group of the YWCA heard "a rich and deeply stirring program" based on Mendelssohn's oratorio, Elijah.

Reminding her audience that in background and taste Mendelssohn was much like Mozart, Mrs. Byron Chatham continued to explain that his work Elijah was inspired by a chance reading of the text: "Behold the Lord passed by."

Elijah, which was presented in 1847 in London before Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, won universal praise. It was hailed not only for its beauty, the speaker explained, but for its dramatic and moving events which were drawn from the text of the First Book of Kings, where Elijah is represented as a man of great religious fervor and leadership.

Biblical Background

The next speaker, Mrs. William Ochs, sketched the Biblical background, and called attention to the state of Israel during the reign of Solomon, when, despite the Lord's ultimatum that evil would befall the people if they forsook their God, Solomon allowed his foreign wives to turn him to the worship of idols.

Other forms of corruption flourished, Mrs. Ochs continued, and the Lord was angry. Elijah found himself chosen to be the leader and exhorter of Israel, and going, as he had been told, to the home of a widow and her son, he performed miracles revealing he was a true man of God.

After an interval of preparation for his ministry, the speaker said, Elijah adressed the Israelites, commanding them to choose between Baal and God. This, she added, is the climax reached with the revelation of "the still, small voice."

Selections Heard

The widow's plea, What Have I to Do With Thee, from Part 1, was then sung by Mrs. Ralph Harper, accompanied by Mrs. C. Franklin Pierce. Next, an antiphonal effect was achieved as Mrs. Ochs spoke the lines of the prophet Elijah.

Recordings, Lord God of Abraham, sung by Norman Cordon, and Thanks Be to God, sung by the Huddersfield Choral Society were played. Recordings chosen from Part 2 were: Hear Ye, O Israel, Isabel Bailey; It Is Enough, Harold Williams; See Now He Sleepeth, James Jameson; Rest in the Lord, Marian Anderson; Behold, the Lord Passeth By, the Huddersfield Choral Society.

At the business meeting preceding the program, the group voted to write its congressman urging the passage of a bill to exempt the Metropolitan Opera and Symphony from the 20 per cent federal admissions tax.

New officers for the '51-'52 season are as follows: Mrs. Boyd N. Williams, chairman; Mrs. William Jackson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Alfred Schmid, secretary; Mrs. Charles Brandt, treasurer.

It was announced that Mrs. Raymond Craft will be program chairman, and Mrs. Rachel Smith will serve as chairman of hostesses. Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw and Mrs. George Ross were appointed joint press chairmen by Mrs. Williams.

Health for All

The "Unknown Case" of TB

The chronic communicable disease, tuberculosis, ranks first as the cause of death among infectious diseases and kills more young people between 15 and 35 than any other disease.

To cut down on the frightful toll in lives and suffering which tuberculosis takes, we must prevent the spread of the disease from person to person. To check the spread of tuberculosis, everyone who has the disease in an active form must be found and placed under treatment.

It is estimated that there are half a million cases of tuberculosis in this country. Of this total, only half are known to the health authorities. This means that there remain a quarter of a million "unknown cases"—people not known to the health authorities, most of whom are not under treatment and many of whom do not even know they are ill.

A person can have tuberculosis without knowing it. The onset of tuberculosis is usually slow and the disease may be in an advanced stage when the symptoms become obvious. Therefore, the search for unknown cases must be made among apparently healthy people. And one of the major aids in finding unknown cases of tuberculosis is the chest X-ray.

The chest X-ray, a "photograph" of a person's lungs, can show up suspicious shadows in the lungs of a sick person long before the victim feels ill or shows symptoms of the disease. The X-ray is widely used today in searching out unknown cases of tuberculosis among large groups of apparently healthy people. The development of X-ray machines using miniature film has made possible the screening even of whole communities in comparatively short periods of time.

When suspicious shadows show up on the small film, a larger film is taken for more detailed study. If the larger film then indicates signs of disease, further tests are made before final diagnosis. If a diagnosis of tuberculosis is made, steps can be taken to help that person get prompt treatment. The patient thus has a better chance of regaining his health than if his disease had gone on undiscovered until it reached an advanced stage. At the same time, the chance of his spreading TB are reduced when the disease is discovered early.

If every adult had a chest X-ray at least once a year, there would be no "unknown cases" of tuberculosis, and most cases of the disease would be discovered in an early stage. When that happens, we shall be a long way toward eradicating tuberculosis in this country.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street in Kingston.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's a Lesson In Good Bidding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a New York reader. "When this hand was played in the Eastern States tournament recently, South won the opening spade lead and promptly led a club for a finesse of dummy's ten. East won and laid down the ace and king of diamonds.

"West went into a deep huddle over the play to the second round of diamonds, but finally decided to drop his jack. East thereupon ran three more diamond tricks, setting the contract two tricks.

"Isn't four hearts a sounder contract? If so, how should it be bid?"

Four hearts is a sounder contract, but it should be observed that it depends on a successful club guess. If South had guessed the queen of clubs at no-trump, he would have brought home nine tricks without any difficulty.

However, the club guess is easier when hearts are trumps. Declarer can discover very early that East has a singleton heart. He then plays East for possible length in clubs, and the queen of clubs is thus easily picked up.

The game in hearts is easily reached if South cue-bids two spades instead of bidding two no-trump. North can then go to three clubs, after which South belatedly shows heart support by bidding three hearts.

At this point each member of the partnership has had a chance to show diamond strength by bidding no-trump. Since each had ducked that responsibility it should be clear that the necessary diamond stopper simply doesn't exist. North therefore goes to game in hearts rather than in no-trump.

Gives HST Trouble Then Drawbridge

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A drawbridge added itself last night to the Republicans, Southern Democrats, General MacArthur and booing baseball fans disturbing the even tenor of Mr. Truman's presidential life.

Mr. Truman set out at 8:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) for a quiet weekend cruise in his yach Williamsburg.

The President boarded the Williamsburg at the naval gun factory in Washington on the Anacostia river, tributary to the Potomac. The Williamsburg headed down the Anacostia.

The South Capitol street drawbridge started to open for the presidential yacht. Partly up, it stuck.

The Williamsburg and the President turned back to the naval gun factory and didn't get into the Potomac until two hours later, when workmen got the recalcitrant bridge to work.

The President was booed by part of the crowd when he went out to the ball park earlier in the day to toss in the first ball of the game between Washington and the New York Yankees.

There was also scattered clapping, but the Washington "Star" called it the "coldest reception ever given a chief executive at an opening baseball game."

The Chief Executive shrugged off the boos with a grin and ate a hot dog.

Tariff Negotiations

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The United States has negotiated new tariff agreements with 17 key western nations. In announcing this today, the State Department said the adjusted rates will be made public May 9. Britain, for the first time, was not among the nations with whom the U. S. swapped tariff concesions, American and British negotiators failed to reach agreement at the trade conference which opened at Torquay, England last September 28. A total of 32 nations took part in the negotiations.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's a Lesson In Good Bidding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a New York reader. "When this hand was played in the Eastern States tournament recently, South won the opening spade lead and promptly led a club for a finesse of dummy's ten. East won and laid down the ace and king of diamonds.

"West went into a deep huddle over the play to the second round of diamonds, but finally decided to drop his jack. East thereupon ran three more diamond tricks, setting the contract two tricks.

"Isn't four hearts a sounder contract? If so, how should it be bid?"

Four hearts is a sounder contract, but it should be observed that it depends on a successful club guess. If South had guessed the queen of clubs at no-trump, he would have brought home nine tricks without any difficulty.

However, the club guess is easier when hearts are trumps. Declarer can discover very early that East has a singleton heart. He then plays East for possible length in clubs, and the queen of clubs is thus easily picked up.

The game in hearts is easily reached if South cue-bids two spades instead of bidding two no-trump. North can then go to three clubs, after which South belatedly shows heart support by bidding three hearts.

At this point each member of the partnership has had a chance to show diamond strength by bidding no-trump. Since each had ducked that responsibility it should be clear that the necessary diamond stopper simply doesn't exist. North therefore goes to game in hearts rather than in no-trump.

Gives HST Trouble Then Drawbridge

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A drawbridge added itself last night to the Republicans, Southern Democrats, General MacArthur and booing baseball fans disturbing the even tenor of Mr. Truman's presidential life.

Mr. Truman set out at 8:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) for a quiet weekend cruise in his yach Williamsburg.

The President boarded the Williamsburg at the naval gun factory in Washington on the Anacostia river, tributary to the Potomac. The Williamsburg headed down the Anacostia.

The South Capitol street drawbridge started to open for the presidential yacht. Partly up, it stuck.

The Williamsburg and the President turned back to the naval gun factory and didn't get into the Potomac until two hours later, when workmen got the recalcitrant bridge to work.

The President was booed by part of the crowd when he went out to the ball park earlier in the day to toss in the first ball of the game between Washington and the New York Yankees.

There was also scattered clapping, but the Washington "Star" called it the "coldest reception ever given a chief executive at an opening baseball game."

The Chief Executive shrugged off the boos with a grin and ate a hot dog.

Tariff Negotiations

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The United States has negotiated new tariff agreements with 17 key western nations. In announcing this today, the State Department said the adjusted rates will be made public May 9. Britain, for the first time, was not among the nations with whom the U. S. swapped tariff concesions, American and British negotiators failed to reach agreement at the trade conference which opened at Torquay, England last September 28. A total of 32 nations took part in the negotiations.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's a Lesson In Good Bidding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a New York reader. "When this hand was played in the Eastern States tournament recently, South won the opening spade lead and promptly led a club for a finesse of dummy's ten. East won and laid down the ace and king of diamonds.

"West went into a deep huddle over the play to the second round of diamonds, but finally decided to drop his jack. East thereupon ran three more diamond tricks, setting the contract two tricks.

"Isn't four hearts a sounder contract? If so, how should it be bid?"

Four hearts is a sounder contract, but it should be observed that it depends on a successful club guess. If South had guessed the queen of clubs at no-trump, he would have brought home nine tricks without any difficulty.

However, the club guess is easier when hearts are trumps. Declarer can discover very early that East has a singleton heart. He then plays East for possible length in clubs, and the queen of clubs is thus easily picked up.

The game in hearts is easily reached if South cue-bids two spades instead of bidding two no-trump. North can then go to three clubs, after which South belatedly shows heart support by bidding three hearts.

At this point each member of the partnership has had a chance to show diamond strength by bidding no-trump. Since each had ducked that responsibility it should be clear that the necessary diamond stopper simply doesn't exist. North therefore goes to game in hearts rather than in no-trump.

Gives HST Trouble Then Drawbridge

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A drawbridge added itself last night to the Republicans, Southern Democrats, General MacArthur and booing baseball fans disturbing the even tenor of Mr. Truman's presidential life.

Mr. Truman set out at 8:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) for a quiet weekend cruise in his yach Williamsburg.

The President boarded the Williamsburg at the naval gun factory in Washington on the Anacostia river, tributary to the Potomac. The Williamsburg headed down the Anacostia.

The South Capitol street drawbridge started to open for the presidential yacht. Partly up, it stuck.

The Williamsburg and the President turned back to the naval gun factory and didn't get into the Potomac until two hours later, when workmen got the recalcitrant bridge to work.

The President was booed by part of the crowd when he went out to the ball park earlier in the day to toss in the first ball of the game between Washington and the New York Yankees.

There was also scattered clapping, but the Washington "Star" called it the "coldest reception ever given a chief executive at an opening baseball game."

The Chief Executive shrugged off the boos with a grin and ate a hot dog.

Tariff Negotiations

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The United States has negotiated new tariff agreements with 17 key western nations. In announcing this today, the State Department said the adjusted rates will be made public May 9. Britain, for the first time, was not among the nations with whom the U. S. swapped tariff concesions, American and British negotiators failed to reach agreement at the trade conference which opened at Torquay, England last September 28. A total of 32 nations took part in the negotiations.

The Weather

SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1951

Sun rises at 4:54 a. m.; sun sets at 6:32 p. m., E.S.T.

Weather, fair.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 36 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 56 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Mostly sunny today; temperatures about the same as yesterday, high in the low 60s. Fair, seasonable temperatures tonight, low in the mid-40s. Becoming cloudy Sunday, chance of showers late in the day. Afternoon temperatures mostly in the 50s. Gentle to moderate variable winds this morning, becoming southeasterly late this afternoon and moderate to fresh southeast to south Sunday.

THREATENING

Eastern New York—Fair today; high in the mid-50s. Increasing cloudiness and milder tonight and Sunday followed by showers Sunday afternoon or night. Low tonight 35 to 40.

Mayor Signs Sales Tax, Only Way to Get Balance

New York, April 21 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri "regretfully" signed the New York city sales tax increase bill into law last night and then boarded a boat for a vacation on the Isle of Pines, an island near Cuba.

After a 50-minute public hearing in his office, attended by seven persons, the mayor also signed the companion compensating use tax bill. The latter measure requires residents to pay a sales tax on purchases made outside the city limits.

The laws become effective May 1 and expire June 30, 1952. During that period, sales tax collections jump from two to three per cent.

Before signing the bills, Impellitteri said the city may have to impose additional taxes in order to balance the 1951-1952 executive budget.

Saying he had given the bills close consideration, the mayor added:

"I am convinced it is the only means the city has to balance the budget, pay the $250 cost-of-living bonus to city employes and meet pension payments and mandated increases to city school teachers."

The tax increase is expected to yield approximately $60,000,000 annually.

Enough for Increase

Washington, April 20 (AP)—The government's cost of living index is reported today to have gone up enough over Sept. 15 levels to give 70,000 CIO electrical workers at General Electric plants a nine cent hourly wage increase. The latest index—for March 15—will not be announced officially until Sunday of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which compiles it. But persons familiar with the figures told a reporter it has risen to around 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That would put it 0.7 percentage points above Feb. 15 and 10.7 points above Sept. 15.

Still Deadlocked

Paris, April 21 (AP)—The four-power deputies ended their seventh week of talks today, still deadlocked in their efforts to draw up an agenda for a foreign ministers' conference. Western spokesmen said there was no new development at today's meeting, their 35th since March 5.

'Round-the-World' Dinner Tuesday

The Kingston Y.W.C.A.'s "Round-the-World" dinner will be held at the Albany avenue Baptist Church on the second anniversary of World's Y.W.C.A. Day on Tuesday, April 24, it was announced today by Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee.

A feature of National Y.W.C.A. Week, observed this year from April 22 to 28, this particular day takes on added significance because it will be celebrated by Y.W.C.A.'s around the globe. Its theme, chosen by the World's Y.W.C.A. planning committee in Canada last summer, is "To find my place in the world, as a woman, as a Christian and as a citizen."

"Since the Y.W. is an international organization with associations in 65 countries," Mrs. Thompson said, "our association here in Kingston will give an international flavor to the dinner by not only serving the favorite dishes of 14 foreign countries, besides the United States, but by many attending the dinner in their native dress.

"The menu will consist of delectable dishes from the following countries: America, Hungary, Germany, Scandinavia, France, Italy, China, Japan, Palestine, Spain, Holland, Estonia, Greece and Poland. There will again be Keufta, the Armenian national dish, made throughout the Holy Land. This food is descended to us from ancient times and was served to King David. It comes from the "Land of Tyre" which is the ancient name of Armenia." This and many other foods with their recipes will be at the Round-the-World dinner.

Supper tickets may be secured through any member of the Y.W.C.A. or by phoning the Y.W. office (1911). Servings at 5:30 and 6:30.

Home Service Plan Is Outstanding in Red Cross Program

The Red Cross home service program of family service continues to be one of the outstanding programs of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Ethel K. Wood, director of the project.

Today, as in the past, servicemen and their dependents continue to visit the home service department at chapter headquarters, 308 Clinton avenue, and avail themselves of the services offered in connection with the many problems resulting from military service.

The services provided in this pogram of social welfare includes counseling in personal and family problems, reporting and communications service, assistance with claims for government benefits, referral service to other community sources of help. Also financial assistance on the basis of need.

For disabled veterans and their families, also dependents of deceased servicemen and veterans, the same well-rounded program of family service is provided.

Home service also makes available the American Red Cross inquiry service to individuals who are seeking information concerning persons in foreign countries, or who wish to send messages of a personal nature to relatives and friends where regular communication channels have failed or an emergency exists.

Citizenship, settlement or legal residence is not a prerequisite for assistance of any kind from Red Cross home service.

Mayor Signs Sales Tax, Only Way to Get Balance

New York, April 21 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri "regretfully" signed the New York city sales tax increase bill into law last night and then boarded a boat for a vacation on the Isle of Pines, an island near Cuba.

After a 50-minute public hearing in his office, attended by seven persons, the mayor also signed the companion compensating use tax bill. The latter measure requires residents to pay a sales tax on purchases made outside the city limits.

The laws become effective May 1 and expire June 30, 1952. During that period, sales tax collections jump from two to three per cent.

Before signing the bills, Impellitteri said the city may have to impose additional taxes in order to balance the 1951-1952 executive budget.

Saying he had given the bills close consideration, the mayor added:

"I am convinced it is the only means the city has to balance the budget, pay the $250 cost-of-living bonus to city employes and meet pension payments and mandated increases to city school teachers."

The tax increase is expected to yield approximately $60,000,000 annually.

Enough for Increase

Washington, April 20 (AP)—The government's cost of living index is reported today to have gone up enough over Sept. 15 levels to give 70,000 CIO electrical workers at General Electric plants a nine cent hourly wage increase. The latest index—for March 15—will not be announced officially until Sunday of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which compiles it. But persons familiar with the figures told a reporter it has risen to around 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That would put it 0.7 percentage points above Feb. 15 and 10.7 points above Sept. 15.

Still Deadlocked

Paris, April 21 (AP)—The four-power deputies ended their seventh week of talks today, still deadlocked in their efforts to draw up an agenda for a foreign ministers' conference. Western spokesmen said there was no new development at today's meeting, their 35th since March 5.

'Round-the-World' Dinner Tuesday

The Kingston Y.W.C.A.'s "Round-the-World" dinner will be held at the Albany avenue Baptist Church on the second anniversary of World's Y.W.C.A. Day on Tuesday, April 24, it was announced today by Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee.

A feature of National Y.W.C.A. Week, observed this year from April 22 to 28, this particular day takes on added significance because it will be celebrated by Y.W.C.A.'s around the globe. Its theme, chosen by the World's Y.W.C.A. planning committee in Canada last summer, is "To find my place in the world, as a woman, as a Christian and as a citizen."

"Since the Y.W. is an international organization with associations in 65 countries," Mrs. Thompson said, "our association here in Kingston will give an international flavor to the dinner by not only serving the favorite dishes of 14 foreign countries, besides the United States, but by many attending the dinner in their native dress.

"The menu will consist of delectable dishes from the following countries: America, Hungary, Germany, Scandinavia, France, Italy, China, Japan, Palestine, Spain, Holland, Estonia, Greece and Poland. There will again be Keufta, the Armenian national dish, made throughout the Holy Land. This food is descended to us from ancient times and was served to King David. It comes from the "Land of Tyre" which is the ancient name of Armenia." This and many other foods with their recipes will be at the Round-the-World dinner.

Supper tickets may be secured through any member of the Y.W.C.A. or by phoning the Y.W. office (1911). Servings at 5:30 and 6:30.

Home Service Plan Is Outstanding in Red Cross Program

The Red Cross home service program of family service continues to be one of the outstanding programs of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Ethel K. Wood, director of the project.

Today, as in the past, servicemen and their dependents continue to visit the home service department at chapter headquarters, 308 Clinton avenue, and avail themselves of the services offered in connection with the many problems resulting from military service.

The services provided in this pogram of social welfare includes counseling in personal and family problems, reporting and communications service, assistance with claims for government benefits, referral service to other community sources of help. Also financial assistance on the basis of need.

For disabled veterans and their families, also dependents of deceased servicemen and veterans, the same well-rounded program of family service is provided.

Home service also makes available the American Red Cross inquiry service to individuals who are seeking information concerning persons in foreign countries, or who wish to send messages of a personal nature to relatives and friends where regular communication channels have failed or an emergency exists.

Citizenship, settlement or legal residence is not a prerequisite for assistance of any kind from Red Cross home service.

Mayor Signs Sales Tax, Only Way to Get Balance

New York, April 21 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri "regretfully" signed the New York city sales tax increase bill into law last night and then boarded a boat for a vacation on the Isle of Pines, an island near Cuba.

After a 50-minute public hearing in his office, attended by seven persons, the mayor also signed the companion compensating use tax bill. The latter measure requires residents to pay a sales tax on purchases made outside the city limits.

The laws become effective May 1 and expire June 30, 1952. During that period, sales tax collections jump from two to three per cent.

Before signing the bills, Impellitteri said the city may have to impose additional taxes in order to balance the 1951-1952 executive budget.

Saying he had given the bills close consideration, the mayor added:

"I am convinced it is the only means the city has to balance the budget, pay the $250 cost-of-living bonus to city employes and meet pension payments and mandated increases to city school teachers."

The tax increase is expected to yield approximately $60,000,000 annually.

Enough for Increase

Washington, April 20 (AP)—The government's cost of living index is reported today to have gone up enough over Sept. 15 levels to give 70,000 CIO electrical workers at General Electric plants a nine cent hourly wage increase. The latest index—for March 15—will not be announced officially until Sunday of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which compiles it. But persons familiar with the figures told a reporter it has risen to around 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That would put it 0.7 percentage points above Feb. 15 and 10.7 points above Sept. 15.

Still Deadlocked

Paris, April 21 (AP)—The four-power deputies ended their seventh week of talks today, still deadlocked in their efforts to draw up an agenda for a foreign ministers' conference. Western spokesmen said there was no new development at today's meeting, their 35th since March 5.

'Round-the-World' Dinner Tuesday

The Kingston Y.W.C.A.'s "Round-the-World" dinner will be held at the Albany avenue Baptist Church on the second anniversary of World's Y.W.C.A. Day on Tuesday, April 24, it was announced today by Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee.

A feature of National Y.W.C.A. Week, observed this year from April 22 to 28, this particular day takes on added significance because it will be celebrated by Y.W.C.A.'s around the globe. Its theme, chosen by the World's Y.W.C.A. planning committee in Canada last summer, is "To find my place in the world, as a woman, as a Christian and as a citizen."

"Since the Y.W. is an international organization with associations in 65 countries," Mrs. Thompson said, "our association here in Kingston will give an international flavor to the dinner by not only serving the favorite dishes of 14 foreign countries, besides the United States, but by many attending the dinner in their native dress.

"The menu will consist of delectable dishes from the following countries: America, Hungary, Germany, Scandinavia, France, Italy, China, Japan, Palestine, Spain, Holland, Estonia, Greece and Poland. There will again be Keufta, the Armenian national dish, made throughout the Holy Land. This food is descended to us from ancient times and was served to King David. It comes from the "Land of Tyre" which is the ancient name of Armenia." This and many other foods with their recipes will be at the Round-the-World dinner.

Supper tickets may be secured through any member of the Y.W.C.A. or by phoning the Y.W. office (1911). Servings at 5:30 and 6:30.

Home Service Plan Is Outstanding in Red Cross Program

The Red Cross home service program of family service continues to be one of the outstanding programs of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Ethel K. Wood, director of the project.

Today, as in the past, servicemen and their dependents continue to visit the home service department at chapter headquarters, 308 Clinton avenue, and avail themselves of the services offered in connection with the many problems resulting from military service.

The services provided in this pogram of social welfare includes counseling in personal and family problems, reporting and communications service, assistance with claims for government benefits, referral service to other community sources of help. Also financial assistance on the basis of need.

For disabled veterans and their families, also dependents of deceased servicemen and veterans, the same well-rounded program of family service is provided.

Home service also makes available the American Red Cross inquiry service to individuals who are seeking information concerning persons in foreign countries, or who wish to send messages of a personal nature to relatives and friends where regular communication channels have failed or an emergency exists.

Citizenship, settlement or legal residence is not a prerequisite for assistance of any kind from Red Cross home service.
